Comp Bill 'Deader Than A Doornail'

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislative leaders have all but given up on increasing Worker's Compensation benefits this year. Lawmakers announced the stalemate Tuesday after weeks of bargaining capped by several last-minute sessions late Monday.

"It's deader than a doornail," commented Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis, R-Gaylord. "There's no deal." "The wheels have really fallen off the buggy," added a Democratic staff member.

The basic disagreement was over the cost of the bill to business and industry, which paid roughly $535 million in Worker's Compensation insurance last year. Gov. William Milliken staunchly stood by his proposal to increase benefits by some $25 million and threatened to veto a measure put forth by majority Democrats to add $180 million.

Democrats said their offer to cut the proposed increases to $90 million had been rejected. Following a Democratic caucus, majority leaders said discussions would continue aimed at passage next year. Democrats said they might not have had enough votes in their own ranks to pass the bill.

The breakdown in talks was viewed as a setback for Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, who has shuttled between labor and business trying to hammer out a bargain. He maintained that business had compromised farther than Milliken had, and said "it's time for the governor to do business with business." Fitzgerald and Davis held separate news conferences to blame the other side for refusing to compromise on the issue.

"All the way down the line we tried to moderate the bill in an attempt to get a package," Fitzgerald said. "Between now and the end of session there appears no point in running the bill because we don't have the governor's support in providing what we feel is equity to the worker."

Davis said Milliken was open to compromise, but only within the $25 million cost limit — not in adding extra costs. "We are a long way apart in figures, and I don't see how we can close that gap right now," he said. If passed next year, the bill would take effect in April 1977, unless the legislature votes immediate effect. Leaders say they probably will not be able to muster the two-thirds vote needed for immediate effect.

Democrats want to raise the maximum benefits substantially, provide retroactive increases to workers who have been receiving the same level of payment for years, provide cost-of-living increases in the future and add two more injuries to those payable by a flat grant.

In all areas, Milliken wants to hold the line, with smaller increases. He argued the Democratic measure would burden industry and further harm the state's business climate. Fitzgerald said Democrats offered to cut their bill by curbing claims by retired workers, limiting payments for the two additional injuries, phasing in the retroactivity provision and compromising on the maximum benefit level.

JUDGE W.A. GARRITY
A federal takeover

Violence Feared After Boston High Takeover

By DANIEL Q. HANEY

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge has taken over the administration of South Boston High, saying black pupils had been denied a peaceful, desegregated education.

Antibusing leaders warned the decision could spark new troubles, and within hours the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — NAACP — office was firebombed.

The firebombing took place early today. Fire officials said damage amounted to $500, but the NAACP put damages at $25,000.

A Fire Department spokesman said damage to the NAACP office included a burned metal cabinet containing papers and pamphlets, a scorched windowsill and two charred floor tiles. Firemen were back in quarters 21 minutes after the alarm, he said.

An NAACP spokesman said, "We've been getting threats all day" following the court decision, which came as a result of an NAACP motion.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity ordered the federal takeover Tuesday from the control of the Boston School Committee and its appointed headmaster and administrators.

Joseph McDonough, a career school administrator, brother to the chairman of the school committee, was appointed federal receiver and took over running racially tense South Boston High School today.

About 200 white pupils and 150 blacks entered the school without incident today, slightly below the normal attendance of between 400 and 500 of recent weeks.

The president of the faculty senate at South Boston High, John Cunningham, said the group would meet today to decide what action might be taken to protest Garrity's decision. Cunningham said the faculty will consider boycotting the school.

"We deplore the action taken by the federal court," Cunningham said. "We are entering the building today under protest and extreme anguish only to assure the protection of the students. I'm just sick to my stomach."

The judge ruled against the NAACP's request to close the school, deciding instead on the transfer of administration. The NAACP claimed black students had been harassed and beaten by white students and denied opportunity in extracurricular activities.

The school committee, five whites elected to nonpaying two-year terms, has consistently opposed busing since school integration became a possibility 10 years ago.

"South Boston High is not going to be run by the school committee. It's going to be run by the court under receivership," Garrity said.

The judge accused the committee of failing to take the steps necessary to carry out his integration orders. He said black students had been abused and discriminated against at South Boston High and denied their right to an integrated education.

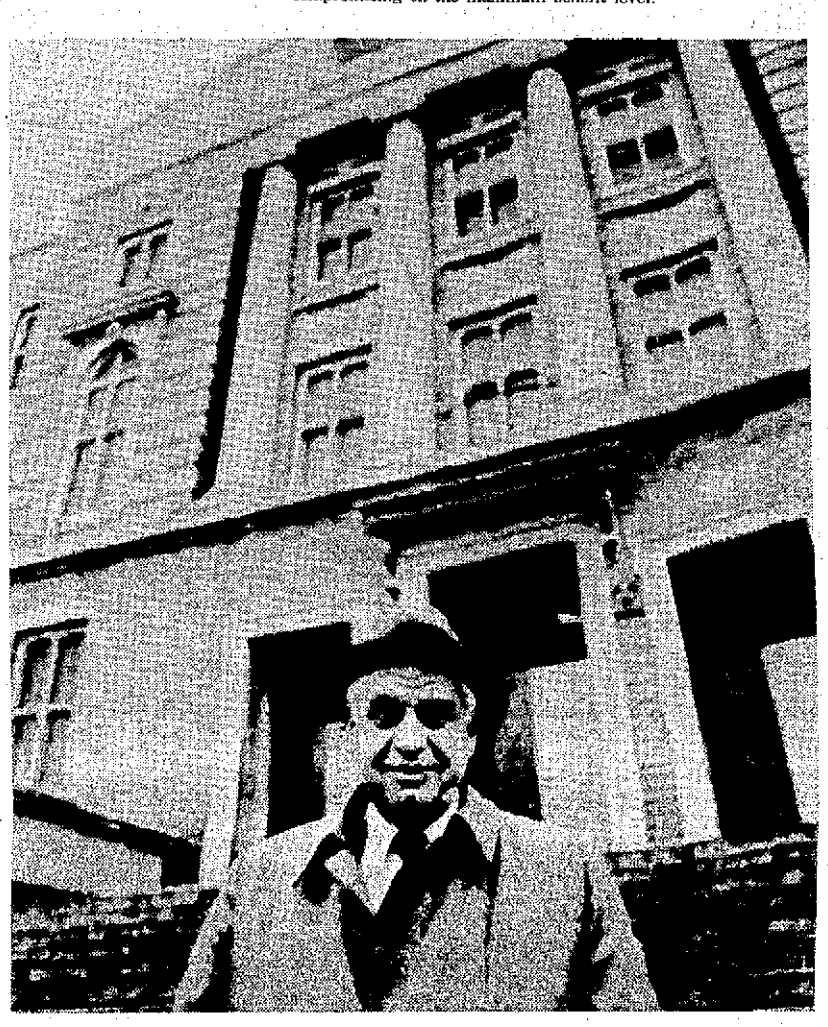

Garrity named Joseph McDonough, a district school superintendent in South Boston, to take charge of the aging yellow brick school, which has been the focal point of frequent racial disruptions since integration began in September 1974.

The school has a projected enrollment of 1,280 students, 432 of them black. Most black students are bused each day from Roxbury and Dorchester. No whites are bused out of all-white South Boston.

Police escort the buses to school and stand guard in the hallways.

Garrity's original integration order for the fall of 1974 touched off numerous antibusing protests. Fighting in the school has

Lebanese Army Captures Hotel Area From Leftists

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese army troops captured much of Beirut's seaside hotel district from leftist Moslem militiamen during the night but were still battling today for the St. Georges Hotel.

It was the army's first major intervention in the eight-month-old civil war. The Moslems charged army troops had been sent in to rescue the Christians.

At least 850 army commandos with heavy weapons, tanks and armored personnel carriers moved into the hotel area and the city's commercial center. At first they wedged between the battling Moslem and Christian militias, then pushed them out of key positions in sharp fighting.

The troops took control of the Holiday Inn, the Phoenicia Intercontinental and the approaches to the St. Georges, security spokesmen said. They also joined gunmen of the Christian Phalange party in the unfinished Hilton Hotel and the battered Starco office center.

A fire raged out of control in the St. Georges, gutting much of its once plush interior. Moslems of the left-wing Ambushers militia remained in and around the hotel, but the troops at the nearby Phoenicia controlled all approaches to them and cut them off from reinforcements and supplies.

The police said at least 24 persons were killed in Beirut and its suburbs during the night and that 63 were wounded. But they said these figures were incomplete.

Four more deaths were reported in Tripoli, the northern port city, and the police said there were clashes all night in Zahleh, in eastern Lebanon.

The Moslems captured much of the hotel district in hard fighting Monday. Kamal Junblatt, the most prominent spokesman for the Moslem left wing, charged that Premier Rashid Karami, a Moslem, had

Columnist Claims Ford A Tippler; Others Say 'No'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three guests at a White House dinner say they saw nothing to suggest that President Ford had too much to drink at the dinner, a function cited by a columnist to support his televised statement that Ford has a drinking problem.

A White House spokesman says he will not dignify the statement by columnist Jeffrey St. John by commenting on it.

St. John said Tuesday on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" program, "There are very disturbing rumors, one of which I've managed to confirm in running it down, that President Ford has a drinking problem."

He later told The Associated Press that confirmation came from a Michigan businessman who attended a White House dinner. But three Michigan men who attended the dinner cited by St. John told The AP they saw nothing in Ford's behavior to suggest he had too much to drink.

St. John told the TV audience, "I found out in running the story down in Washington that one close personal friend of Ford's, that in fact he confirmed this, that at a dinner for the president of Venezuela, this friend of Ford's literally had to shut the President up because he was making a fool of himself."

Ford has not held a dinner for a president of Venezuela, although there was a dinner Sept. 25 for the president of Colombia. St. John said Tuesday night that was the dinner he had in mind.

One guest, David P. Meahney of Grand Rapids, Mich., said Tuesday night, "I didn't see anybody shut anybody off."

Added Meahney, "He wasn't drinking heavily. He did not act as though he had been drinking heavily either."

The guest list for that dinner also included two other Michiganders — Grand Rapids businessman Arlon Ley and former Detroit Tiger outfielder Al Kaline. Ley said he saw no indications that evening that the President had been drinking.

Kaline told The AP that Ford had one or two glasses of wine

House Action Hastens 'Ethics' Law Effect

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at making Michigan's new political ethics law take effect in time for the 1976 elections has passed the state House and now goes to the Senate.

The House Tuesday gave the bills "immediate effect," which means that a Political Ethics Commission could be set up as soon as the legislation is signed by the governor.

Without the two-thirds vote necessary for immediate effect, the appointment of the commission would be delayed until April, when the remainder of the law comes into play.

Michigan politicians are already busily collecting money for the 1976 elections and the legislation approved Tuesday, with immediate effect, means portions of the new law would become effective sooner.

The three bills would allow the commission to write rules for the complex law governing campaign funding, public officials and lobbyists.

House leaders had to corral some votes after the question of immediate effect went down on the first measure, 69-33. Seventy-four votes are needed to give a bill immediate effect. On the second bill, lawmakers produced the 74 votes. When it was shown to be possible, the first and third bills were given the two-thirds vote.

Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, House Judiciary Committee chairman, says he will ask the state attorney general to rule on the constitutionality of the measures.

Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, contends a 1941 attorney general's opinion says it is improper to give immediate effect to a law after its passage without meaningful changes being made to it.

"We're all a bunch of hypocrites," said Rosenbaum in urging defeat of immediate effect until the legal question is answered.

The road to passage of the ethics commission bills was cleared when House Republicans announced majority-party Democrats had agreed to allow new bills to change the ethic law's restrictions on business backed political action committees.

Republicans had been using their share of the two-thirds vote as leverage to gain such a promise.

Alarm Charge Dismissed

A charge of disorderly person — calling in a false report to firemen — was dismissed during a pre-trial hearing for a 43-year-old Benton Harbor man Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District court.

According to Judge Ronald Taylor the charge was dismissed against Early E. Smith, 43, of 157 Jefferson, Benton Harbor. Taylor said Benton Harbor City Attorney Yvonne Hughes indicated facts of the case did not warrant prosecution.

Smith had been accused of filing the false eport Oct. 22.

Bicentennial Licenses Selling Like Hotcakes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's red-white-and-blue bicentennial license plates are the hottest selling plates in Michigan history, according to the Department of State. Secretary of State Richard Austin reported Tuesday that more than 632,000 plates were sold through November, topping the previous high of 532,000 in 1973. It passes last year's initial levels by more than 220,000, he said. Austin said the sales rush provided early revenues of more than $4 million for state highway coffers. He said mail sales are "brisk" and are expected to exceed the 805,000 sold last year. "We're shooting for one million mail sales on our new plates," Austin said. "We're striving for a three-week delivery schedule, but with the holiday mail tieups, it may take somewhat longer."

U.S. Justice Blackmun Stifles The News Flow

The U.S. Supreme Court is threshing around with the latest battle between the news media and the government.

It involves an order signed a few weeks ago by Justice Harry E. Blackmun upholding an order by a Nebraska trial court suppressing publication of testimony to be taken at a preliminary examination on a murder charge.

The case itself involves the shocking killing of six members of a Sutherland, Nebraska, family. Under arrest for the deed is Erwin Charles Simants.

Thus far his lawyers have convinced the Nebraska judiciary and Justice Blackmun that publishing the testimony at a preliminary examination to determine if Simants should be bound over for trial would prejudice his chances to obtain a fair hearing.

At the request of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of The Press, the full court has agreed to review Blackmun's action, but is delaying an early review. On Monday this prompted three of its members to protest the proscrastination.

Since Blackmun was not required to state his reasoning in signing the suppression order, one has to guess what prompted his order.

One reason could be the purely technical quibbling with the First Amendment's language which reads, "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Blackmun never has agreed with the theorem of the late Justice Hugo L. Black who held the Amendment created an absolute right, the rules on libel and rights of privacy to the contrary. Inasmuch as the prohibition is directed to Congress, it is simplistic to say the Constitution does not direct its ban to the courts because it does not specifically mention them.

More fundamentally, we suspect, Blackmun accepts the argument from many judges and lawyers that any pre-trial publicity renders it improbable, if not impossible, to round up sufficient jurors whose minds have not been slanted against a defendant.

The Sam Sheppard murder trial at Cleveland during the 1950s and more recently the Charles Manson murders in California furnish the background for that assumption. Interestingly enough, it was the trial judge at Cleveland who hatched the publicity barrage against Sheppard as a platform for re-election. Some Prosecutors are not above trying their cases in the newspapers and neither are some defense counsel. F. Lee Bailey is one of the most quotable defense attorneys in the business.

There is an old axiom that no one is immune to being conned by somebody else and the Simants ruling is a fair indication that Blackmun, a first rate judge, allowed himself to be taken off the track.

A preliminary examination traditionally has been as much a part of a criminal case as the trial itself. Only the hairiest advocate of defendant's rights would seriously argue the evidence at a trial should be suppressed.

Secondly, suppression as a practical matter can cut both ways.

If a defendant can invoke it, then logically so can the prosecution. This could become acute in a civil rights action where pre-trial publicity has enhanced, not diminished, the defendant's position.

Underneath the publicity argument is the fact that many lawyers and judges do not trust the laymen on a jury to arrive at an impartial verdict even as they publicly hold out a trial by jury to be the keystone to individual freedom.

The First Amendment is not in the Constitution's original draft.

It and nine others, called the Bill of Rights, were adopted as part of the first Constitution because its advocates wanted to insure that the Federal government would not follow in the detested footsteps of the English government's methods in running the colonies.

It was the first political trade in our national existence and the best deal yet made.

So, let's keep the deal working.

Performance Is The Criterion

The most promising individual is the one who does more than he promises.

They Demonstrated Loyalty To A Fault

Power still corrupts and absolute power still corrupts absolutely. In essence, this is the story which the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities has heard unfolded before it in the investigation of questionable activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It is not just the most recent President, but all Presidents beginning with Franklin Roosevelt, who ordered the FBI to engage in illegal activities directed at American citizens — and the FBI complied. Some of the abuses detailed before the committee were worse than others, but all illegal activities by government officials must be considered reprehensible in a free society.

That is especially true when the target is free speech, as was the case in Roosevelt's order to the FBI to investigate hundreds of individuals who sent telegrams to the White House in 1940, supporting Charles Lindbergh's efforts to keep the United States out of the war in Europe.

While much of the illegal activity involving the FBI now has been tied directly to orders from Presidents and attorneys general, it remains disturbing to learn that the FBI carried out each of those orders knowing, as it must have known, that many of them were improper.

That was the testimony of former assistant director of the FBI, Cartha DeLoach, in which he said he could not recall one instance in which such orders were rejected. "We always complied with the instructions of the President. We followed our orders," DeLoach said.

Contrary to what may have been inferred in the past, Presidents are not all-powerful. That is the lesson heads of sensitive agencies like the FBI have learned, but the lesson has been a costly one for all.

WHAT HAPPENED TO CHRISTMAS CARDS?

Editor,

Christmas 1975!

As the Holy Season approached, premit me to ask; whatever became of the Christmas card? We now see "Season's Greetings", "Happy Yuletide", "Christ-less cards from U.N.C.E.F., and Merry-Xmas". The last is the worst. Has Christ become an unknown in the United States, in public life as to become the "X" factor?

Of course it is understandable when you consider this, the "extreme" court has long prevented prayers and Bible reading in public schools. Our Misrepresentatives voted against remedial legislation. Crosses are removed from military graves.

Our roving president and his evil genius of "Detente" Kissinger, cominigly with Christless rulers from behind the iron and bamboo curtain. We, the taxpayer, are forced to bankroll the U.N., the tower of "babble", where no Christian symbol is permitted. Jesus is now a "Super Star" but not a diety.

There are enough satanic broken crosses around to go around every dirty neck.

Could this be why America is at its lowest level in history? Spiritually, morally, economically, criminally and diplomatically.

While a few freedoms still remain, I say, "Peace on Earth to Men of Goodwill" this Christmas 1975.

SAYS POLITICIANS SHOULD WAKE UP

Editor,

President Ford asking $839 million cut in authorized federal spending to make room for necessary new spending and eliminate federal spending for programs no longer needed, as usual congress rejected.

Why don't these politicians wake up and examine some of these yesteryear's laws still on state books. They'll find a list of 39 most idiotic laws they've ever seen. At least it gives lawyers a laugh when they come across them.

Partying, vacationing, and while the lawmakers decry and warn us of hard times they are feathering their nests. And Lansing continues to offer food and booze. Washington serves dinners, drinks, it goes on and on. — two drinks here, three drinks there. It's business as usual on the Washington social circuit. A glamorous liquor lubricated merry-go-round.

Like the United State's Senators engage in using committee employes as personal aids, despite a Senate rule to the contrary. Power conscious lawmakers, convinced the state bureaucracy is gobbling up legislative power, are rushing to control the growth of state departments both in size and influence. In the past 10 years the number of classified state employes has jumped from 35,000 to nearly 59,000 with an annual payroll of over 600 million.

Taxpayers hanging by a shoestring while the rich save 7 billion through federal tax loopholes, saved the 160,000 richest taxpayers in the United States a total of $7.3 billion last fiscal year. The projected deficit this year could exceed $80 billion. Any comprehensive study would produce many more examples of waste, yet the squandering of public funds will continue until the American taxpayer demands a coordinated national effort to curtail senseless waste in government. We Americans expect a higher standard of performance from Congress in the post Watergate era.

If legislators can suppress the all too human desire to build empires and monuments to themselves, perhaps they can give us the timely forceful action we need to improve our lives and preserve our liberties.

Debt's Interest Tops The Public's

WASHINGTON — Though no one has paid any mind, the nation has recorded another economic superlative. Three times this year Congress has raised the temporary ceiling on the public debt, for a total of more than $100 billion, the largest annual increase in the nation's history, no less, and by way of comparison twice as much as the total debt itself of 35 years ago.

Surely, some public note should be taken. A toast, perhaps, to solvency: "The covetous man never has money, the prodigal will have none soon." For in registering this milestone — the first nation to vote $100 billion into the red in a single annum — America solidifies its claim as the world's most impossibly indebted society.

Americans stopped counting these pennies during World War II when it was estimated that the U.S. debt was growing larger than that of all other free nations combined. Besides this, back then, government leaders began a campaign to dispell the old notion that national debt is bad. The new line, which millions of citizens happily accepted, was that debt was good, and, furthermore, heavy debt was even gooder — after all, said the leaders, "all it is is money that we owe ourselves."

Since then the selling of the debt has continued energetically, although sophistications have been added. Now the idea is to say it's good if your party is in power, but bad if it isn't. Richard Nixon, who taught us so much about flexibility, said while campaigning for office that the debt rolled up by Lyndon Johnson "has plunged the free world monetary system into a profound crisis." Johnson added $57 billion to the debt; Nixon, it turned out, a third again as much.

There is, of course, at least one other reason why the public ignores its phenomenal debt: nobody understands it. The government, for example, claims it is "money we owe ourselves," but that is not necessarily true. Foreign governments hold notes on $68 billion of it. So what happens when an Arab prince wants his due? The government borrows from somebody else to make good. That kind of business makes sense only to bookies.

"It's all very complicated," says a Treasury Department official; in other words, he doesn't know either.

What is known about the public debt, however, for those who are honest about it, is that it is reaching proportions where even its advocates are beginning to worry. Congress, for instance, flatly refused recently when it was asked to raise the debt ceiling by $20 billion, and held the line valiantly at only 18.

The fiscal reality here seems plain enough. Just the interest on the current debt — $36 billion this year — is the third largest single appropriation in the federal budget. And to pay it the government must naturally tax the citizenry. How much? Roughly $400 on each of the returns that will be filed this year. More next year. More the year after that, ad infinitum.

Still, the debt grows in a vacuum of public disinterest, to nearly $3,000 for every man, woman and child in the nation. Two billion in 1800, $24 billion in 1920, $42 billion in 1940, $286 billion in 1960, and an estimated $640 billion in 1976. Where does it end? Money makes a good servant, it's written, but a lousy master. The only thing we really owe ourselves is the resolve to get out of this mess.

Reform Lobbyists Have Falling Out

WASHINGTON — Two of the country's most effective nonprofit reform lobbyists, Ralph Nader and Common Cause (CC), are calling each other names and working opposite sides of the fence for the first time.

They have fallen out, ironically, over lobbying.

Common Cause is a major supporter of proposals for tough new lobby disclosure regulations which are now moving gingerly through Congress. Nader's organization has joined the Chamber of Commerce and other special-interest professional lobbyists in opposing any meaningful reform.

Nader is not abandoning social reform in other areas; he is only opposed to change when it might affect him. The bill would require Nader to register as a lobbyist, which he has never done, and spent time and money to account publicly for his political activities and his finances, which he doesn't do either. Common Cause, which is better-funded than the Nader organization, is rigistered and makes full financial disclosure.

The current law, which is supposed to force disclosure of lobbying activities, is so vague and toothless that it has never been enforced, and hundreds of organizations simply ignore it. Only persons who have direct contacts with members of Congress and whose principal activity is lobbying are required to register. Many lobbyists, like Nader, merely claim lobbying is not their "principal" activity, or that their contacts are not "direct."

Another Senate effort to pass a reform measure may be made in January, with Sen. Edward Kennedy as floor manager.

Prospects in the House seem brighter this year than in the past, primarily because of presidential election-year pressure to try to restore some measure of public confidence in government. The House GOP task force has called for a stronger lobby law with loosing requirements. The National Governors' Conference last year adopted a resolution calling for lobby reform. And in the last three years, 25 state legislatures have tightened existing lobby laws or enacted new statutes.

House committee members last week appeared to approve of an expansion of the regulations to include professionals who lobby, regardless of the time spent in the activity, and to require more realistic financial accounting. They were opposed to including volunteers and private citizens in the new rules.

They were deeply troubled by proposals that lobbists should log all contacts in either Congress or the Executive branch and explain the subject matter discussed. They worried that publicizing contacts might reduce the access to lobbyists they now enjoy. They also feared that making public a Congressman's last contact before an important vote might create an impression that the lobbyist had influenced the vote.

In short, it does not seem that Common Cause will get the ideal measure it has sought, but there may well be reform of some kind, and that is better than nothing. Even if it does inconvenience Ralph Nader.

Diabetes Ranks 3rd As Killer?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new National Commission on Diabetes said today the disease may have become the nation's third-ranking killer.

"Last year 38,000 persons died directly from diabetes, and there is strong evidence that perhaps as many as 300,000 deaths could be attributed to diabetes and its complications," the commission said. "This would make diabetes the third-ranking cause of death, after heart disease and cancer."

U.S. Justice Blackmun Stifles The News Flow

The U.S. Supreme Court is threshing around with the latest battle between the news media and the government.

It involves an order signed a few weeks ago by Justice Harry E. Blackmun upholding an order by a Nebraska trial court suppressing publication of testimony to be taken at a preliminary examination on a murder charge.

The case itself involves the shocking killing of six members of a Sutherland, Nebraska, family. Under arrest for the deed is Erwin Charles Simants.

Thus far his lawyers have convinced the Nebraska judiciary and Justice Blackmum that publishing the testimony at a preliminary examination to determine if Simants should be bound over for trial would prejudice his chances to obtain a fair hearing.

At the request of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of The Press, the full court has agreed to review Blackmun's action, but is delaying an early review. On Monday this prompted three of its members to protest the proscrastination.

Since Blackmun was not required to state his reasoning in signing the suppression order, one has to guess what prompted his order.

One reason could be the purely technical quibbling with the First Amendment's language which reads, "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Blackmun never has agreed with the theorem of the late Justice Hugo L. Black who held the Amendment created an absolute right, the rules on libel and rights of privacy to the contrary. Inasmuch as the prohibition is directed to Congress, it is simplistic to say the Constitution does not direct its ban to the courts because it does not specifically mention them.

More fundamentally, we suspect, Blackmun accepts the argument from many judges and lawyers that any pre-trial publicity renders it improbable, if not impossible, to round up sufficient jurors whose minds have not been slanted against a defendant.

The Sam Sheppard murder trial at Cleveland during the 1950s and more recently the Charles Manson murders in California furnish the background for that assumption. Interestingly enough, it was the trial judge at Cleveland who hatched the publicity barrage against Sheppard as a platform for re-election. Some Prosecutors are not above trying their cases in the newspapers and neither are some defense counsel. F. Lee Bailey is one of the most quotable defense attorneys in the business.

There is an old axiom that no one is immune to being conned by somebody else and the Simants ruling is a fair indication that Blackmun, a first rate judge, allowed himself to be taken off the track.

A preliminary examination traditionally has been as much a part of a criminal case as the trial itself. Only the hairiest advocate of defendant's rights would seriously argue the evidence at a trial should be suppressed.

Secondly, suppression as a practical matter can cut both ways.

If a defendant can invoke it, then logically so can the prosecution. This could become acute in a civil rights action where pre-trial publicity has enhanced, not diminished, the defendant's position.

Underneath the publicity argument is the fact that many lawyers and judges do not trust the laymen on a jury to arrive at an impartial verdict even as they publicly hold out a trial by jury to be the keystone to individual freedom.

The First Amendment is not in the Constitution's original draft.

It and nine others, called the Bill of Rights, were adopted as part of the first Constitution because its advocates wanted to insure that the Federal government would not follow in the detested footsteps of the English government's methods in running the colonies.

It was the first political trade in our national existence and the best deal yet made.

Diabetes Ranks 3rd As Killer?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new National Commission on Diabetes said today the disease may have become the nation's third-ranking killer.

"Last year 38,000 persons died directly from diabetes, and there is strong evidence that perhaps as many as 300,000 deaths could be attributed to diabetes and its complications," the commission said. "This would make diabetes the third-ranking cause of death, after heart disease and cancer."

Twin Cities Chamber Wins Re-Accreditation

'Comprehensiveness And Scope' Cited By National Reviewer

The Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce was recently re-accredited by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Announcement of the re-accreditation was made by Clinton Morrison, chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce board of directors and vice chairman of the board of directors of First National bank of Minneapolis, Minn.

Accredited chambers of commerce are reviewed every five years for re-accreditation. Through accreditation, chambers are cited by the U.S. Chamber as meeting required standards in every phase of their work.

Fifteen chambers of commerce from throughout the country were added to the list of accredited organizations recently and the local Chamber was one of 12 chambers that received re-accreditation.

The Twin Cities Area Chamber received re-accreditation after the submission of an evaluation report by a committee comprised of Chamber members and the completion of interviews with six local people regarding area problems and effectiveness of the Chamber's program.

Ralph Shelton, a member of the U.S. Chamber's accreditation office, reviewed the local accreditation committee's report and interviewed the six local people.

At the close of the accreditation review, Shelton made recommendations and commendations on the Chamber's work.

Shelton recommended that the Chamber's dues be set at $100 and that a staff retirement program and an affirmative action program for the Chamber staff be initiated.

Roger H. Curry, Chamber executive vice president, said work on the recommendations has begun.

Curry said the Chamber has voluntarily hired a Certified Public Accounting firm to audit the Chamber's personnel files to determine if an affirmative action program to hire minorities is needed.

Curry said the Chamber currently employs 28 full-time employes on its staff, 14 of whom are women and three are other minorities.

Shelton commended the Chamber for its "comprehensiveness and the scope" of its program and the professionalism of its staff. He praised the Chamber's accreditation evaluating committee for its thoroughness and objectivity in reviewing the Chamber's work.

Members of the Chamber evaluating committee were: John P. Banyon, Edward T. Donahue, Robert L. Hutchinson and Walter B. Laetz, all vice chairmen, and Jeanne Dwan, Jimmy Butt, Paul Freudenberg, Norbert Kent, James Murphy, Robert Starks and Edward Veenhuis, committee chairman. Chairman of re-accreditation committee was Stanley G. Petzel.

The six people interviewed by Shelton were Charles Eckenstahler, director of the Berrien county planning commission; St. Joseph Mayor Franklin Smith; Helen Ford, executive director of Berrien County Action; Lester Tiscornia, president of Auto Specialities Manufacturing Co. in St. Joseph; William Smits, partner in Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Merrifield certified public accounting firm, and Leslie H. Fischer, chairman of the Berrien county board of commissioners.

Scheduled to be interviewed but unable to attend were Charles Joseph, Benton Harbor mayor, and Jim Shanahan, city editor, The Herald-Palladium.

The Chamber was first accredited in February, 1971. It began operation in 1954 when the Benton Harbor and St. Joseph chambers of commerce merged. Today, there are 296 chambers of commerce across the nation that are accredited.

New Lincoln Zoning Rules List No Change At I-94

Lincoln township board last night adopted a new township zoning ordinance which included a requested revision leaving the zoning unchanged for certain properties near a proposed I-94 interchange expansion.

The revision was recommended by the planning commission which had initially proposed the zoning be changed in recommending the total package for adoption.

Under the original recommendation, the commission had 11 properties around the area marked for residential use. The land is now zoned for either commercial or industrial use.

The recommendation not to change the present zoning of land along St. Joseph avenue and Marquette Woods road came in the wake of objections by several of the landowners. The objections were filed last week during a public hearing. The owners said the change was "ill-timed" and would make their properties less valuable, dollar-wise, to the state.

The planning commission in its recommendation of the revision said the recommendation was also made "due to insinuations of collusion between the township and the state..."

The state highway commission earlier had announced it will proceed with plans to acquire the land for construction of a full interchange. Property appraisals are in progress and construction bids are scheduled to be taken May 1, 1977.

The township planning commission has been working on the new zoning ordinance and map for the past three years.

The board also approved planning commission recommendations which rejected other requests that the new zoning ordinance and map be changed.

A request from Gene Mantei of St. Joseph, that about 23 acres of property he and others own at the southeast corner of Glenlord road and Washington avenue, not be rezoned from commercial to residential was denied by the board and planning commission. The board told Mantei he could seek a planned use permit, however.

Also denied was a request from Thomas Schroeder, owner and operator of the "Something of Value" store on St. Joseph avenue, to amend the ordinance definition of an industrial district to allow stores or shops for retail sale.

Under the new definition of an industrial zoned parcel, Schroeder would not be allowed to expand his present commercial business, unless the parcel is rezoned through regular procedures.

The planning commission also recommended that remaining property owned by Michigan Bell Telephone company on the southwest corner of Glenlord road and Lincoln avenue, some 14.5 acres, be zoned agricultural/space, instead of planned development commercial.

The new zoning ordinance and map plus the four planning commission recommendations were approved by a vote of 5 to 1. Voting for adoption were Ernest Hauch, supervisor; Mrs. Bernice Tretheway, clerk; Gerald Wahl, treasurer; and trustees Donald Chapman and Anthony Doughy. Voting against adoption was trustee John Florian Jr. Trustee Fred Albrecht was absent.

In other areas, the township board approved setting up a special assessment district in order to pay for the installation of five street lights in Clearview subdivision off Washington avenue. Cost to the 26 property owners would be $10.62 per lot, per year.

Mrs. Tretheway anounced that the continuation of a hearing on the Cowles-Wilson drain would be held Monday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Stevensville elementary school cafeteria. Cost estimates are to be presented at the hearing.

The board also approved final payments totaling $40,428 for the township's water system.

It was announced the township hall will be closed Wednesday noon, Dec. 24, and Dec. 31, and on Christmas and New Year's day, but will be open on Friday, Dec. 26 and Jan. 2.

Berrien Planners Oppose Rezoning In SJ Township

The Berrien county planning commission yesterday supported the St. Joseph township planning commission's recommendation that property at Niles avenue and Lydia drive not be rezoned from multiple dwelling to commercial.

The county commission unanimously agreed with the township commission's recommendation which would block construction of a fabric shop which a local retailer said he planned for the acre site.

The request to the township came from Ralph Post, of St. Joseph, who asked that property he owns at 3333 Niles be rezoned to commercial from its current multiple dwelling zoning.

The county planning commission, although it has no direct power over whether land is rezoned, customarily reviews zoning-change requests. Final action on the request is up to the township board, which has not yet acted on the matter.

At the Nov. 18 meeting of township planners, Post indicated that Robert A. Rue, of Fairplain, who operates fabric shops in St. Joseph and the Fairplain Plaza, expressed an interest in opening a similar shop at the Niles avenue location.

Rue said the site would be for future expansion of his business in south St. Joseph. His present St. Joseph shop is at 2908 South State street near the proposed site, which is now vacant.

County planners said they felt there should be a break between commercial and residential areas, as now exists along Niles. They indicated failure to stop commercial rezoning could result in commercial zoning all along Niles avenue.

At the township's meeting, a number of residents objected to the rezoning, claiming it would endanger the value of residential property.

In another matter relating to St. Joseph township, planners approved a technical assistance request from the township for county assistance in developing a parks and recreation plan. The county will receive $775 for assisting the township, and Planning Director Charles Eckenstahler said county planners will begin work on the project immediately, with expected completion in March.

Eckenstahler noted the township needs such a plan to comply with regulations of the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

In other business, the planning commission:

—Recommended the Coloma township board of trustees approve a township land use plan prepared by the county in conjunction with the township. The plan, started in 1970, was the first of a number of local planning assistance projects which the county planning department has undertaken.

—Learned the Bainbridge township land use plan has been completed and submitted to the township. The plan was previously approved by the township board.

—Received DNR approval of the county's solid waste plan, which means the county board of public works can now begin implementing some of its proposals, which call for continued use of landfills in the county.

Santa Finds Yule Spirit Picking Up

Santa Claus paid a visit to Benton Harbor Exchange club headquarters yesteray and found new blood along with the dedicated old timers who for years have put the Good Fellow fund over the top.

Exchange club ranks have grown to some 50 members, and there's enthusiasm that Exchange Newsies will have a banner sale when they hit the streets Dec. 19. The Newsie sale of mini-editions of The Herald-Palladium annually accounts for about half the totals raised by the Good Fellow fund.

Meanwhile, it was a good day for Good Fellow receipts at The Herald-Palladium office. The mail brought in $125 sending the total to $1,283.16.

New Products Corporation over on North Shore drive gave a hefty $100 boost to the fund that this year is aiming most of its resources for Christmas gifts to the elderly and shut-ins.

Harold W. Nagle of Decatur, sent $10 in memory of Harold R. Nagle who passed away a year ago this month.

Santa thanked the following donors for gifts of $5 each: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berry; Geraldine Preston; and American Legion Auxiliary Unit 105.

"Christmas spirit is really picking up. You can see it in contributions to Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows," he noted.

Traditionally snowstorms, even little ones, mean the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow Fund can expect a rush of contributions.

Yesterday's Christmas card snowfall was marked by a $110 push that sent the campaign over the $1,000 mark — to $1,051.61 to be exact.

First, Pizza Hut of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph sent in $50. Lakeshore Chamber of Commerce voted a $10 contribution and Troost Brothers furnished $25.

The Troost Brothers corner in St. Joseph is a favorite spot for Newsies to hawk their Good Fellow editions.

There also was $25 in memory of Dennis N. Zelmer and Scott V. Wasko.

With $1,051.61 on hand the fund needs $3,948.39 to meet its $5,000 goal. It would be a big help to the Lion and Greek letter society newsies to have the fund at the half-way mark when they embark on their sale of mini-editions on Dec. 19, Good Fellow bookkeepers said, analyzing their charts and budgets.

Make A Popcorn Tree

Pop some corn and decorate — make garlands for the tree and a special Christmas tree grove for mantle or table.

No need to overspend, popcorn is an inexpensive treat. Everybody can join in — each child can have his own small tree for eating and decorating.

POPCORN CHRISTMAS TREE

One package popcorn (prepackaged in own pan)
One cup sugar
One-half cup corn syrup
One-half cup water
One-fourth cup butter
One-half package ice cream sugar cones

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Pour into large pot or kettle. Heat sugar, corn syrup and water in small saucepan to 250-260 degrees or until a drop of syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Pour over popcorn and mix thoroughly with a wooden spoon.

For a large tree, use small plastic flower pot as base. Roll heavy aluminum foil into cone; place and secure on bottom of flower pot to form tree shape. Use sugar cones for smaller tree forms. Shape popcorn mixture with buttered hands around form.

Create A Snowstorm In Ordinary Food Jar

You can make a "shake 'em up snow scene" in a jar.

Use an ordinary food jar and its tight-fitting cap. Jars from mustard, honey, baby food or cocktail cherries are good. Remove the label and glue with warm water and a scouring pad.

Press a mound of florist's clay inside the jar cap and secure decorative items that will not react to water onto the clay. Examples are small plastic snowmen, pieces of old tree ornaments, plastic flowers and small toy figures.

Drop into the jar about a teaspoon of camphor flakes. Fill the jar with water. Holding the jar and cap with ornaments over a basin, insert the decorations — screwing the cap to the jar tightly.

Glue a strip of ribbon around the edge of the jar's cap. Then shake and watch the snow settle.

Expert: Too Many Cards

NEW YORK — Don't expect a Christmas card from Elizabeth Post this year.

America's leading expert on etiquette says the growing custom of sending cards to "everyone and anyone with whom you have a nodding acquaintance" is getting out of hand.

"For many people it's become a contest to see how many cards they can display on their mantel," the granddaughter - in - law of the legendary Emily notes disapprovingly. "That's not the spirit of Christmas!"

Holiday cards should be sent to people you really wish to greet, but who are "not quite close enough to you to exchange gifts," Mrs. Post writes in the latest edition of "The New Emily Post's Etiquette," a hefty volume that carries on the tradition of Emily's original 1922 book.

During an interview in her comfortable New York City apartment-office to which she commutes from her Vermont farm every few weeks, the relaxed, outdoorsey - looking social arbiter also offered advice on seasonal gift-giving and entertaining.

Select presents with common sense, she counsels. "Limit them to close friends and relatives — and to what you can afford. If you're an aunt or a grandmother, ask the child's parents what he or she wants, or consult the child yourself," Mrs. Post, 54, has three grandsons.

Hand-written thank-you notes for holiday gifts are no longer necessary, she says (although they remain "obligatory" for wedding presents). "You can say thanks in person or on the phone, but it is never wrong to send a note in addition."

But do try to remember who sent what, so you can avoid a social faux pas such as the one Mrs. Post once made: "A couple who are close friends of ours gave us a box of assorted cheeses for Christmas one year, and I forgot about it. We entertained them during the holidays and I remarked: 'Honestly, I can't understand people who would give cheese as a gift. What could possibly show less imagination?' They burst out laughing . . . and they've sent cheese to us every year since!"

Elizabeth Post's idea of a good holiday party is one to which children of all ages are invited. "I think there's nothing nicer than a dinner where you get out your best glasses and china and let the whole family see what a lovely table can look like."

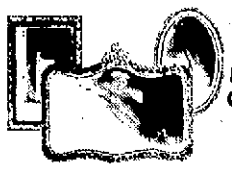

Open house parties also get the Post approval. "With so much seasonal entertaining, they give guests a chance to come and go when they like. And you can accommodate all your friends. Serve a buffet with turkey and ham and side dishes — or simply cakes and cookies with an eggnog and a hot mulled cider punch."

If your budget is really tight, you might consider a BYO party, she says — one where guests bring their own food and drink. "But most hosts will want to provide for their guests at holiday time."

All this would seem to call for much advance planning. "I like to think I get ready for Christmas in August or September, and I do try to get ahead with catalogue-ordering," says Mrs. Post. "But actually," she laughs, "I'm frantic around Dec. 15th!"

Make A Popcorn Tree

Pop some corn and decorate — make garlands for the tree and a special Christmas tree grove for mantle or table.

No need to overspend, popcorn is an inexpensive treat. Everybody can join in — each child can have his own small tree for eating and decorating.

POPCORN CHRISTMAS TREE
One package popcorn (prepackaged in own pan)
One cup sugar
One-half cup corn syrup
One-half cup water
One-fourth cup butter
One-half package ice cream sugar cones

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Pour into large pot or kettle. Heat sugar, corn syrup and water in small saucepan to 250-260 degrees or until a drop of syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Pour over popcorn and mix thoroughly with a wooden spoon.

For a large tree, use small plastic flower pot as base. Roll heavy aluminum foil into cone; place and secure on bottom of flower pot to form tree shape. Use sugar cones for smaller tree forms. Shape popcorn mixture with buttered hands around form.

'TIS THE SEASON FOR FESTIVE FARE

Favorite Holiday Desserts

'Tis the season for making fruitcakes and this dark beauty is studded with golden chunks of walnuts, aglow with all the traditional candied fruits and peels and rich with fruits that aren't candied to make it the fruitiest of fruitcakes.

This rich holiday treat is a dark cake with raspberry jam and molasses contributing to its deep color and wonderful flavor. You'll notice that the recipe calls for large pieces of walnuts — all the better to pronounce the mellow flavor and crunchy texture of these superb walnut kernels.

No need to borrow from your holiday nutbowl for there are plenty of large pieces in the clear-film packages of already-shelled walnuts. And you can be sure they'll be as fresh and crisp as if you shelled them yourself.

This delicious fruitcake keeps very well if wrapped in foil and stored in a cool place. Wait to decorate the top until you're ready to serve it or wrap it up for a beautiful holiday gift.

For nice clean slicing through all those fruits and crunchy walnuts, you should chill the cake before cutting and then slice it with a sharp serrated knife.

TUTTI-FRUITTI FRUITCAKE

One cup halved candied cherries
One cup candied pineapple chunks
One cup diced citron
One-half cup diced candied orange peel
One-half cup diced candied lemon peel
One-half cup sliced dates
One-half cup raisins
One-fourth cup brandy or sherry
One-third cup butter or margarine
One-third cup brown sugar, packed
Two large eggs
One and one-half cups sifted all-purpose flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
(One-fourth teaspoon allspice
One-fourth teaspoon nutmeg
One-eighth teaspoon cloves
One-eighth teaspoon soda
One-fourth cup molasses
One-third cup raspberry jam

Combine candied fruits, dates and raisins. Add brandy or sherry; mix lightly and let stand for an hour or longer.

Line a nine by five by three-inch loaf pan with brown paper, and grease well. Cream butter, sugar and eggs together well. Batter may look slightly curdled.

Resift flour with salt, spices and soda. Blend into creamed mixture alternately with molasses and jam.

Add fruit mixture and walnuts; mix well. Turn into prepared pan, and spread level.

Bake below oven center at 300 degrees for about two and one-half hours, with shallow pan of hot water on floor of oven. Cake is done when skewer inserted in center comes out clean and dry. Cool in pan. Makes one three and one-half pound fruitcake.

For those who believe in "something old, something new," here's an update on a classic: The flavor of plum pudding captured in two easy-to-bake cake layers!

If you're an old-fashioned cook, try Steamed Cranberry Pudding. This New England favorite is Christmas-bright with chopped red cranberries, gently spiced and molasses-sweetened.

PLUM PUDDING CAKE

Six cups of one-half inch cubes firm type white bread
One cup butter or margarine, melted
One cup dark molasses
Two cups unsifted all-purpose flour
One and one-half teaspoons baking soda
One teaspoon cinnamon
One teaspoon nutmeg
One-half teaspoon ground cloves
One cup currants or raisins
One cup chopped mixed candied fruits
One cup chopped walnuts

In a bowl, pour milk over bread cubes and let stand for ten minutes. Stir in melted butter and molasses. Stir in flour, baking soda and spices. Beat until well blended. Fold in fruits and nuts.

Pour batter into two greased and floured eight-inch round layer cake pans, one and one-half inches deep. Cover pans with greased pieces of foil, crimping edges to seal tight. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour or one hour and ten minutes. Remove foil and bake five minutes longer or until cake pulls from edge just a bit.

Cool cakes in pans until warm. Cut into wedges and serve warm topped with sauce.

Each cake makes eight to ten servings.

SHERRY HARD SAUCE

In medium bowl, combine one cup soft butter or margarine, one pound sifted confectioners' sugar and one-third cup sweet sherry; beat until smooth. Cover and chill until ready to serve. Makes two and one-half cups.

Note: If desired, wrap one cake and give as a gift with a container of the hard sauce.

STEAMED CRANBERRY PUDDING

One cup cranberries, coarsely chopped
One-half cup sugar
One cup sifted flour
One and one-half teaspoons baking powder
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices. In large mixing bowl, cream the butter, reserved one-fourth cup sugar and molasses. Add egg and beat well.

Add flour mixture alternately with the milk, mixing just until smooth after each addition. Fold in cranberries. Pour batter into a well greased plain one-quart mold. Cover with two layers of waxed paper; tie tightly with string. Place mold on a trivet in a deep kettle. Add boiling water to reach up one inch side of mold.

Cover kettle and keep water simmering three hours hours. Add more water if necessary. Unmold; cool to lukewarm and serve with hard sauce.

Makes six servings.

BRANDY HARD SAUCE

Cream one-third cup butter or margarine with one cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Add two teaspoons brandy extract. Fill serving dish and chill until serving time.

Note: If desired, garnish pudding with whole cranberries that have been dipped in slightly beaten egg white, then dipped into granulated sugar and allowed to dry.

Cakes are favorites in holiday festivities, and this cake would be especially welcome at a Christmas tea, family get-together or with a mug of hot cider after an evening of caroling.

Cake cutting hints: To cut this cake use a sharp, thin bladed knife. Insert the point of the knife and slice the cake with an up and down motion pulling the knife toward you. Between slices, dip the blade in warm water or wipe with a damp cloth to keep it free of frosting or crumbs.

One cup butter or margarine, melted
One cup dark molasses
Two cups unsifted all-purpose flour
One and one-half teaspoons baking soda
One teaspoon cinnamon
One teaspoon nutmeg
One-half teaspoon ground cloves
One cup currants or raisins
One cup chopped mixed candied fruits
One cup chopped walnuts
Sherry Hard Sauce

In a bowl, pour milk over bread cubes and let stand for ten minutes. Stir in melted butter and molasses. Stir in flour, baking soda and spices. Beat until well blended. Fold in fruits and nuts.

Pour batter into two greased and floured eight-inch round layer cake pans, one and one-half inches deep. Cover pans with greased pieces of foil, crimping edges to seal tight. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour or one hour and ten minutes. Remove foil and bake five minutes longer or until cake pulls from edge just a bit.

Cool cakes in pans until warm. Cut into wedges and serve warm topped with sauce.

Each cake makes eight to ten servings.

SHERRY HARD SAUCE

In medium bowl, combine one cup soft butter or margarine, one pound sifted confectioners' sugar and one-third cup sweet sherry; beat until smooth. Cover and chill until ready to serve. Makes two and one-half cups.

Note: If desired, wrap one cake and give as a gift with a container of the hard sauce.

STEAMED CRANBERRY PUDDING

One cup cranberries, coarsely chopped
One-half cup sugar
One cup sifted flour
One and one-half teaspoons baking powder
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
One-fourth teaspoon allspice
One-fourth teaspoon ginger
One-eighth teaspoon ground cloves
One-fourth cup soft butter or margarine
One-fourth cup dark molasses
One egg
One-fourth cup milk
Brandy Hard Sauce

In a bowl, sprinkle the cranberries with one-fourth cup of the sugar; set aside.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices. In large mixing bowl, cream the butter, reserved one-fourth cup sugar and molasses. Add egg and beat well.

Add flour mixture alternately with the milk, mixing just until smooth after each addition. Fold in cranberries. Pour batter into a well greased plain one-quart mold. Cover with two layers of waxed paper; tie tightly with string. Place mold on a trivet in a deep kettle. Add boiling water to reach up one inch side of mold.

Cover kettle and keep water simmering three hours hours. Add more water if necessary. Unmold; cool to lukewarm and serve with hard sauce.

Makes six servings.

BRANDY HARD SAUCE

Cream one-third cup butter or margarine with one cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Add two teaspoons brandy extract. Fill serving dish and chill until serving time.

Note: If desired, garnish pudding with whole cranberries that have been dipped in slightly beaten egg white, then dipped into granulated sugar and allowed to dry.

Cakes are favorites in holiday festivities, and this cake would be especially welcome at a Christmas tea, family get-together or with a mug of hot cider after an evening of caroling.

Cake cutting hints: To cut this cake use a sharp, thin bladed knife. Insert the point of the knife and slice the cake with an up and down motion pulling the knife toward you. Between slices, dip the blade in warm water or wipe with a damp cloth to keep it free of frosting or crumbs.

HOLIDAY RAISIN-PUMPKIN CAKE

This home baked bread twist, studded with moist, chopped pitted prunes and almonds, then finished with an orange sugar glaze, makes a delicious, festive Swedish holiday bread.

SWEDISH HONEY PRUNE TWIST

One package yeast, active dry or compressed
One-fourth cup warm (not hot) water)
One-half cup (one-fourth pound) soft butter
One-third cup sugar
Three egg yolks
Three-fourths cup milk, scalded and cooled
One-fourth teaspoon salt
Three and one-half cups unsifted regular all-purpose flour
Two cups pitted prunes, cut up
One-third cup each honey and brown sugar, firmly packed
Three tablespoons undiluted orange juice concentrate
One cup chopped almonds
Powdered sugar glaze (optional), recipe follows

Sprinkle yeast into warm water and let stand until dissolved. Beat the butter until creamy and beat in the sugar. Add egg yolks, one at a time, and beat until smooth.

Then mix in the yeast mixture, milk, and salt. Gradually add three cups of the flour, beating until smooth. Sprinkle remaining one-half cup flour on a board and turn dough out onto it. Knead until smooth. Return dough to bowl, grease top lightly, cover and let rise until doubled in size.

For filling, mix together prunes, honey, brown sugar, orange juice concentrate, and almonds; set aside.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Do You Know For Certain?

Dear Ann Landers: She is a beautiful woman (30), he is a handsome man (33). They have two lovely children. He is a hard worker, a good father, and generous with his money. They have a lovely apartment and a new car.

Six months ago she decided she was bisexual and became involved in an affair with a woman who lives in the same apartment complex. When the whole business came out in the open she said she was going to get help, but so far she hasn't done it. Meanwhile, she makes a dash to her friend's apartment as soon as her husband goes to work. All the neighbors are wise to the arrangement.

Her kids hate their mother's woman friend, but I don't think they know why yet. Sooner or later they're bound to find out. What will this knowledge do to them? Maybe if the mother sees THAT in print she will mend her ways. Or perhaps her husband will figure out a course of action. Right now he is just waiting. Comment, please. — No Name

Dear N.N.: You write as if you know for certain these women are lovers. Were you there? If it is indeed a lesbian relationship, it will not be terminated by pressure from relatives — not even the disdain of her children. I would hope, however, that the women be circumspect. If they are carrying on, no one need know. Lesbians are less visible than male homosexuals because it isn't considered unusual for girls to be very chummy.

— The perfect Christmas gift — ANN LANDERS SPEAKS OUT — $1.50, a collection of her best columns over the years.

Dog Cure

Dear Ann Landers: A reader asked what to do about his dog who became very upset during thunderstorms — broke the furniture, etc. You told him to check with his veterinarian and get some tranquilizing pills. I have another suggestion.

A dog's ability to sense an impending storm is much more acute than a human's. By the time the owner notices a storm approaching, the dog is already anxious and upset. A tranquilizer will not take effect until after the storm.

My suggestion is this: Have the owner get a tape recorder and equip it with a loop, or continuous tape. Record a thunderstorm's sound and fury. Then on a quiet day, play the tape back to the pet at a low volume for about an hour. Repeat the tapes on successive days and increase the volume. This should have a desensitizing effect on the animal. Sincerely yours — Lawrence M. Fox, D.V.M., River Grove, Illinois

Dear Doc: Many thanks for the helpful hint. And now, if anyone out there tries it, please let me know how it went.

Needs Help

Dear Ann Landers: You usually advise parents to MYOB when it comes to the weight problems of their children, but my problem is different from that of most mothers who yearn for their daughters to be thin.

Eighteen months ago, our daughter lost a lot of weight by systematically starving herself. She began passing out and having crying jags.

We were told to get her to a psychologist, which we did. She then started to eat again, felt better emotionally and now is 30 pounds overweight, hates the way she looks, but will not go back to the psychologist. She continues to gain. What can I do? — Distressed

Dear D.: Very little. The girl must want to return and let's hope she does soon. The psychologist got her over one hump; now she needs help to pull her back from the opposite extreme.

Two-Foot Hustler

The great Minnesota Fats, for over 50 years a legend at the pool table, was defeated recently in two straight games by a fourth-grader from Houston who had to stand on tiptoes to reach the table.

As the child leaned over the table, exposing the price tag on a new pair of yellow jeans, the old pro was heard to plead, "Hey, kid, play me one more so I can get even."

Poor Mr. Fats. He was ripped off by one of the oldest con games going in the country today . . . the old demoralize-the-over-30-group-with-the-innocent-kid-routine.

I figured out a long time ago that this country is being infiltrated by beings from another planet . . . small children who are really 148 years old and have the body of a six million dollar man. They're everywhere.

They sit around swanky tennis courts in a pair of $1.98 tennis shoes with the strings knotted, holding a tennis racket made in Nogales and sucking on an ice cube. When they are invited to play they squint and ask, "What do you call this thing again?"

The pros are amused and explain, "A tennis racket. And you take it out of the press before you play."

The kid's performance is stunning. He giggles as his pudgy little hands cannot hold two tennis balls at the same time, so he places one on the base line. He has to be told where to stand and his form is somewhere between Buchwald and a bullfighter with bad eyes.

After the warm-up, the personality of the kid changes. He scoops up the ball with the back of his foot, aces his opponent on every serve, runs around the court like a wood nymph and jumps the net to offer his condolences and asks for a towel.

It is roughly estimated that there are 275,000 of these sports midgets running around the country today. On ski slopes they challenge, "Bet you a dollar I can race you to the ambulance at the bottom of the saloon."

"That's slalom," grins the pigeon, shaking his head. "You're on."

There are no laws on the books to protect the unsuspecting over-30s. Those of you who have ever been hustled by a kid two feet tall into playing them at anything are asked to band together and keep them out of bowling alleys, pool halls, tennis courts, and ski slopes. If we need a reason, how about the profane language they hear . . . by the adults they beat?

Opening lead —

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Back in the late '30s, Walter Herbert, the conductor of the New Orleans symphony and a fine bridge player proposed the Herbert Convention. It was hands such as the one shown today that gave Walter his idea. South opens two hearts and North makes the bust response of two notrump.

If South jumps to four hearts and West does not open a spade, South will be held to nine tricks. He will score his honors in rubber bridge. If South raises to three no trump he will be sure of his contract if East holds the ace of spades, if some other suit is led, or if the defense can't take five spade tricks. But the way the cards lie, East leads a spade and three notrump goes down.

The Herbert convention provides that the next suit is the negative response to a strong two bid. North bids two spades and South can bid three notrump and make it against any lead.

If you do play strong two bids and want to improve your results a trifle, you can adopt the convention. However, you had better make sure that you don't forget it.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know about the penalty for down four tricks doubled when not vulnerable.

It is 700, consisting of 100 for the first trick and 200 for each subsequent trick.

I seem to recall that you once said that new eyeglasses can cause a pain in the neck. If you didn't say it, can you tell me if this makes sense because I date my pain in the neck to the time I got new bifocal glasses.

Mrs. D.M., Ill.

Dear Mrs. M.:

I did indeed say that in one of my columns. This was not a personal observation of my own. If I recall, a group of doctors at Ohio State University called specific attention to this fact.

They had observed that people who wear bifocal lenses seem to keep their necks in an unusual position in order to see through the upper and lower divisions of their glasses.

Such unusual extension of the muscles of the neck might produce temporary changes in the spinal column and perhaps irritate the delicate nerves in that area.

There may be a relationship between the new glasses and your discomfort. And if it persists, another attack to the problem should be considered, too.

X-rays of the neck and perhaps a neurological examination might better pinpoint the reason for the neck pain.

With a large family of small children someone always seems to have some form of contagious disease. Must they all be recorded by the school authorities?

Mrs. R.R., Tex.

Dear Mrs. R.:

It is a good practice for all contagious diseases to be recorded.

If a child came down with a contagious disease certainly you would want to be notified by the school authorities so that you could take proper precautionary steps to prevent your own children from acquiring that disease.

In some instances, a preventive injection of gamma globulin given at the discretion of your doctor may be very effective.

Health officials in almost all states establish rigid rules to protect others from being contaminated by people with active contagious diseases.

Fortunately, the frequency of these infections are modified and have been virtually eliminated when proper immunization has been maintained.

When you refer to the frequency of contagious diseases in your family I wonder if all your children have been properly vaccinated.

I must again remind all my readers that a "Vaccination Month" must be converted to "Vaccination Twelve Months." It is sad and unnecessary when a single child is burdened by the complications of a disease which could have been avoided with adequate immunization.

I figured out a long time ago that this country is being infiltrated by beings from another planet . . . small children who are really 149 years old and have the body of a six million dollar man. They're everywhere.

They sit around swanky tennis courts in a pair of $1.98 tennis shoes with the strings knotted, holding a tennis racket made in Nogales and sucking on an ice cube. When they are invited to play they squint and ask, "What do you call this thing again?"

The pros are amused and explain, "A tennis racket. And you take it out of the press before you play."

The kid's performance is stunning. He giggles as his pudgy little hands cannot hold two tennis balls at the same time, so he places one on the base line. He has to be told where to stand and his form is somewhere between Buchwald and a bullfighter with bad eyes.

After the warm-up, the personality of the kid changes. He scoops up the ball with the back of his foot, aces his opponent on every serve, runs around the court like a wood nymph and jumps the net to offer his condolences and asks for a towel.

It is roughly estimated that there are 275,000 of these sports midgets running around the country today. On ski slopes they challenge, "Bet you a dollar I can race you to the ambulance at the bottom of the saloon."

"That's slalom," grins the pigeon, shaking his head. "You're on."

There are no laws on the books to protect the unsuspecting over-30s. Those of you who have ever been hustled by a kid two feet tall into playing them at anything are asked to band together and keep them out of bowling alleys, pool halls, tennis courts, and ski slopes. If we need a reason, how about the profane language they hear . . . by the adults they beat?

Dr. Lester Coleman

I seem to recall that you once said that new eyeglasses can cause a pain in the neck. If you didn't say it, can you tell me if this makes sense because I date my pain in the neck to the time I got new bifocal glasses.

Mrs. D.M., Ill.

Dear Mrs. M.:

I did indeed say that in one of my columnss This was not a personal observation of my own. If I recall, a group of doctors at Ohio State University called specific attention to this fact.

They had observed that people who wear bifocal lenses seem to keep their necks in an unusual position in order to see through the upper and lower divisions of their glasses.

Such unusual extension of the muscles of the neck might produce temporary changes in the spinal column and perhaps irritate the delicate nerves in that area.

There may be a relationship between the new glasses and your discomfort. And if it persists, another attack to the problem should be considered, too.

X-rays of the neck and perhaps a neurological examination might better pinpoint the reason for the neck pain.

With a large family of small children someone always seems to have some form of contagious disease. Must they all be recorded by the school authorities?

Mrs. R.R., Tex.

Dear Mrs. R.:

It is a good practice for all contagious diseases to be recorded.

If a child came down with a contagious disease certainly you would want to be notified by the school authorities so that you could take proper precautionary steps to prevent your own children from acquiring that disease.

In some instances, a preventive injection of gamma globulin given at the discretion of your doctor may be very effective.

Health officials in almost all states establish rigid rules to protect others from being contaminated by people with active contagious diseases.

Fortunately, the frequency of these infections are modified and have been virtually eliminated when proper immunization has been maintained.

When you refer to the frequency of contagious diseases in your family I wonder if all your children have been properly vaccinated.

I must again remind all my readers that a "Vaccination Month" must be converted to "Vaccination Twelve Months." It is sad and unnecessary when a single child is burdened by the complications of a disease which could have been avoided with adequate immunization.

Opening lead —

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Back in the late '30s, Walter Herbert, the condcutor of the New Orleans symphony and a fine bridge player proposed the Herbert Convention. It was hands such as the one shown today that gave Walter his idea. South opens two hearts and North makes the bust response of two notrump.

If South jumps to four hearts and West does not open a spade, South will be held to nine tricks. He will score his honors in rubber bridge. If South raises to three no trump he will be sure of his contract if East holds the ace of spades, if some other suit is led, or if the defense can't take five spade tricks. But the way the cards lie, East leads a spade and three notrump goes down.

The Herbert convention provides that the next suit is the negative response to a strong two bid. North bids two spades and South can bid three notrump and make it against any lead.

If you do play strong two bids and want to improve your results a trifle, you can adopt the convention. However, you had better make sure that you don't forget it.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know about the penalty for down four tricks doubled when not vulnerable.

It is 700, consisting of 100 for the first trick and 200 for each subsequent trick.

Pot Offender Gets Same Sentence As Pal

A man arrested last year with 88 pounds of marijuana in his car Tuesday was sentenced to court costs of $200 and one year probation in Berrien Fifth District court.

Sentenced was James J. Wagnon, 32, of Santa Fe, N.M., on a reduced charge of possession of marijuana Dec. 13, 1974, at Howard Johnson's motor lodge on M-139 in Sodus township.

It was the same sentence given in June to a co-defendent, Randall H. Williams, 25, of Morro Bay, Calif., who was arrested with Williams at the motel by state troopers of the Benton Harbor post.

Troopers said that inside Wagnon's foreign car were 88 pounds of high-grade marijuana, valued at over $28,000.

Both Williams and Wagnon were first charged with possession of marijuana with intent to deliver, a felony charge. But a then-new state supreme court ruling, which said that possession of a large amount of marijuana is not proof of intent to deliver, forced reduction of the charges to simple possession.

District Judge Hugh Black said he could have sentenced the men to a maximum of fines and costs of $1,000 each.

The judge pointed out Wagnon's Saab auto and $3,500 in cash which he had when arrested have been confiscated by the state.

Three Bound Over In SJ Jewelry Robbery

Three people charged with the Nov. 28 armed robbery of a St. Joseph jeweler were bound over to Circuit court yesterday, and another man charged with the Nov. 3 armed robbery of a Buchanan jeweler demanded examination in Berrien Fifth District court.

Waiving examinations on charges of armed robbery of over $7,000 worth of rings and about $251 in cash and checks from Green's Jewelers, St. Joseph, were:

Robert Lee Williams, 34, of Lansing; Rolanda Carter, 20, of 267 Cornelia, Benton township; and Diane Stokes, 22, who gave a nonexistent address of 307 Pleasant street, Benton Harbor.

Williams also waived examination and was bound over to Circuit court on a second count of armed robbery. He is charged with robbing the service revolver from St. Joseph Patrolman Max Kebschull while inside the jewelry store.

Williams and the women were arrested in St. Joseph seven minutes after a silent alarm from the business went off at the city police station.

Williams is also charged with another armed robbery, the Nov. 3 holdup at Rees Jewelry store in Buchanan. A second man charged with the Rees armed robbery demanded preliminary examination in district court yesterday.

Roy Moore, 49, of 1870 Council, Benton township, demanded examination on a charge of armed robbery and was jailed in lieu of $50,000 bond. Williams last week demanded examination on the charge.

Stolen during the Buchanan robbery were cash and jewelry valued at $20,251.

Monoxide Kills Pair, Relative

BENZONIA, Mich. (AP) — A Benzonia couple and a relative were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Tuesday, Benzie County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the bodies of the three were found shortly after noon. There was no fire at the Benzonia home where the bodies were found, leading authorities to speculate a faulty furnace may have been responsible. They discounted any possibility of foul play.

Identities of the victims and other details were not available immediately, although authorities did say the two women who died were sisters.

Monoxide Kills Pair, Relative

BENZONIA, Mich. (AP) — A Benzonia couple and a relative were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Tuesday, Benzie County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the bodies of the three were found shortly after noon. There was no fire at the Benzonia home where the bodies were found, leading authorities to speculate a faulty furnace may have been responsible. They discounted any possibility of foul play.

Identities of the victims and other details were not available immediately, although authorities did say the two women who died were sisters.

Bank Employe Struck In Head By Stray Bullet

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — A 26-year-old bank secretary was wounded critically Tuesday when she unwittingly drove into the line of fire of a police officer who was shooting at an escaping bank robber, who was apprehended, police said.

But the bank secretary, Bridgit Sheeran, reportedly was struck in the back of the head by a charge from a police riot gun. She underwent surgery at St. Joseph Hospital and was in its intensive care unit.

Police said Miss Sheeran, who was the bank's poster girl in its advertising campaign, drove into the bank parking lot moments after a lone gunman held up the Genesee Branch Bank in suburban Burton and was making his getaway with another female employe as a hostage.

Police said the gunman used the second girl as a shield until he got to her car, pushed her out of the way and started to drive off.

Burton police officer Bradley Bradshaw, first officer on the scene, drove into the parking lot and bank employes pointed out the gunman who was making a bid for freedom in the girl's car.

Bradshaw let go with several shots which hit the fleeing car and stopped it. One shot hit the Sheeran girl just as she was driving into the bank parking lot to report for work.

The gunman, Elmer Clinton Austin, 50, of Columbiaville, was apprehended by police and was arraigned in Flint federal court on a bank robbery charge.

U.S. Magistrate Warren C. Krupohl set bond at $100,000 and remanded Austin to the Genesee County jail pending a Dec. 18 preliminary hearing.

Police recovered the $11,800 loot which the bandit reportedly carried in his dash from the bank. They confiscated a white-handled revolver and a hunting knife with which he was armed.

SUGAR WIRE TAP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee is interested in whether former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1962 authorized wiretaps on four persons to keep abreast of pending legislation on sugar, a spokesman said.

No Word From Kidnapers On Ransom

DETROIT (AP) — The abductors of an assistant bank branch manager failed Tuesday to give bank officials instructions on where to drop off a $250,000 ransom.

Detroit Police and FBI agents reported no new leads in the abduction of James Crawford, 25, of Grosse Pointe.

FBI agents stayed close to the Crawford home as his parents maintained a vigil.

Crawford was forced into a car by two men Friday morning as he arrived for work at a National Bank of Detroit branch at Michigan and Junction.

Family members and bank officials had the only direct word from the kidnapers on Friday afternoon, when the ransom call was placed to another branch of the bank.

On Saturday and Sunday, the kidnapers picked citizens at random and gave them additional ransom demands and threats to relay, a bank spokesman said.

The spokesman said the bank was instructed to contact the kidnapers over local radio stations. A message was broadcast asking the abductors to call about the ransom drop, but the broadcasts were discontinued Monday when no further word was heard.

Michigan Asks $26.1 Million For Rail Repair

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan appealed to the federal government Tuesday for $26.1 million over the next 18 months for track repairs and subsidies to salvage 1,000 miles of threatened rail lines.

At the same time, bankruptcy notices were posted at terminals along routes served by the Ann Arbor and Penn Central rail companies. Officials said freight service on the lines would shut down unless funds for continued operation become available by March 1.

Under the plan submitted by the Department of State Highways and Transportation to the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA), a total of $43.2 million in state and federal funds would keep the 1,060 miles of lines running through July 1977.

The funding application also includes subsidies for the car ferry lines across Lake Michigan which are operated by the bankrupt rails.

The FRA is expected to rule on the fund application within 30 days.

Only 100 miles of track — "twelve short lines we don't feel are required" — would be abandoned under the state proposal, said Thomas Trimbach, who headed preparation of the plan for the highway department.

Those lines, he said, run between Eben and Rapid River, Champion and Republic Mine, Otsego and Byron Center, Charlotte and Eaton Rapids, Mendon and Vicksburg, Horton and Fort Wayne Junction, Ackerson Lake and Cement City, Ida and Lenawee Junction, Owosso and Lansing, Ionia and Portland, Mount Pleasant and Coleman, and Suttons Bay and Northport.

"I'll tell you this, we've done everything we possibly can to save all the rails in this state," Trimbach said.

So far, officials say, only $25 million in federal money has been appropriated for the next six months to help 17 northeastern states with bankrupt lines facing abandonment.

But subsidies of up to $180 million over the next two years have been authorized but not appropriated for states where some lines — like the 1,000 in Michigan — were excluded from the federal Conrail reorganization plan.

James Schouman, chairman of the state Rail Advisory Committee, said currently available federal funds could only cover operations through July.

The state's rail plan seeks $3.9 million in federal funds to keep the lines operating through June, and another $7.1 million to keep them running for another year. The federal money would be matched with $1.7 million in state dollars for the next six months, and $3.8 million for the following fiscal year, according to the plan.

House May Drop Contempt Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appears ready to drop consideration of contempt of Congress action against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger following White House efforts to compromise in a dispute with the House intelligence committee.

The White House on Tuesday briefed a delegation of committee members on 19 State Department requests for covert operations abroad. The panel had subpoenaed the information, but Kissinger, acting under the orders of President Ford, had refused to provide it.

Committee Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said he would not pursue his efforts to have the House cite Kissinger for contempt if panel members who got the briefing report back today that the compromise offer from Ford is satisfactory.

Two members of the delegation said Ford aides gave them full details of 19 State Department requests for covert operations, dating back to 1961, and said they were sure the delegation will report that Ford's compromise gives the committee all it needs.

"It looks fine," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. "Everybody went away happy. Every point that was raised was accommodated in some way."

The other member of the delegation, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the members were briefed from minutes of the National Security Council 40 Committee. He said the minutes detailed each of the 19 operation proposals, including "a couple" that were rejected.

He said White House officials, including Ford adviser Jack Marsh, answered all questions and the congressmen and staff members freely took notes on the top secret information.

"That was a real breakthrough," the committee member said. "They just gave us everything."

Pike said he sent the delegation to the White House after Ford's aide expanded a Ford compromise offer that Pike had rejected earlier.

The chairman said he told his committee he would ask for a House contempt vote against Kissinger today unless the expanded offer was in "substantial compliance" with the committee subpoena.

Ford offered last week to identify to the committee all U.S. covert operations since 1961 that had been requested by the State Department.

But Pike said the subpoena had ordered Kissinger to turn over all State Department requests for such operations, not just those that were approved and actually carried out.

Pike said Marsh expanded the offer Tuesday afternoon to include State Department operation requests that were rejected and to specifically identify all operations requested by the State Department.

Court Expands Miranda Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court says police can resume questioning a criminal suspect who has invoked his right to remain silent as long as they "scrupulously honor" his right to end the interrogation at any time.

In a 6 to 2 decision Tuesday, the court said the landmark Miranda ruling in 1966 does not mean that a suspect who exercises his right to silence "can never again be subjected to custodial interrogation by any police officer at any time or place on any subject."

In fact, the court said, police may resume questioning in a matter of hours as was done in the Michigan case that prompted the decision.

But the court cautioned that the Miranda rules also do not "permit a resumption of interrogation after a momentary respite."

Either extreme "would lead to absurd and unintentional results," the justices said. But they laid down no further guidelines to say how long police must wait before resuming interrogation after a suspect has exercised his right to remain silent.

When questioning resumes, the suspect must again be given the opportunity to exercise his right to remain silent at any point, the court declared.

Justices William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented, arguing that the majority decision represents a step toward erosion of the court's attempts to protect a suspect from self-incrimination.

The landmark Miranda decision, issued by the late Chief Justice Earl Warren, required police to advise a suspect of his right to remain silent and his right to counsel and to warn him that anything he might say to police could be used against him in court.

The dissenting justices said they feared the weakening of Miranda was merely a prelude to its repeal by the court, which is more conservative in its makeup than it was during the Warren years.

In another decision Tuesday, the court ruled unanimously that doctors may be prosecuted as narcotics pushers for dispensing such drugs as methadone "outside the usual course of professional practice."

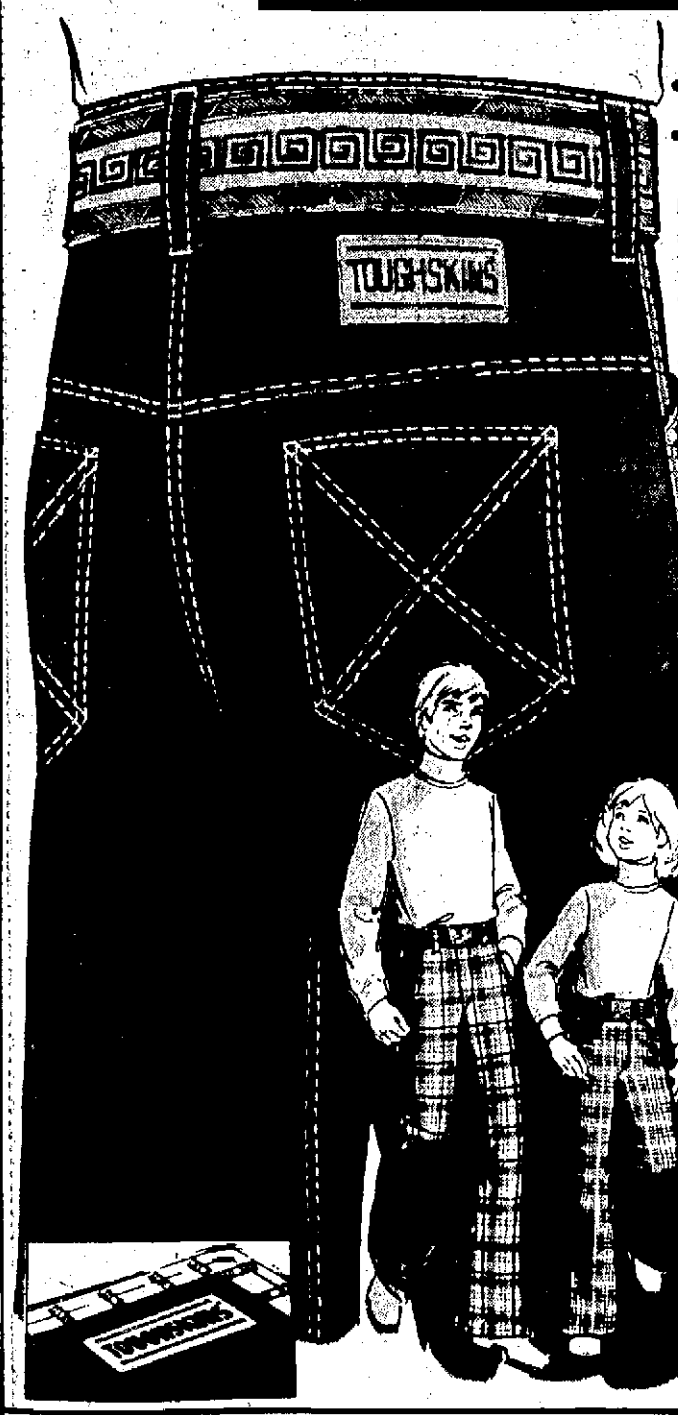

The fact that doctors who are registered to prescribe narcotics for medical purposes may also be prosecuted for violating federal regulations applicable to them alone does not exempt them from the more serious charge for trafficking, the court said.

House May Drop Contempt Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appears ready to drop consideration of contempt of Congress action against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger following White House efforts to compromise in a dispute with the House intelligence committee.

The White House on Tuesday briefed a delegation of committee members on 19 State Department requests for covert operations abroad. The panel had subpoenaed the information, but Kissinger, acting under the orders of President Ford, had refused to provide it.

Committee Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said he would not pursue his efforts to have the House cite Kissinger for contempt if panel members who got the briefing report back today that the compromise offer from Ford is satisfactory.

Two members of the delegation said Ford aides gave them full details of 19 State Department requests for covert operations, dating back to 1961, and said they were sure the delegation will report that Ford's compromise gives the committee all it needs.

"It looks fine," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. "Everybody went away happy. Every point that was raised was accommodated in some way."

The other member of the delegation, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the members were briefed from minutes of the National Security Council 40 Committee. He said the minutes detailed each of the 19 operation proposals, including "a couple" that were rejected.

He said White House officials, including Ford adviser Jack Marsh, answered all questions and the congressmen and staff members freely took notes on the top secret information.

"That was a real breakthrough," the committee member said. "They just gave us everything."

Pike said he sent the delegation to the White House after Ford's aide expanded a Ford compromise offer that Pike had rejected earlier.

The chairman said he told his committee he would ask for a House contempt vote against Kissinger today unless the expanded offer was in "substantial compliance" with the committee subpoena.

Ford offered last week to identify to the committee all U.S. covert operations since 1961 that had been requested by the State Department.

But Pike said the subpoena had ordered Kissinger to turn over all State Department requests for such operations, not just those that were approved and actually carried out.

Pike said Marsh expanded the offer Tuesday afternoon to include State Department operation requests that were rejected and to specifically identify all operations requested by the State Department.

Court Expands Miranda Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court says police can resume questioning a criminal suspect who has invoked his right to remain silent as long as they "scrupulously honor" his right to end the interrogation at any time.

In a 6 to 2 decision Tuesday, the court said the landmark Miranda ruling in 1966 does not mean that a suspect who exercises his right to silence "can never again be subjected to custodial interrogation by any police officer at any time or place on any subject."

In fact, the court said, police may resume questioning in a matter of hours as was done in the Michigan case that prompted the decision.

But the court cautioned that the Miranda rules also do not "permit a resumption of interrogation after a momentary respite."

Either extreme "would lead to absurd and unintentional results," the justices said. But they laid down no further guidelines to say how long police must wait before resuming interrogation after a suspect has exercised his right to remain silent.

When questioning resumes, the suspect must again be given the opportunity to exercise his right to remain silent at any point, the court declared.

Justices William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented, arguing that the majority decision represents a step toward erosion of the court's attempts to protect a suspect from self-incrimination.

The landmark Miranda decision, issued by the late Chief Justice Earl Warren, required police to advise a suspect of his right to remain silent and his right to counsel and to warn him that anything he might say to police could be used against him in court.

The dissenting justices said they feared the weakening of Miranda was merely a prelude to its repeal by the court, which is more conservative in its makeup than it was during the Warren years.

In another decision Tuesday, the court ruled unanimously that doctors may be prosecuted as narcotics pushers for dispensing such drugs as methadone "outside the usual course of professional practice."

The fact that doctors who are registered to prescribe narcotics for medical purposes may also be prosecuted for violating federal regulations applicable to them alone does not exempt them from the more serious charge for trafficking, the court said.

Lawrence Takes 1st Step For $400,000 Bond Sale

LAWRENCE — The Lawrence village council last night took the first step needed to issue $400,000 in bonds to finance construction of a water tower and installation of additional water mains.

The council instructed Mrs. Joyce Alberius, village clerk, to have a notice published in a local newspaper announcing the council's intent to sell the bonds.

Eugene Carr, village president, said that 45 days after the notice has been published, the village can proceed with sale of the bonds if there are no objections filed.

Carr said the village hopes to proceed with construction on the water tower and mains next spring. The bonds would be repaid from water and sewer revenues, he said.

In other areas, it was announced that the village's snowmobile ordinance would be strictly enforced. The ordinance bans the use of snowmobiles after 11 p.m. and prohibits them from being operated on sidewalks and private yards.

The council agreed to pay all fulltime village employes one week's salary as a Christmas bonus. Part-time employes will receive a bonus of $25.

It was announced that the planning commission will hold a public hearing Dec. 29 for a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance which would allow residents to operate certain types of businesses in their homes. The council will hold a public hearing on the same matter at its regular meeting, Jan. 13.

The council adopted a resolution designating the Van Buren county road commission as the agency to apply for a federal grant for a study of wastewater treatment in the Lawrence-Hartford area.

The area to be studied includes Lawrence and Hartford, the townships of Lawrence and Hartford, and a portion of Bangor township.

The study is necessary before future federal grants for construction of sewage treatment facilities can be received.

The village's engineering firm, Gove and Associates of Kalamazoo, reported that the estimated cost of an eight-inch sewer main proposed for Michigan avenue was $26,400.

A request to transfer a 1975 tavern license for the Big T tavern, 103-105 West St. Joseph street, from Thaddeus Plecyk to Richard Madarik was approved.

The request will now go to the state liquor control commission for final approval.

Red Bud Intersection To Get Signal

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Oronoko township board last night learned that the Berrien county road commission will seek bids during January for a blinker light at the intersection of Redbud trail and Shawnee road.

The commission notified the board of the decision in a letter. According to the letter, the work is to be completed by June 1. The light will blink red to stop traffic approaching on Shawnee road, and will blink yellow to caution through traffic on Redbud trail.

At present, only stop signs indicate that Shawnee road traffic must stop for Redbud trail.

The installation of the light is intended to reduce a high accident rate at the intersection, according to county officials.

Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police records show there have been 25 accidents with 20 injuries at the intersection during the past 16 months.

In other areas, the board set Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall for a special meeting to hear any opposition to a planned 36-unit apartment development on Kephart lane.

The development is being planned for a location on Kephart lane just east of the Berrien Springs village limits.

The developer, Errol Ratcliffe of Berrien Springs, is presently awaiting an answer to his request to hook up to village water and sewer lines.

The board hired Emery Coleman of Niles as cemetery sexton, replacing Edward McOmber who resigned Dec. 1 after serving 20 years as sexton. Coleman will be paid on a contract basis, but the rates of the contract have not yet been agreed upon, board members said.

The board agreed to pay expenses for any members who wish to attend the three-day convention of the Michigan Townships association in Grand Rapids, Jan. 7 through 9.

A resolution was passed naming Berrien county as the agency to apply for federal funds for an area-wide study of waste water treatment facility needs.

The area to be studied includes Berrien Springs, Berrien Center, Eau Claire, the townships of Oronoko and Berrien, and a portion of Pipestone township.

The study is necessary before federal grants can be received for future sewage treatment facility projects.

It was announced that Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police commission meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month in 1976 at the Berrien Springs village hall.

Board member Donald Prior was appointed to replace David Ladd, a township resident who has resigned as the township representative on the county Bicentennial committee.

COMMISSION GETS OPINION

Watervliet Can't Vote On Fluoride

WATERVLIET — Watervliet city commission was informed last night by its legal counsel that a special election to determine if fluoride should be added to the city's water system could not be ordered by the commission.

City Atty. F.A. (Mike) Jones said it was his opinion that the city commission is without authority to set an election for the purpose of voting on something which the electors of the city have no authority to determine.

The opinion was sought after petitions containing some 240 signatures requesting such an election were filed with the city clerk's office in late October. The petition requested an election be held to see if the city should exempt itself from adding fluoride to its drinking water.

A bill signed into law on July 19, 1968, gave communities five years in which to exempt themselves via an election or ordinance from a state law requiring fluoridation of water supplies. Watervliet did not exempt itself.

Jones said the petitioners have the right to commence a civil proceeding in court for the purpose of mandating the city clerk to establish an election. "Under the statute, however, it would appear to me as though their opportunity of success would be quite remote," Jones said.

Alton Howard, 332 South Main street, Watervliet, identified in October as head of an anti-fluoridation committee in the city, indicated his group would take the issue to court, if necessary. He said other communities have voted on the matter despite the five-year requirement.

The city in obtaining a $355,000 federal loan for making improvements in its water system, had stipulated city water would be fluoridated.

In other areas, the commission set Monday, Dec. 29, at 8 p.m., to review a request submitted by Howard Parker, Watervliet Community hospital administrator.

Parker said State Sen. Charles O. Zollar, owner of 23 acres of land the hospital plans to purchase to construct its new facility, is willing to deed to the city a 66-foot wide strip of land, running north and south from the property to Red Arrow highway, provided the city would accept it.

Parker said if the city accepts the offer to develop the right-of-way into a public street, it would help relieve some of the finanical burden of the hospital in its plans to build a new $5.2 million hospital.

Parker also said if start of construction on the new facility begins by July 1, as currently planned, instead of April 1, 1977, as had been proposed in one study, some $400,000 would be saved in construction costs because of inflation.

The commission referred bids for a new police car, ranging in price from $4,168 to $5,684, to its police committee for review and recommendation.

The commission approved installing test meters on sewage lines near metering stations to verify unusually high readings.

Newly elected city officials were also sworn into office last night by Mayor Robert Flaherty.

Police In BH Say 'Cookout' A No-No

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

A man arrested last week by Benton Harbor police after city firemen rescued him from a fire at a vacant house was arrested again early today when he was found by an open fire in another vacant building.

Firemen reported finding a man cooking on an open fire at 417 Territorial road about 12:15 a.m. where they were called on a report of a fire. There was no damage to the building owned by Rex Watkins of Rex Auto Parts, 447 East Main street, used for auto parts storage.

It was the second fire call at the building in less than a week. Sunday firemen extinguished a fire that damaged the second floor of the building. Cause of that fire, which started in trash on a stairway, is undetermined.

Last Wednesday firemen reported finding a man asleep on a burning mattress in a vacant house in the 600 block of Territorial road.

Booked at Berrien county jail today on a charge of trespassing at 417 Territorial was a man identified as Vic McKiney, 54, no permanent address. Police said McKiney was arrested last week at the vacant house on Territorial but was released when a complaint against him was not signed.

Decatur Dog Clinic Slated In January

DECATUR — A dog vaccination clinic will be held at the Decatur township hall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday Jan. 17, according to Joseph Miller, township supervisor.

Miller made the announcement at the township board meeting last night. He said a veterinarian will be at the clinic to administer rabies vaccinations and township officials will sell 1976 dog licenses.

All dogs in the township over six months old must be licensed, he said. Licenses will cost $5 per dog if purchased before March 1, and will cost $10 afterwards.

A dog owner must have a valid vaccination certificate before a license will be issued.

In other business, Miller noted that building permits issued in the township have totalled $296,550 to date in 1975. In 1974, permits totalled $749,370.

Included in the 1975 permits were six chalets built at the Swift Lake Farms, recreational area southeast of Decatur at a cost of $120,000.

The board instructed Mrs. Jerilee Klinkers, township clerk, to pay $3,000 to the Van Buren county road commission for the repaving of 2.8 miles of Old Swamp road which was done by the county.

The board agreed to present the three township employes, David Masura, Donald Roehm and Deron Paul, with their choice of a fruit basket or turkey as a Christmas gift.

POLICE ROUNDUP

'Tip' Results In Arrests

Benton Harbor police acted on a tip and arrested four people in a house at 368 Lincoln avenue where allegedly stolen goods were confiscated.

Arrested were Jacqueline McDonald, 22, of 366 Lincoln, who demanded examination Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District court and was released on $500 bail; and James Eddie Fields, 17, of 418 High street, who demanded examination on a charge of breaking and entering and was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Two 16-year-old boys were petitioned to juvenile court.

Det. Sgt. Sam Watson said furniture seized at 366 Lincoln allegedly was taken in a burglary at 453 Maple street Dec. 2.

Three rings and a wedding ring set were reported stolen in separate thefts investigated by St. Joseph and Benton Harbor police Tuesday. They were among five thefts reported to Twin Cities area police.

Elizabeth Radesky, 816 Broad street, told St. Joseph police the three rings stolen from her home were valued at a total of $370. They included a Topaz, black star sapphire and antique Indian ring.

Jessie Smith, 1234 Pavone street, reported a diamond engagement ring and a wedding band valued at $300 was stolen from her home along with a tape player, valued at $180.

Other thefts reported to St. Joseph and Benton Harbor police were:

—A stove, furniture and dishes, all valued at about $150, from an apartment at 163 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, owned by Sara Beaman, 2289 Pipestone road, Sodus township.

—Two stereo speakers and six recorded tapes, valued at a total of $60, from the car of Michael Kline, 1117 State street, St. Joseph, parked in a lot at St. Joseph high school, 2521 Stadium drive.

Berrien sheriff's officers said household items, tools and a case of motor oil valued at $635 were reported stolen from a house on Meadowbrook road, Bainbridge township, owned by Terry Paul, 401 Bluffview, Watervliet.

COMMISSION GETS OPINION

Watervliet Can't Vote On Fluoride

WATERVLIET — Watervliet city commission was informed last night by its legal counsel that a special election to determine if fluoride should be added to the city's water system could not be ordered by the commission.

City Atty. F.A. (Mike) Jones said it was his opinion that the city commission is without authority to set an election for the purpose of voting on something which the electors of the city have no authority to determine.

The opinion was sought after petitions containing some 240 signatures requesting such an election were filed with the city clerk's office in late October. The petition requested an election be held to see if the city should exempt itself from adding fluoride to its drinking water.

A bill signed into law on July 19, 1968, gave communities five years in which to exempt themselves via an election or ordinance from a state law requiring fluoridation of water supplies. Watervliet did not exempt itself.

Jones said the petitioners have the right to commence a civil proceeding in court for the purpose of mandating the city clerk to establish an election. "Under the statute, however, it would appear to me as though their opportunity of success would be quite remote," Jones said.

Alton Howard, 332 South Main street, Watervliet, identified in October as head of an anti-fluoridation committee in the city, indicated his group would take the issue to court, if necessary. He said other communities have voted on the matter despite the five-year requirement.

The city in obtaining a $355,000 federal loan for making improvements in its water system, had stipulated city water would be fluoridated.

In other areas, the commission set Monday, Dec. 29, at 8 p.m., to review a request submitted by Howard Parker, Watervliet Community hospital administrator.

Parker said State Sen. Charles O. Zollar, owner of 23 acres of land the hospital plans to purchase to construct its new facility, is willing to deed to the city a 66-foot wide strip of land, running north and south from the property to Red Arrow highway, provided the city would accept it.

Parker said if the city accepts the offer to develop the right-of-way into a public street, it would help relieve some of the finanical burden of the hospital in its plans to build a new $5.2 million hospital.

Parker also said if start of construction on the new facility begins by July 1, as currently planned, instead of April 1, 1977, as had been proposed in one study, some $400,000 would be saved in construction costs because of inflation.

The commission referred bids for a new police car, ranging in price from $4,168 to $5,684, to its police committee for review and recommendation.

The commission approved installing test meters on sewage lines near metering stations to verify unusually high readings.

Newly elected city officials were also sworn into office last night by Mayor Robert Flaherty.

Police In BH Say 'Cookout' A No-No

By TOM SAWYER

A man arrested last week by Benton Harbor police after city firemen rescued him from a fire at a vacant house was arrested again early today when he was found by an open fire in another vacant building.

Firemen reported finding a man cooking on an open fire at 417 Territorial road about 12:15 a.m. where they were called on a report of a fire. There was no damage to the building owned by Rex Watkins of Rex Auto Parts, 447 East Main street, used for auto parts storage.

It was the second fire call at the building in less than a week. Sunday firemen extinguished a fire that damaged the second floor of the building. Cause of that fire, which started in trash on a stairway, is undetermined.

Last Wednesday firemen reported finding a man asleep on a burning mattress in a vacant house in the 600 block of Territorial road.

Booked at Berrien county jail today on a charge of trespassing at 417 Territorial was a man identified as Vic McKiney, 54, no permanent address. Police said McKiney was arrested last week at the vacant house on Territorial but was released when a complaint against him was not signed.

Decatur Dog Clinic Slated In January

DECATUR — A dog vaccination clinic will be held at the Decatur township hall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday Jan. 17, according to Joseph Miller, township supervisor.

Miller made the announcement at the township board meeting last night. He said a veterinarian will be at the clinic to administer rabies vaccinations and township officials will sell 1976 dog licenses.

All dogs in the township over six months old must be licensed, he said. Licenses will cost $5 per dog if purchased before March 1, and will cost $10 afterwards.

A dog owner must have a valid vaccination certificate before a license will be issued.

In other business, Miller noted that building permits issued in the township have totalled $296,550 to date in 1975. In 1974, permits totalled $749,370.

Included in the 1975 permits were six chalets built at the Swift Lake Farms, recreational area southeast of Decatur at a cost of $120,000.

The board instructed Mrs. Jerilee Klinkers, township clerk, to pay $3,000 to the Van Buren county road commission for the repaving of 2.8 miles of Old Swamp road which was done by the county.

The board agreed to present the three township employes, David Masura, Donald Roehm and Deron Paul, with their choice of a fruit basket or turkey as a Christmas gift.

POLICE ROUNDUP

'Tip' Results In Arrests

Benton Harbor police acted on a tip and arrested four people in a house at 366 Lincoln avenue where allegedly stolen goods were confiscated.

Arrested were Jacqueline McDonald, 22, of 366 Lincoln, who demanded examination Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District court and was released on $500 bail; and James Eddie Fields, 17, of 418 High street, who demanded examination on a charge of breaking and entering and was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Two 16-year-old boys were petitioned to juvenile court.

Det. Sgt. Sam Watson said furniture seized at 366 Lincoln allegedly was taken in a burglary at 453 Maple street Dec. 2.

Tippling Claim Denied By Trio

and added, "I was sitting at his (Ford's) table and I certainly didn't see anything like that (excessive drinking)."

All three Michigan men said they were not St. John's source.

Reporters were not permitted to cover the dinner, but listened to the toasts over a loudspeaker. An AP reporter said Ford's toast went well, except when the President had trouble pronouncing the name of former Colombian President Alphonso Lopez Pumarejo. Ford laughed at himself over his mispronunciation.

During his televised statement, St. John cited three incidents — two in Washington and a political appearance in Rhode Island — where he claimed Ford exhibited characteristics of excessive drinking.

"I'm not charging the President with anything. I'm trying to open an issue that everybody has ignored," he said.

Deputy White House Press Secretary William Greener said he would "not dignify this charge by making any comment whatsoever."

St. John said, "In Rhode Island it was quite clear" Ford had been drinking. According to a reporter who covered Ford's Aug. 30 appearance at a GOP fund-raising dinner in Newport, R.I., the President had a martini and possibly two at a reception before his speech. It was supposed to have been a brief address, but Ford spoke for 45 minutes.

St. John said he did not cover the dinner.

Another incident cited by St. John was a misspoken toast at an Oct. 28 state dinner honoring Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

"He called Sadat the president of Israel," St. John said.

At the dinner, Ford proposed a toast to "the great people of Israel." He quickly corrected himself: "Excuse me — of Egypt."

St. John said he did not have first-hand knowledge of that incident.

St. John writes a weekly column distributed by Copley News Service.

He said he wasn't claiming the rumors are true.

"I'm worried about the fact that if it is true, he should do something about it," he said. "The press is protecting him .... I'm trying to open an issue that everybody has ignored."

Lebanese Troops Intervene

"authorized the use of the army to protect Phalange party gangs on their way to a military defeat." But the Syrian Baath party's Lebanese branch, a Shiite Moslem party and one of the country's several Nasserite factions, announced its support for Karami.

The premier, who resisted all previous demands for army intervention because most of its officers are Christians, told Jumblatt he had not ordered the troops into action. He said they were under the command of Interior Minister Camille Chamoun, a Maronite Christian. But this was considered an attempt to evade the issue since the premier is also the defense minister.

Palestinian chieftain Yasir Arafat was reported proposing that the army intervention be kept to a limited scale and that the Moslems pull out of the city center, with mixed patrols of security forces and private militiamen replacing them.

Arafat also proposed that the Phalangists hand over the Christians who were responsible for an outbreak of kidnaping and murder on Saturday that touched off the street war again and wrecked a two-week-old cease-fire.

U.S. Judge Now Boss Of School

resulted in scores of arrests and suspensions as well as some injuries.

McDonough previously was principal of the Gavin middle school in South Boston and school officials describe him as a firm, hard-working administrator generally respected by teachers. He is a brother of John J. McDonough, Boston School Committee chairman, who has opposed the court-ordered busing plan.

"Putting the school in receivership, in effect, he's becoming increasingly involved and immersed in school department daily affairs. The next thing he'll be doing is counting the chalk," John McDonough said in reference to Garrity.

School committee members did not say if they planned to appeal.

McDonough said Garrity should make a decision now on whether to put the complete school system in receivership because school officials are "frozen in terms of acting. We're inhibited in carrying out our statutory duty. We're not sure what our powers are."

Garrity ordered current administrators, including South Boston High Headmaster William Reid, transferred to other schools by the end of the month. He increased the power of Supt. Marion Fahey to appoint staff and run schools and weakened school committee control over integration throughout the 162-school system.

"The court's orders do strip the school committee of some of its powers," Garrity said. "This court has no alternative if this matter is ever to be resolved."

Reaction to Garrity's assumption of control of the high school was generally negative in South Boston.

Louise Day Hicks, a city councilor and an antibusing leader, said the decision could trigger more troubles in the tough, Irish neighborhood that has been a center of resistence to integration.

"Responsible leaders in South Boston have been working quietly to avoid community disturbances," she said. "Now, in light of this unjust decision, it will be extremely difficult to continue this process successfully."

State Rep. Raymond Flynn, a Democrat from South Boston who has been a prominent antibusing leader, said "just as a king couldn't silence the voices of protest and opposition from Bostonians against an unjust law 200 years ago, neither can the voices in opposition be silenced today by a federal judge."

BANGOR TOWNSHIP

Funds Appropriated For Sewer Study

BANGOR — Bangor township board last night voted to appropriate $1,000 as its share of the cost of a proposed mid-Van Buren county sewer system study.

The study is to determine whether it would be feasible to link in a common sewer system Lawrence township and village, Hartford city and township and a part of Bangor township.

The study is to be 75 per cent federally funded, with five per cent coming from the state and the remaining 20 per cent from the local units of government.

Overall, the study is to cost $70,000. Prorated total cost for Bangor township is $5,000. A breakdown of the prorated total costs for the other municipalities showed Hartford city, $24,000; Hartford township, $1,500; Lawrence, $38,040; and Lawrence township, $1,540.

Wightman & Associates, a St. Joseph engineering firm, has been named as the engineering firm for Bangor township as well as Hartford city and township.

Gove Associates, Kalamazoo, is representing Lawrence village and township.

Tom Deneau, project engineer from Wightman, said the five are to designate the Van Buren county road commission as their agent to handle the project. Bangor township formally took action to designate the county agency last night, he said.

Application for the study funds is to be submitted to the state Water Resources commission and then the federal Environmental Protection agency for approval.

In other areas last night, 10 of 18 Van Auken lake area property owners submitted petitions asking that the Efting drain be cleaned.

The board approved spending $495 as its share of the cleaning. Total cost of cleaning out 3,450 feet of the drain will be about $3,300, with the majority of the cost to be picked up by property owners benefiting from the project, board members said.

Township officials said they have also sent out tax bills totaling $326,564 and so far have collected about $20,000 in taxes.

The township will get about $7,794 in federal revenue sharing funds in the coming year, officials also said.

House Sends Ethics Bills To Senate

William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe Park, said a Democrat will sponsor the legislation. The GOP-desired change would allow the political groups to give donated money to parties, as well as the individual candidates, to which the ethics law now limits the groups to supporting.

Democrats can agree to the loosening because such corporation sponsored committees gave $63,000 to House Democrats' campaigns in 1974, compared to $53,000 for Republicans, said Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant.

But Republicans have given up hope of revising a disliked Democratic backed provision of the ethics law which allows unons to move campaign money freely between local offices, Engler said. It is said to give the Democratic campaigns supported by labor an unfair advantage.

Church Council Conclave Ends

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The World Council of Churches assembly winds up its 18-day session today after speaking out for the first time about limitations on religious practices in the Soviet Union. The interdenominational body also called for "intensive consultations" to improve the situation. But it said all action on behalf of the council must be in consultation with the churches concerned. "This ties our hands," said Dr. James Laney of Atlanta, Ga., the Methodist dean of theology at Emory University. "It means the council can only act on what the Soviet government allows its churches to agree to."

Board Seats For Workers

BONN, West Germany (AP) — West Germany's two government parties have agreed on a new version of a bill to give the workers up to half the seats on the boards of directors of West Germany's 650 biggest companies. The junior partner in the coalition, the probusiness Free Democrats, agreed to the legislation after it was revised to give a voting edge to the representatives of the stockholders and of management. The bill was approved Tuesday by the members of parliament from the Social Democrats, West Germany's Socialist party and the dominant member of the government, and the Free Democrats.

British Fear IRA Reprisal

LONDON (AP) — Irish gunmen under police siege held a married couple hostage for the fourth day today as fears increased that the Irish Republican Army might kidnap prominent persons to try to use them as ransom for the gunmen's freedom. Scotland Yard gave members of Parliament a list of precautions to take. "To a substantial degree, the most effective remedy lies in your own hands," the Yard said. It advised the MPs to keep their doors and windows locked and their homes well lit, inspect their cars before using them, keep the car windows up, "do not establish predictable patterns of behavior," and "avoid unnecessarily publicizing details of your domestic and business affairs."

Moluccans Demand Meeting

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccan nationalists holding hostages for nearly a week have demanded a meeting in Geneva with Indonesian President Suharto, but an Indonesian representative said the demand would be rejected. A Geneva meeting between Suharto and Johan Alvares Manusama, a leader of a community of South Moluccan exiles in The Netherlands, was among a series of demands submitted to the Jakarta government by gunmen holding an estimated 25 hostages in the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam. They seized the building last Thursday.

Will Request 'Bear' Funding

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of the Interior Thomas Kleppe will request funding for the purchase of "hardship" property holdings in the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore, says the state Department of Natural Resources. The DNR Tuesday said Kleppe met with the Michigan congressional delegation and agreed to ask residents within the 71,000-acre designated lakeshore area if continued ownership of their land would be an economic hardship. "Their response will serve as justification for the Department of the Interior to ask for additional funding from Congress and the executive department's Office of Management and Budget," said Carl Johnson, a member of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore Advisory Commission.

Cass Board Asks Medical Care Budget Be Itemized

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass county board of commissioners yesterday threatened to take action against the county's social services board unless it gets an itemized breakdown of the medical care facility's 1976 budget.

Board members said they want the breakdown within 10 days.

Commissioner Charles Sarabyn of Dowagiac said one alternative would be to relieve the social services board if the county commissioners don't get an itemized accounting of proposed expenditures for 1976.

And County Board Chairman Johnie Rodebush said "...I don't think we should pay to build a new medical care facility if the social services board doesn't give a better breakdown to the taxpayers than this."

services board supervises operations of the medical care facility as well as the department of social services.

Sarabyn said the medical care facility director, Mrs. Ruth Larson, submitted a 1976 budget, but it was a lump total without an itemized breakdown as provided by other departments receiving county appropriations.

Sarabyn said the budget "showed a $123,778 deficit for 1976 for operating the medical care facility for 60 patients."

He said the budget anticipated revenue of about $697,000, including a subsidy of $20,000 from the county, but it anticipated spending about $800,000 for the year. Last year, the county subsidy was $40,000.

"She (Mrs. Larson) shows a deficit of $103,000, but she didn't break it down. We must have it broken down to go along with our budget," Sarabyn said.

In other areas, the board tabled for further study a request from Sheriff James Northrop that the county increase from $1.05 to $1.15 the county's per meal subsidy for feeding prisoners.

The board also went on record as being opposed to the political reform bill already passed by the state legislature and the workmen's compensation bill now pending in Lansing.

Tippling Claim Denied By Trio

and added, "I was sitting at his (Ford's) table and I certainly didn't see anything like that (excessive drinking)."

All three Michigan men said they were not St. John's source.

Reporters were not permitted to cover the dinner, but listened to the toasts over a loudspeaker. An AP reporter said Ford's toast went well, except when the President had trouble pronouncing the name of former Colombian President Alphonso Lopez Pumarejo. Ford laughed at himself over his mispronunciation.

During his televised statement, St. John cited three incidents — two in Washington and a political appearance in Rhode Island — where he claimed Ford exhibited characteristics of excessive drinking.

"I'm not charging the President with anything. I'm trying to open an issue that everybody has ignored," he said.

Deputy White House Press Secretary William Greener said he would "not dignify this charge by making any comment whatsoever."

St. John said, "In Rhode Island it was quite clear" Ford had been drinking. According to a reporter who covered Ford's Aug. 30 appearance at a GOP fund-raising dinner in Newport, R.I., the President had a martini and possibly two at a reception before his speech. It was supposed to have been a brief address, but Ford spoke for 45 minutes.

St. John said he did not cover the dinner.

Another incident cited by St. John was a misspoken toast at an Oct. 28 state dinner honoring Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

"He called Sadat the president of Israel," St. John said.

At the dinner, Ford proposed a toast to "the great people of Israel." He quickly corrected himself: "Excuse me — of Egypt."

St. John said he did not have first-hand knowledge of that incident.

St. John writes a weekly column distributed by Copley News Service.

He said he wasn't claiming the rumors are true.

"I'm worried about the fact that if it is true, he should do something about it," he said. "The press is protecting him .... I'm trying to open an issue that everybody has ignored."

Lebanese Troops Intervene

"authorized the use of the army to protect Phalange party gangs on their way to a military defeat." But the Syrian Baath party's Lebanese branch, a Shiite Moslem party and one of the country's several Nasserite factions, announced its support for Karami.

The premier, who resisted all previous demands for army intervention because most of its officers are Christians, told Junblatt he had not ordered the troops into action. He said they were under the command of Interior Minister Camille Chamoun, a Maronite Christian. But this was considered an attempt to evade the issue since the premier is also the defense minister.

Palestinian chieftain Yasir Arafat was reported proposing that the army intervention be kept to a limited scale and that the Moslems pull out of the city center, with mixed patrols of security forces and private militiamen replacing them.

Arafat also proposed that the Phalangists hand over the Christians who were responsible for an outbreak of kidnaping and murder on Saturday that touched off the street war again and wrecked a two-week-old cease-fire.

U.S. Judge Now Boss Of School

resulted in scores of arrests and suspensions as well as some injuries.

McDonough previously was principal of the Gavin middle school in South Boston and school officials describe him as a firm, hard-working administrator generally respected by teachers. He is a brother of John J. McDonough, Boston School Committee chairman, who has opposed the court-ordered busing plan.

"Putting the school in receivership, in effect, he's becoming increasingly involved and immersed in school department daily affairs. The next thing he'll be doing is counting the chalk," John McDonough said in reference to Garrity.

School committee members did not say if they planned to appeal.

McDonough said Garrity should make a decision now on whether to put the complete school system in receivership because school officials are "frozen in terms of acting. We're inhibited in carrying out our statutory duty. We're not sure what our powers are."

Garrity ordered current administrators, including South Boston High Headmaster William Reid, transferred to other schools by the end of the month. He increased the power of Supt. Marion Fahey to appoint staff and run schools and weakened school committee control over integration throughout the 162-school system.

"The court's orders do strip the school committee of some of its powers," Garrity said. "This court has no alternative if this matter is ever to be resolved."

Reaction to Garrity's assumption of control of the high school was generally negative in South Boston.

Louise Day Hicks, a city councilor and an antibusing leader, said the decision could trigger more troubles in the tough, Irish neighborhood that has been a center of resistence to integration.

"Responsible leaders in South Boston have been working quietly to avoid community disturbances," she said. "Now, in light of this unjust decision, it will be extremely difficult to continue this process successfully."

State Rep. Raymond Flynn, a Democrat from South Boston who has been a prominent antibusing leader, said "just as a king couldn't silence the voices of protest and opposition from Bostonians against an unjust law 200 years ago, neither can the voices in opposition be silenced today by a federal judge."

BANGOR TOWNSHIP

Funds Appropriated For Sewer Study

BANGOR — Bangor township board last night voted to appropriate $1,000 as its share of the cost of a proposed mid-Van Buren county sewer system study.

The study is to determine whether it would be feasible to link in a common sewer system Lawrence township and village, Hartford city and township and a part of Bangor township.

The study is to be 75 per cent federally funded, with five per cent coming from the state and the remaining 20 per cent from the local units of government.

Overall, the study is to cost $70,080. Prorated total cost for Bangor township is $5,000. A breakdown of the prorated total costs for the other municipalities showed Hartford city, $24,000; Hartford township, $1,500; Lawrence, $38,040; and Lawrence township, $1,540.

Wightman & Associates, a St. Joseph engineering firm, has been named as the engineering firm for Bangor township as well as Hartford city and township.

Gove Associates, Kalamazoo, is representing Lawrence village and township.

Tom Deneau, project engineer from Wightman, said the five are to designate the Van Buren county road commission as their agent to handle the project. Bangor township formally took action to designate the county agency last night, he said.

Application for the study funds is to be submitted to the state Water Resources commission and then the federal Environmental Protection agency for approval.

In other areas last night, 10 of 18 Van Auken lake area property owners submitted petitions asking that the Efting drain be cleaned.

The board approved spending $495 as its share of the cleaning. Total cost of cleaning out 3,450 feet of the drain will be about $3,300, with the majority of the cost to be picked up by property owners benefiting from the project, board members said.

Township officials said they have also sent out tax bills totaling $326,564 and so far have collected about $20,000 in taxes.

The township will get about $7,794 in federal revenue sharing funds in the coming year, officials also said.

William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe Park, said a Democrat will sponsor the legislation. The GOP-desired change would allow the political groups to give donated money to parties, as well as the individual candidates, to which the ethics law now limits the groups to supporting.

Democrats can agree to the loosening because such corporation sponsored committees gave $63,000 to House Democrats' campaigns in 1974, compared to $53,000 for Republicans, said Rep. John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant.

But Republicans have given up hope of revising a disliked Democratic backed provision of the ethics law which allows unons to move campaign money freely between local offices, Engler said. It is said to give the Democratic campaigns supported by labor an unfair advantage.

Troopers Arrest 2 Hoosiers

NEW BUFFALO — Two Indiana men were arrested by state police from the New Buffalo post south of here early this morning, one on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon and the second on a drug-related charge.

Troopers said the driver of a pickup truck stopped on I-94 about a mile north of the Michigan state line, Juan Sanchez, 24, of East Chicago, Ind., was arrested on the weapons charge. A .25 caliber automatic pistol was found, police said.

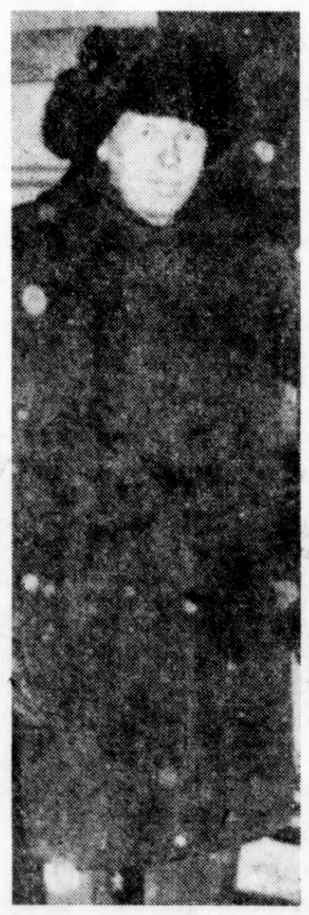

A passenger in the truck, Benjamin Gonzales, 23, Hammond Ind., was arrested on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act. Police said they found a tin foil package containing a small amount of a suspected illegal drug during the arrest.

A lab test will be made to determine what type of substance was confiscated, police said.

Troopers said the truck was stopped about 12:15 a.m. today after state police from the Benton Harbor post broadcast a radio report to be on the lookout for a man suspected of carrying a gun in a pickup truck.

Van Buren Eyes 'Deferred Prosecution' Program

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Van Buren Prosecutor Frank Willis said yesterday he hopes to institute a special deferred prosecution program aimed at keeping selected first-time offenders out of the court system.

Willis told county commissioners that the program has received second priority among 10 projects being considered for funding announced by the Region IV crime commission two weeks ago.

The idea behind the program, he said, would be to keep certain carefully screened first-time felony offenders out of the court process. Statistically, Willis noted, once a person has been through the judicial process, he is more likely to return to it on another charge.

The program would both lighten the court load and corresponding costs, as well as enabling the person to avoid the stigma of a felony conviction, he said.

In practice, a person arrested on a felony would be allowed to make a conditional guilty plea to a misdemeanor charge, and then be placed on probation. The case would be taken under advisement by the judge, and if the person violated probation, the plea could be rejected and the offender charged with a felony, Willis said.

Region IV has earmarked $27,000 for the project, Willis said, which would be used to hire a special probation officer and assistant prosecutor to administer it. Willis said that because of the caseload it will soon become necessary to add a third assistant prosecutor to his staff anyhow.

Board Chairman Walter Stickels warned commissioners that before giving their approval for the program, they should consider that the county would have to pick up five per cent of the cost in the first year, 50 per cent in the second, and the entire amount in the third year.

In other business, commissioners in a 5-4 vote approved the appointment of former Covert school board member Harry Sarno to till out the remaining year of the term of Carl Manning on the county road commission. Manning resigned in October, and Sarno will take office immediately.

Sarno was asked before the vote if the fact that his his brother, Jerry Sarno, was Covert township supervisor, would influence his actions on the board. He replied that he would seek the opinions of all township supervisors, and that he had never been a "yes man" for anyone.

Voting for his appointment were Commissioners Edwin Twitchell, James Wellington, Ronald DeCook, Boyd Estes, and Donald Hanson. Commissioners George Fritz, Gerald Rendel, Stickels, and Mrs. Shirley Jackson voted for former Almena township Supervisor William Rhoades.

The vote was taken after Sarno failed to gain a majority in an intial vote. The first time Estes, Wellington, DeCook, and Stickels voted for Sarno; Fritz and Mrs. Jackson for John Tapper of Paw Paw; Hanson and Rendel for Rhoades; and Twitchell for Charles Stein of South Haven.

Commissioners also voted unanimously not to approve monthly bills totaling $47,912 submitted by the county health board. Approval of the board's minutes and bills are normally routine.

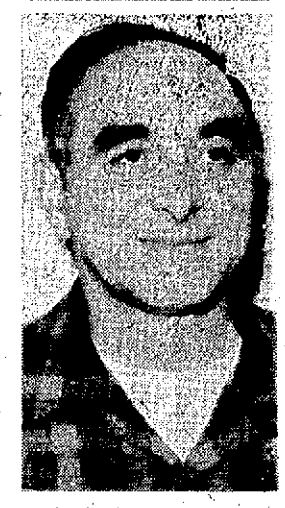

Twitchell termed the action a protest vote, but noted that it has no real effect since the health board legally is authorized to pay the bills.

"I just wanted the board (of commissioners) to be aware that they're (the health board) are continually running a deficit," Twitchell commented.

He added that although he would not want to make a statement on the amount of the deficit until the board's final financial statements are submitted at the end of this month, Twitchell maintained that the health department's accounts have been "running in the red" for several years.

Roger Hoxie, county grant coordinator, informed the board that about $18,900 in currently unused CETA funds, and an anticipated additional $18,000 to $20,000 which will become available after the first of the year, would be used to hire eight new workers in public service jobs in various county agencies.

Commissioners appointed DeCook and Stanley Adams of South Haven to two-year terms on the county mental health board, and re-appointed Twitchell to a one-year term on the commission on aging.

Case Of Missing 'Potato Puffs' Declared Closed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

How many "potato puffs" should there be in a frozen TV dinner?

The Berrien Consumer Protection Unit (CPU) briefly pondered that question yesterday when a man filed a complaint with the unit.

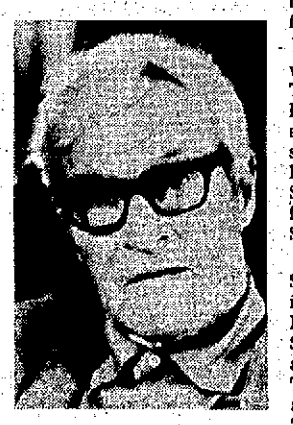

The man charged the picture on his TV dinner box showed seven potato puffs included with the dinner — and his only had five.

CPU Investigator Randy Arnt said other fish dinners by the same company were quickly checked, revealing as many as nine potato puffs in some and as few as five in others.

But the CPU dosen't expect to carry its investigation any further, since Arnt noted a statute requires that all food-related complaints be turned over to the Department of Agriculture for investigation.

Arnt stressed that since the CPU is a public agency, it is required to look into complaints from consumers, but the office is not capable of spending time on such complaints because of more important investigations.

He added that the "Potato Puff" case has been closed.

'Brothers,' 'Sisters' Are Sought

The Youth Service bureau of Berrien county is recruiting adults to act as big brothers and sisters to children, according to Donna J. Sickels, coordinator of volunteer services for the bureau.

A training session for volunteers will be held tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m. at bureau headquarters, 89 West Main street, Benton Harbor.

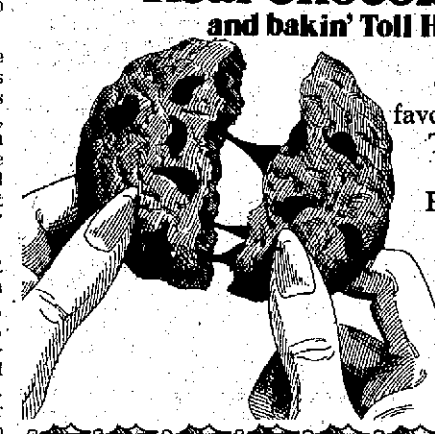

Children to be served are in need of companionship but are not delinquent. The Youth Service bureau is a non-punitive affiliate of Berrien Juvenile court.

Volunteers need spend only about one hour a week with the child assigned to them and will supplement the role of a counselor. Van Buren Eyes 'Deferred Prosecution' Program

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Van Buren Prosecutor Frank Willis said yesterday he hopes to institute a special deferred prosecution program aimed at keeping selected first-time offenders out of the court system.

Willis told county commissioners that the program has received second priority among 10 projects being considered for funding announced by the Region IV crime commission two weeks ago.

The idea behind the program, he said, would be to keep certain carefully screened first-time felony offenders out of the court process. Statistically, Willis noted, once a person has been through the judicial process, he is more likely to return to it on another charge.

The program would both lighten the court load and corresponding costs, as well as enabling the person to avoid the stigma of a felony conviction, he said.

In practice, a person arrested on a felony would be allowed to make a conditional guilty plea to a misdemeanor charge, and then be placed on probation. The case would be taken under advisement by the judge, and if the person violated probation, the plea could be rejected and the offender charged with a felony, Willis said.

Region IV has earmarked $27,000 for the project, Willis said, which would be used to hire a special probation officer and assistant prosecutor to administer it. Willis said that because of the caseload it will soon become necessary to add a third assistant prosecutor to his staff anyhow.

Board Chairman Walter Stickels warned commissioners that before giving their approval for the program, they should consider that the county would have to pick up five per cent of the cost in the first year, 50 per cent in the second, and the entire amount in the third year.

In other business, commissioners in a 5-4 vote approved the appointment of former Covert school board member Harry Sarno to till out the remaining year of the term of Carl Manning on the county road commission. Manning resigned in October, and Sarno will take office immediately.

Sarno was asked before the vote if the fact that his his brother, Jerry Sarno, was Covert township supervisor, would influence his actions on the board. He replied that he would seek the opinions of all township supervisors, and that he had never been a "yes man" for anyone.

Voting for his appointment were Commissioners Edwin Twitchell, James Wellington, Ronald DeCook, Boyd Estes, and Donald Hanson. Commissioners George Fritz, Gerald Rendel, Stickels, and Mrs. Shirley Jackson voted for former Almena township Supervisor William Rhoades.

The vote was taken after Sarno failed to gain a majority in an intial vote. The first time Estes, Wellington, DeCook, and Stickels voted for Sarno; Fritz and Mrs. Jackson for John Tapper of Paw Paw; Hanson and Rendel for Rhoades; and Twitchell for Charles Stein of South Haven.

Commissioners also voted unanimously not to approve monthly bills totaling $47,912 submitted by the county health board. Approval of the board's minutes and bills are normally routine.

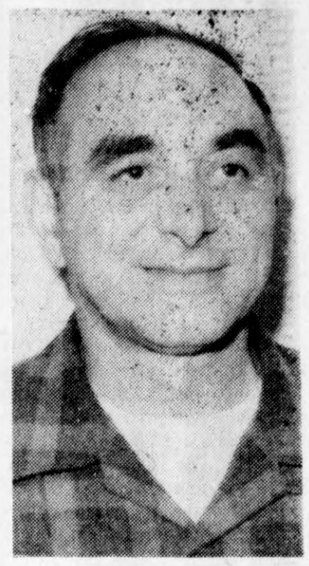

Twitchell termed the action a protest vote, but noted that it has no real effect since the health board legally is authorized to pay the bills.

"I just wanted the board (of commissioners) to be aware that they're (the health board) are continually running a deficit," Twitchell commented.

He added that although he would not want to make a statement on the amount of the deficit until the board's final financial statements are submitted at the end of this month, Twitchell maintained that the health department's accounts have been "running in the red" for several years.

Roger Hoxie, county grant coordinator, informed the board that about $18,900 in currently unused CETA funds, and an anticipated additional $18,000 to $20,000 which will become available after the first of the year, would be used to hire eight new workers in public service jobs in various county agencies.

Commissioners appointed DeCook and Stanley Adams of South Haven to two-year terms on the county mental health board, and re-appointed Twitchell to a one-year term on the commission on aging.

Case Of Missing 'Potato Puffs' Declared Closed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

How many "potato puffs" should there be in a frozen TV dinner?

The Berrien Consumer Protection Unit (CPU) briefly pondered that question yesterday when a man filed a complaint with the unit.

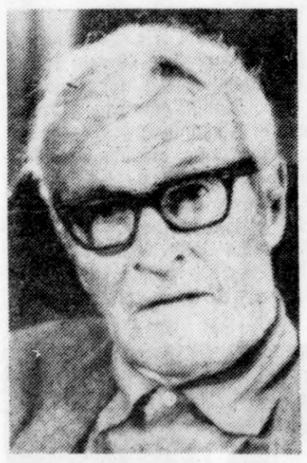

The man charged the picture on his TV dinner box showed seven potato puffs included with the dinner — and his only had five.

CPU Investigator Randy Arnt said other fish dinners by the same company were quickly checked, revealing as many as nine potato puffs in some and as few as five in others.

But the CPU dosen't expect to carry its investigation any further, since Arnt noted a statute requires that all food-related complaints be turned over to the Department of Agriculture for investigation.

Arnt stressed that since the CPU is a public agency, it is required to look into complaints from consumers, but the office is not capable of spending time on such complaints because of more important investigations.

He added that the "Potato Puff" case has been closed.

Warshawsky Endorsed For Van Buren Bench

LAWTON —Judge Meyer Warshawsky, Van Buren county probate judge, has been endorsed by the county Republican Women's club to succeed Circuit Court Judge David Anderson Jr.

Judge Anderson announced last week that he would resign from the post Jan. 1, ending 16 years on the circuit court bench.

The club voted to endorse Warshawsky at its meeting in Lawton Monday, according to Mrs. Sandra Valentine, club president.

She said a letter announcing the endorsement was sent to Gov. William Milliken. Milliken must appoint Anderson's successor who will serve until November, 1976, when the office will be again be up for election.

Anderson's present term does not expire until 1978, but he cited his health as a reason for leaving early. Warshawsky, as well as District Court Judges William C. Buhl of Paw Paw and Donald Goodwillie, Jr. of South Haven are all considered possible candidates for the post.

Quick Budget Approval Expected

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Committees in the House and Senate are set to quickly approve Gov. William Milliken's order to cut the state budget by $123.7 million, according to legislative leaders.

The Senate Appropriations Committee is scheduled to meet today to consider the order, part of Milliken's proposed program to avert a $286 million state deficit. The House Appropriations Committee was set to approve the order this afternoon, said its chairman.

Only the two committees must act on the order — within 10 days — to put it into effect. The two met in a joint session Tuesday to hear Milliken and Gerald Miller, director of the Department of Management and Budget, spell out its details.

The governor, making a rare appearance before a legislative committee, said, "In our best judgment we have a much better than even chance to stand with this order" without further budget cuts.

But he added:

"We are very close to the line and further action may be necessary."

Milliken urged quick approval of other portions of his program designed to join with the cuts in erasing the projected deficit.

Also proposed is borrowing $50 million from the Veterans' Trust Fund, transferring $18 million from the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund to the general fund and picking up an estimated $90 million by extending the fiscal year to Sept. 30, 1976, and then beginning an Oct. 1-Sept. 30 fiscal year schedule.

Here are specific cuts as proposed by the governor:

—Trimming capital outlay construction programs by $5.4 million.

—Cutting education by $48 million. That includes $40.5 million in reduced school aid and $7.5 million of cuts in higher education grants.

—$30.6 million in cutbacks in specific programs.

—$18.7 million in reduced spending by state departments.

—$12.1 million in reduced state-local revenue sharing.

The order is Milliken's second attempt to cut the budget. The first, which would have cut the budget by $150 million, was rejected by the Democratic-controlled committees.

That first proposal was based on a projected deficit of $298 million but Democrats bargained that estimate down to $280 million, resulting in Tuesday's revised executive order.

Major changes between the two orders included elimination of any cutbacks in welfare payments, a reduction of $7 million in school aid cutbacks, and an increase, from 3.5 to 4 per cent, in the cutback for most state departments.

Some departments escaped with a lesser bite — treasury will lose 2.5 per cent, as did mental health and social services. Corrections was exempted from any cutback at all. Such cutbacks are on top of an original 1.5 per cent reduction enacted when the legislature approved the current budget.

Milliken's order did not spur much comment from lawmakers, who had a major part in drafting the measure after rejecting the first order. The appropriations committee chairmen indicated approval likely would be routine.

Milliken Gets Bill Allowing Sale Of Excess City Power

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to let municipal utilities sell unlimited amounts of power outside city boundaries has been approved by the legislature and sent to the governor.

Approval in the House Tuesday, 94-6, came despite last-minute efforts to rid the measure of a so-called "anti-competitive."

The bill would let Michigan's 42 municipal utilities sell power at low wholesale prices to investor-owned utilities like Consumers Power Co. or at regular rates to individuals in adjacent areas.

Under a 1909 law, the municipal utilities were not able to sell beyond city limits power totalling more than 25 per cent of what they sold inside city limits.

Investor-owned utilities are expected to profit from the bill because it will let them buy unlimited amounts of municipal power at low prices rather than build new expensive generating units.

Proponents say the bill approved Tuesday echoes a bill passed in 1974 that lifted the sales ceiling from another old law.

But proponents said an anti-raiding provision in the bill would forbid voters in a village or township from switching to a municipal utility if they wanted to, and would stifle competition between municipal and investor-owned utilities.

The provision says the investor-owned utility must consent in writing before such a switch could occur.

Amendments to erase that anti-raiding provision and give local governments more control over city utility power sales failed by a vote of 66-33 Tuesday, shortly before the bill's final passage.

The bill approved lets the utilities' governing boards decide how much power will be sold outside the city, and to whom.

Opponents of the amendments said they would only delay the effect of the bill. Utilities in Lansing and Traverse City, who are selling more power outside city limits than allowed by law, needed quick passage of the bill to make them "legal."

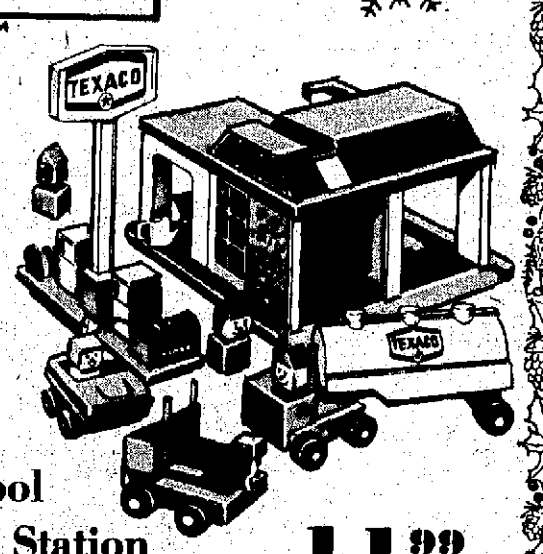

They are seeking millions of dollars of bonds to finance construction and pollution control projects, bonds they cannot get if they are in violation of law.

Ironically, the loudest opponent of the bill was a Lansing lawmaker, Rep. David Hollister, who said it "makes local governments and electric customers ping pong balls in a struggle between the powerful, powerful utilities."

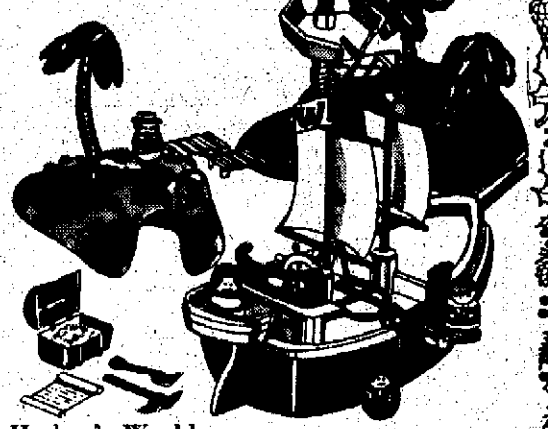

Knight Probe In Detroit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The investigation of the murder of newspaper heir John S. Knight III has spread to Detroit where Knight formerly worked, the Philadelphia Inquirer reports. Knight, grandson of the founder of the Knight newspaper chain, was stabbed to death early Sunday at his luxury center-city apartment. Three men are being sought for questioning. The Inquirer, a Knight-Ridder newspaper, said in its Wednesday editions that Philadelphia detectives were questioning Knight's former friends in Detroit. Knight worked at the Detroit Free Press before coming to the Philadelphia Daily News last year. Both the Inquirer and the Daily News say police have been questioning homosexuals and women who frequented Knight's apartment.

Pearl's Come A Long Way

NEW YORK (AP) — When Pearl Bailey was 15 she followed a whim and joined an amateur night competition in Philadelphia. She won first place and $5.

It was no fluke; there was much more to come.

Pearl became a household name, and her "Mama knows best, darling" attitude has taken to the White House during the Nixon and Ford administrations and made her an international performer.

Nixon proclaimed her "America's ambassador of love."

Now Ford has made the 57-year-old entertainer a special United Nations adviser.

Miss Bailey, the outspokesn daughter of a Virginia preacher, plans to retire from show businesss to take her philosophies of love and brotherhood to hospitals, schools and even other nations.

Her U.N. post expires Dec. 16.

AND ON BROADWAY: Singer Pearl Bailey waits for cue during matinee performance of Broadway musical "Hello, Dolly!" in which she is starring. Earlier in day she worked at United Nations, where she is serving as special adviser for the U.S. (AP Wirephoto)

Changes In Auto Repair Law Sought

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The secretary of state's office is pushing for a change in Michigan's new auto repair law to avert the threatened shutdown of hundreds of service stations.

Regulations effective March 1 require service stations with repair facilities to carry a $10,000 surety bond. State officials say bonding companies expect to deny such bonds to 20 to 40 per cent of all stations, mostly in inner city areas.

Those which could not get the bonds would have to shut repair bays. Charles Shipley of the Service Station Dealers Association of Michigan, said these stations would be forced out of business.

"We don't want to put anybody out of business, even for a short time," said Norman Berkowitz, deputy secretary of state. "We are very concerned that repair shops provide uninterrupted service."

Berkowitz said the secretary of state's office doesn't believe the bonds are needed, based on the experience with other businesses which already are bonded.

Under the law, the secretary of state's office will register the state's 15,000 to 20,000 auto repair facilities. The law requires written estimates for repair work and eventual licensing of mechanics. Stations must be bonded and registered by March 1.

Berkowitz said his office is supporting pending changes in the law which would eliminate the bonding requirement. While the rule is still on the books, he said, the office will allow partial registration by repair outlets which can't get bonds.

Town Moves To Higher Ground

NIOBRARA, Neb. (AP) — About 275 residents of this tiny northeast Nebraska town will spend Christmas this year on "The Hill" in new homes overlooking their old town.

Niobrara, Nebraska's third-oldest town, was forced to seek higher ground because of water problems resulting from the Army Corps of Engineers' construction of the Gavins Point Dam in 1955.

Basements were flooded, building foundations weakened, roadbeds threatened and farmlands rendered soggy by rising water tables.

The waters rose "to a greater degree and more rapidly, than anticipated" according to Elbert Snethen, spokesman for the Corps. He said original estimates projected the high levels would not come for 50 to 100 years after the dam's completion.

Snethen said that if a low dam had been built instead of a high one the buildup of silt and subsequent flooding would not have occurred.

As water rose, the morale of the town declined. The population — 550 residents several years ago — fell by 10 to 15 per cent. Some businesses closed.

"People were trying to decide whether to relocate or just move away or just what to do," said Gordon Printz, general manager of the Niobrara Planning Commission.

Printz said the greatest obstacle was selling the townspeople on how nice the new town would be.

"I think we have overcome that tremendous obstacle and we do now have a town," he said. "We started building homes about 16 months ago. And when you do that in a town as remote as Niobrara and have over 100 new homes constructed that's a tremendous problem getting people resettled."

Eight people took their old homes to The Hill; other homes were sold and carted to other towns by their new owners. Moving expenses and the new homes are being financed by federal flood control funds.

"It's a much nicer town up there," Mayor Lester Fitch said of the new community rising on The Hill.

The Fitches are one of the families still living in the old town. They had hoped to move to the new town this year, leaving behind their home of 20 years, but the house was not completed in time.

Mrs. Fitch says most of the townspeople feel "pretty good" about the relocation. But she says, "The ones up in the new town don't like to have to come down, like to get their mail."

Printz said "the business part of the relocation is the most difficult because the federal money, well ... just isn't there."

Mayor Fitch says one problem was the paperwork needed to prove that businesses had suffered losses because of the rising waters. He said because of the influx of laborers building the new town, some businesses actually picked up for a while.

"That makes the losses pretty hard to prove," he said.

Connecticut Areas Top U.S. Taxpayers

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Two executive-rich metropolitan areas of Connecticut lead the nation in average payments of federal income tax per resident, a survey shows.

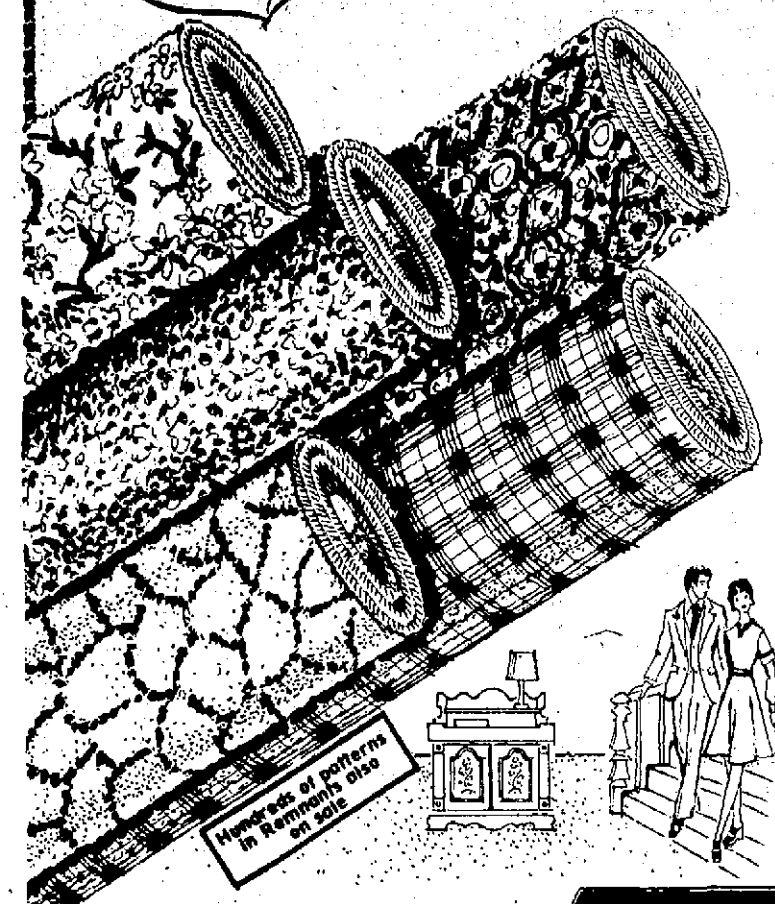

Hartford, combined with its suburb of New Britain, and Bridgeport, with its suburb of Stamford, led even the prosperous West Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington, D.C., areas in fiscal 1974, the Tax Foundaton Inc. of New York City said Tuesday.

Pearl's Come A Long Way

NEW YORK (AP) — When Pearl Bailey was 15 she followed a whim and joined an amateur night competition in Philadelphia. She won first place and $5.

It was no fluke; there was much more to come.

Pearl became a household name, and her "Mama knows best, darling" attitude has taken to the White House during the Nixon and Ford administrations and made her an international performer.

Nixon proclaimed her "America's ambassador of love."

Now Ford has made the 57-year-old entertainer a special United Nations adviser.

Miss Bailey, the outspokesn daughter of a Virginia preacher, plans to retire from show businesss to take her philosophies of love and brotherhood to hospitals, schools and even other nations.

Her U.N. post expires Dec. 16.

Changes In Auto Repair Law Sought

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The secretary of state's office is pushing for a change in Michigan's new auto repair law to avert the threatened shutdown of hundreds of service stations.

Regulations effective March 1 require service stations with repair facilities to carry a $10,000 surety bond. State officials say bonding companies expect to deny such bonds to 20 to 40 per cent of all stations, mostly in inner city areas.

Those which could not get the bonds would have to shut repair bays. Charles Shipley of the Service Station Dealers Association of Michigan, said these stations would be forced out of business.

"We don't want to put anybody out of business, even for a short time," said Norman Berkowitz, deputy secretary of state. "We are very concerned that repair shops provide uninterrupted service."

Berkowitz said the secretary of state's office doesn't believe the bonds are needed, based on the experience with other businesses which already are bonded.

Under the law, the secretary of state's office will register the state's 15,000 to 20,000 auto repair facilities. The law requires written estimates for repair work and eventual licensing of mechanics. Stations must be bonded and registered by March 1.

Berkowitz said his office is supporting pending changes in the law which would eliminate the bonding requirement. While the rule is still on the books, he said, the office will allow partial registration by repair outlets which can't get bonds.

HOPE BRINGS OUT LAUGHS: Entertainer Bob Hope, center, evokes laughs from House Speaker Carl Albert, right, D-Okla., and Minority House Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., Tuesday as he met with them at the Capitol. The comedy star was hearing testimony on a bill to incorporate the USO. (AP Wirephoto)

Panel Seeks JFK Leak Source

WASHINGTON (AP) — Staff members of the Senate intelligence committee have been ordered to swear in affidavits that they were not the source for news stories linking President John F. Kennedy, a female friend and organized crime, committee sources say.

The sources say staff members were asked to reaffirm their loyalty oaths and that senators on the panel also were asked to sign affidavits saying they had not leaked information from committee files.

A committee spokesman denied reports that staff members have been asked to take lie detector tests as part of an effort to identify the source of the apparent leak. He refused to comment on what other steps may have been taken.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, was not immediately available for comment but was said by friends to have been "mad as hell" about the news stories last month which represented the first major leak in the committee's 10-month history.

Vice Chairman John Tower, R-Tex., refused to comment when asked whether lie detector tests have been ordered, saying the matter is "internal committee business."

The news stories stated that while in the White House, Kennedy received 70 or 80 telephone calls from a California woman who had served as a volunteer in his 1960 campaign. The number of calls was tabulated from Kennedy's office records, the report said.

The articles identified the woman as Judith Campbell and said some of her calls were made from the Oak Park, Ill., home of Chicago crime boss Sam "Momo" Giancana. The articles called her a friend of California gambling figure John Rosselli, a Giancana associate.

And they said her association with Kennedy in the early 1960s coincided with the period when Giancana and Rosselli were assisting the CIA with plots to assassinate Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

The Kennedy-Campbell situation was detailed in the Senate panel's Nov. 20 report on official U.S. government involvement in plots to assassinate foreign leaders. However, the report referred to the woman only as "Kennedy's friend" and did not identify her by name or sex.

The episode was included in a section of the report entitled, "Did President Kennedy learn anything about assassination plots as a result of the FBI investigation of Giancana and Rosselli?"

The report concluded it was impossible to say for sure whether Kennedy knew of the plots against Castro but that he could have.

The news accounts were published last month by the Washington Post and the Scripps-Howard newspapers before the committee's report was released. The articles were attributed to the committee's staff logs and to sources on the staff.

The committee's published report states that the dual relationship between "Kennedy's friend" and the president and between the friend and organized crime figures came to the attention of the FBI and Director J. Edgar Hoover through the FBI investigation of Rosselli.

One published account says the FBI may have stumbled on the situation because of a tap on Giancana's home telephone.

Michigan Bell Defends Monitoring

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has defended its monitoring of customer service calls and said it opposes the use of beeps to signal that monitoring is occurring.

William C. Ferguson, a Michigan Bell vice president, told the Public Service Commission staff that only two or three of every 10,000 calls made by customers to Michigan Bell offices are monitored. Those calls are chosen randomly and are not tape recorded, he said.

The only purpose of listening in is to check if Bell employes are quickly, accurately and courteously helping customers who call with questions or complaints, he said.

In several days of hearings before the PSC, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Communications Workers of America are expected to call for the use of beeps or other signals when any call is monitored.

The PSC staff is reviewing monitoring practices by Michigan Bell and other organizations whose employes handle many customer calls.

Expected to testify at the hearings are Detroit Edison Co., the Detroit Police Department, United Airlines, Michigan Bank Americard, Henry Ford Hospital of Detroit and others, said PSC telephone division chief Robert Otstot.

The use of signals during monitoring would not work, Ferguson said, because it would destroy the purpose of the random monitoring by signaling employes that they are being checked.

Ferguson said employes who take customer service calls know they will be occasionally monitored. Those who listen to the calls take notes on the employe's manner and technique, he said.

Nothing about the customer's conversation with a Bell employe should be considered private between the two, he said.

Board Resume Investigation

CLEVELAND (AP) — A four-member board of U.S. Coast Guard officers was to resume its inquiry here today into the Nov. 10 sinking of the ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald. The board, headed by Rear Adm. Winford W. Barrow, has had two weeks to digest volumes of testimony taken in the initial stage of its inquiry. The board had little to say about the results of the first eight days of testimony. Barrow did say the testimony indicated that the 729-foot Fitzgerald "broke up rather suddenly, catastrophically" in the winter storm it ran into on Lake Superior. All 29 crewmen aboard the vessel were lost.

Israel Joins Big Leagues As Major Arms Exporter

By STEPHEN GOLDSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel has become a major exporter of arms, ranking itself with Switzerland, Italy and Sweden in the sale of weapons to foreign governments, a senior defense official says.

The arms industry is one of Israel's largest employers, with tens of thousands of workers manufacturing everything from small ammunition to jet fighters.

The locally made Uzi submachine gun, for example, is sold to more than 60 countries. One of the customers is the United States Secret Service which guards President Ford.

According to the Defense Department official, who asked not to be identified, Israel "exports arms to every continent" and helps equip 19 foreign armies.

Officials, however, say that U.S. military aid, such as the $1.8 billion which Israel expects this year, could never be replaced by local production.

With sophisticated weapons systems being supplied to the Arab states by the big powers, Israel can't hope to become self-sufficient in its defense needs, the officials say.

"In talking about the arms industry there is a built-in contradiction," says one official. "On the one hand we must be discreet and on the other we have to promote exports."

Statistics in the industry are a military secret, so there are no official production or export figures. But some sources say Israel will wind up selling about $200 million worth of arms to foreign countries this year and future orders on the books amount to more than $500 million.

"We only sell arms to governments," one official says. "Every transaction must be approved politically and from a security point of view."

Most weapons manufactured in Israel have some American components, says an official and "we only sell these items to countries that have been approved of by the United States."

Some major items for sale are:

—A 175-foot, 400-ton, long-range missile boat armed with seven missiles and two 76mm deck guns.

—The Gabriel missile, described by its manufacturers as "the Free World's only combat proven sea-to-sea missile and weapons system." The missile, armed with a 300-pound warhead, has a range of 20 miles.

A spokesman for Israel Aircraft Industries said the Gabriel had earned Israel $1.5 billion in overseas sales and the company was developing a new model with twice the range.

—The Shafrir air-to-air missile system with an infrared heatseeking 24-pound warhead. The missile can be used against aircraft at altitudes of up to 60,000 feet. Production costs of each missile total more than $17,000.

—The combat-tested, 65-foot Dabur coastal gunboat, with a range of 700 nautical miles and cruising speed of 22 knots, based on the U.S. "Hornet."

—The Kfir single seater, multi-mission combat jet fighter. Israelis claim it outflies the French Mirage 5.

The jet will be available for export in 20 months and is entirely built in Israel with no parts from foreign contractors except for its American-made engine, the manufacturers say.

Hundreds of other items such as ammunition, submachine guns, electronic radar systems, and light armored reconnaisance vehicles are also on the list of exports.

The largest Israeli-made gun is a 155mm howitzer, manufactured at Soltam in Haifa which also produces half a million pots and pans a year under license to an American kitchenware company.

Fired from the tip of southern Spain, for example, the cannon could lob a 95-pound shell across the Strait of Gibraltar into Morocco.

At Israel's military industries, Taas, where workers have turned out 400,000 Uzi submachine guns for the overseas market in the past 18 years, officials say they have never refused an export order.

The company's magazine recently said the firm had more than $200 million worth of export orders on hand and production for the foreign market had increased by 60 per cent in the year after the 1973 Mideast war.

The firm also manufactures the Galil assault rifle which is reportedly in the same class as the American M16.

"Foreign buyers know that our products must be of good quality, because our soldiers' lives depend on them," a Taas official said.

TO PAY EXPENSES

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee has agreed to pay $293,064 for expenses and legal fees incurred by the Republican and Democratic candidates for the disputed U.S. Senate seat from New Hampshire.

"WARRENT MEN", were six fictitious men in almost all British foot regiments whose pay was distributed as follows: Pay of two men went to widows of regimental officers; pay of the others went to reimburse the colonel for deserters' clothing, for recruitment and for the personal use of the colonel and regimental agent, The World Almanac notes.

Soviet Exile Says Firing 'Blindness'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Pleading for a tough policy against the Soviet Union, exiled Soviet poet Josef Brodsky says the replacement of James Schlesinger as defense secretary is "not just a mistake, but an instance of blindness."

Brodsky, now poet-in-residence at the University of Michigan, said Schlesinger embodied a needed hardline stand against the Soviets.

Exiled in 1972 for his nonconformity, the widely acclaimed poet now labels the Soviets "murderers" and warns that Americans underestimate Russian attitudes toward military strength.

"It's somehow assumed that military spending is a burden for the Soviets as well as the United States," he said in a recent interview. "It is not. It is a different kind of economy in Russia — the state owns everything.

"Russia in its present condition is quite young as an empire, and has all the characteristics of a young empire, including the main one — expansionism."

Brodsky says the Soviets can't expand through military domination because of the balance of world power and are too weak to try economic domination, so they are trying "military blackmail."

"It's the only way to overcome the West, and eventually they might," he said. "They can spend as much as they want without any reproach from the population. It's incredibly simple.

"I spent 32 years in that country, and I remember 1947 and 1972. During that time, the standard of living did not change that much, perhaps 20 per cent. But the military underwent a 1,000 per cent improvement."

Brodsky says he can't understand how the United States can "put itself in a position of partnership and deal with a regime which treats its own subjects as enemies or slaves."

Board Resume Investigation

CLEVELAND (AP) — A four-member board of U.S. Coast Guard officers was to resume its inquiry here today into the Nov. 10 sinking of the ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald. The board, headed by Rear Adm. Winford W. Barrow, has had two weeks to digest volumes of testimony taken in the initial stage of its inquiry. The board had little to say about the results of the first eight days of testimony. Barrow did say the testimony indicated that the 729-foot Fitzgerald "broke up rather suddenly, catastrophically" in the winter storm it ran into on Lake Superior. All 29 crewmen aboard the vessel were lost.

CQ Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending December 4, 1975, were:

HOUSE

New York City Aid. By a narrow 213-203 vote, the House approved a bill that would provide up to $2.3-billion a year in federal loans to New York City through mid-1978. President Ford proposed the legislation to help the city meet its seasonal cash needs.

Supporters of the bill, arguing that city and state officials had done all they could to reduce New York's financial problems, pointed out that the city still would need limited federal aid to provide essential services to its eight million residents. They maintained that the bill posed no financial risk for the federal government because loans would be repaid by June 30 during each year of assistance.

Despite the President's argument that the state had largely bailed itself out of its financial mess, opponents continued to argue that the federal government had no business using taxpayers' money to help a city responsible for its own fiscal mismanagement. They predicted that the city would be back asking for more money in no time and objected to the precedent the bill would set for aid to other financially troubled cities.

The House approval sent the bill to the Senate.

Voting for aid to New York City: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Conyers (D), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against aid to New York City: Hutchinson (R).

Spending Ceiling. By a 202-220 vote that tested support for President Ford's demand for a $395-billion federal spending limit; the House defeated Republican attempts to have a spending ceiling attached to a tax reduction bill.

The move would have sent the tax bill back to the Ways and Means Committee to be rewritten with a spending ceiling included. Democrats repeatedly had turned down Republican efforts to attach an outlay limit to the bill on the House floor.

The bill extending the 1975 tax reductions into 1976 was subsequently passed 257-168.

Supporters of the motion to send the bill back to committee argued that President Ford would follow through on his vow to veto any tax cut bill that was not linked to a fiscal 1977 spending ceiling. It would be irresponsible, they contended, for Congress to cut taxes without making offsetting reductions in federal spending to keep the fiscal 1977 deficit from rising. If the President vetoed the bill, they added, taxes would go up next year.

Opponents replied that it was impossible to enact a spending ceiling until Congress studies Ford's specific budget cuts which would hold outlays to $395-billion. To vote a ceiling before Congress examines the President's budget in January, opponents added, would undermine congressional budget-making procedures. And, some predicted, the President would back down, rather than let rising taxes damage economic recovery.

Voting to return tax bill to committee to attach spending ceiling: Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against returning tax bill to committee to attach spending ceiling: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Busing. By a 280-146 vote, the House adopted an amendment to a Labor-Health, Education, and Welfare appropriations bill that would prohibit HEW from requiring school busing to achieve racial integration. Although the amendment would have no effect on court-ordered busing, it is the strongest stand the House has taken in opposition to busing this year. The same amendment had been added to the appropriations bill in the Senate.

Supporters of the anti-busing amendment claimed that busing did not achieve its purposes and causes other problems such as white flight to the suburbs and diminished tax bases in inner cities.

Some opponents argued that busing should not be precluded as one tool in efforts to combat segregation. Others contended that such an important amendment should be considered separately and not attached to an appropriations bill.

Voting for anti-busing amendment: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against anti-busing amendment: Conyers (D), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

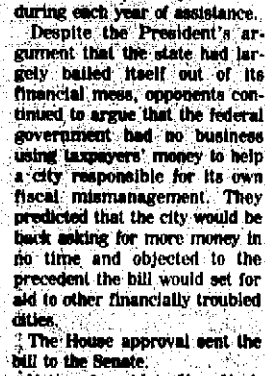

SENATE

Rail Rehabilitation. By a 53-38 vote, the Senate passed a bill to provide $8.6-billion in financial assistance to the nation's railroads and to ease federal regulation of the railroads.

Supporters of the bill said it was necessary to provide assistance to the financially ailing railroads in order to upgrade and maintain a viable rail system and avoid nationalization. They pointed out that several Northeast and Midwest railroads already were bankrupt and many others were teetering on the brink of financial disaster.

Opponents, led by the Ford Administration, claimed that the financial assistance in the bill was excessive and that the nation's railroads could be upgraded for less money. They particularly objected to $3-billion in financial assistance to upgrade passenger service in the Northeast corridor between Washington, D. C., and Boston.

Voting for railroad aid bill: Griffin (R), Hart (D).

BRITISH GEN. "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne's nickname was coined by his soldiers in tribute to his humanity in a day when soldiers were trained like dogs. Burgoyne's treatise on the duties of officers urged that soldiers be treated like thinking human beings and not be subjected to frequent and brutal corporal punishment, The World Almanac notes.

Some opponents argued that busing should not be precluded as one tool in efforts to combat segregation. Others contended that such an important amendment should be considered separately and not attached to an appropriations bill.

Voting for anti-busing amendment: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against anti-busing amendment: Conyers (D), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

SENATE

Rail Rehabilitation. By a 53-38 vote, the Senate passed a bill to provide $8.6-billion in financial assistance to the nation's railroads and to ease federal regulation of the railroads.

Supporters of the bill said it was necessary to provide assistance to the financially ailing railroads in order to upgrade and maintain a viable rail system and avoid nationalization. They pointed out that several Northeast and Midwest railroads already were bankrupt and many others were teetering on the brink of financial disaster.

Opponents, led by the Ford Administration, claimed that the financial assistance in the bill was excessive and that the nation's railroads could be upgraded for less money. They particularly objected to $3-billion in financial assistance to upgrade passenger service in the Northeast corridor between Washington, D. C., and Boston.

Voting for railroad aid bill: Griffin (R), Hart (D).

BRITISH GEN. "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne's nickname was coined by his soldiers in tribute to his humanity in a day when soldiers were trained like dogs. Burgoyne's treatise on the duties of officers urged that soldiers be treated like thinking human beings and not be subjected to frequent and brutal corporal punishment, The World Almanac notes.

St. Joe, Niles MSU Students On Research Team

EAST LANSING — Michigan State university students Christopher Gentry of St. Joseph and Scott Spencer of Niles will participate in a "real life" engineering project in Oakland county.

The two students will be members of a university research team to prepare an environmental impact statement on the advisability of a controversial $6.2 million drain in Oakland county.

The City of Southfield has hired Prof. Clifford Humphreys of MSU and his students to prepare a report on the advisability of the drain.

Gentry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentry, 1400 Forres avenue, St. Joseph, a senior majoring in park and recreation resources. He is a 1972 graduate of Lake Michigan Catholic high school.

Spencer, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight E. Spencer, Niles, and a 1973 graduate of Niles high school. He is majoring in resource development.

Humphreys explained a group of residents "don't see much need for a $6.2 million drain." City engineers want the drain as part of the master plan.

To demonstrate benefits of drain versus no-drain, and an alternative proposed by Humphreys to build flood retention ponds, students must collect extensive data.

Students must measure hard surface areas, analyze vegetation and wildlife, check amount and types of fish in streams and strength of stream currents.

Hartford Seniors Will Hold Spaghetti Dinner

HARTFORD — The Hartford high school senior class will hold a spaghetti dinner for the public on Friday, Dec. 12, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Admission for adults will be $2 and for children 12 and under, $1.25. School officials said the dinner is aimed at raising funds for the senior class trip to Sandusky, Ohio, next spring.

Simple To Assure Blazing Fireplace

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Use of a little timber lore can insure long hours of dreamy gazing into brightly burning fireplaces this holiday season, rather than frustrated struggles with feeble sputtering and smoking flames that are an embarrassment to a chimney.

First, firewood should have been split and allowed to season by drying. Green wood stacked criss-cross in the sun will lose about 20 per cent of its moisture, ideal for burning, says a Michigan State University forestry specialist.

The drying will reduce smoke, and improve starting, burning and heat output, said Randall Heiligmann, an MSU assistant professor of forestry.

When starting a fire, very dry, finely split kindling should be used in a small blaze to heat the fireplace chimney and create a draft of air to carry away smoke, Heiligmann said.

Then easy-burning woods like pine, fir, aspen, basswood or willow should be added to build a good hot base quickly, he said.

Since those soft woods throw off little heat, harder woods which burn hotter and more slowly can then be added, Heiligmann said.

Moderately hard woods include cherry, elm, soft maple, sycamore and boxelder.

The highly-prized heavy hardwoods are oak, hickory, hard maple, walnut, beech, locust and yellow and white birch.

Burning fruitwoods, nut trees or sassafras will fill a home with pleasant aromas, Heiligmann said. Pine does the same, but its pitch pockets tend to pop and throw sparks onto living room carpets.

"Homeowners can learn to recognize these types by purchasing an inexpensive paperback tree identification book," Heiligmann said. "It might be worth it to be sure they pay a fair price for the quality of wood bought."

Prices for wood vary by amount, type, dryness, split or whole logs, delivery and stacking after delivery.

Firewood may be measured by a cord: a pile eight feet long, four wide and four high; or by a face cord: eight feet long, four feet high and whatever width the seller cuts the logs.

To split your own firewood, use special heavy and blunt axes, or better yet, sledge hammer and iron wedges, Heiligmann said.

Once all the preliminaries are taken care of and firelight is dancing cheerfully on the walls, be sure to watch the blaze carefully or pull a screen across the fireplace front to keep sparks from jumping out onto the floor, warned Heiligmann.

THE CALTROP, known by the less sophisticated name of "Crowsfeet" during the Revolution, was a device with four metal points so arranged that when any three were on the ground the fourth projected upward as a hazard to horses' hooves. When the British evacuated Boston by sea in 1776 they sprinkled the last mile of the road into the city with caltrops to harass the American advance, The World Almanac recalls.

Legislative Probe Puts Heavy Demands On PSC

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Daniel Demlow is counting the hours.

The new chairman of the state Public Service Commission — empowered to regulate the state's utility companies and set their rates — says so far his staff has spent some 1,500 hours meeting the demands of a legislative committee probing the PSC.

Those hours were spent digging out documents, compiling data and testifying in public and private sessions before the committee in what may be the most expensive legislative probe in state history.

A PSC source says the number is actually closer to 3,000 hours, but committee chairman Rep. Howard Wolpe says whatever it is, it's well worth it.

But, says Demlow, "You have to compare what they have achieved against what we have expended to achieve it."

He says only time will tell if the benefits are worth the cost.

In addition to five attorneys from the attorney general's office and eight lawmakers, Wolpe has help from two state auditors, an administrative secretary, a certified public accountant and an Upper Peninsula attorney. The secretary, CPA and attorney alone will be paid more than $90,000 for their services, Wolpe says.

How many hours the PSC staff is taking from its normal business to cooperate with the Wolpe probe is a small point. But it's symbolic of the strained relations between the PSC and the committee since it began investigating rate-setting and utility regulation in June.

The committee's recommendations, expected in early spring, could affect the way utility rates are set. They could turn current practices upside down and, many predict, give the people who pay the bills a louder voice in utility regulation.

But PSC officials, including Demlow, charge the committee's demands have in the past seven months diverted the agency from its regulatory function, making the cost of the probe greater than its possible benefits.

They also contend privately the probe may be orchestrated by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office, which is providing five attorneys to advise the committee.

Two of those, Hugh Anderson and Rick Coy, are acknowledged utility experts and have intervened against the utilities in all major rate cases. Demlow accuses Kelley himself of making speeches and issuing news releases that are anti-utility and anti-PSC.

Wolpe denies the committee is only doing its job, asks where else the committee should get its legal advice and says, "When I see people become defensive it's usually for a reason."

Wolpe and Anderson both say Anderson's role is only as an information man: advising where to get certain data, what utility people to talk to and, like a gold miner, whether a certain vein is worth pursuing. Anderson said he meets with Wolpe "once or twice a month."

Kelley is now on all three sides of a peculiar fence and, according to one attorney advising the Wolpe committee, is eager to see the end of the probe.

Kelley's attorneys are advising a committee examining the PSC, his attorneys are advising PSC officials being examined and his attorneys have and will appear before the PSC opposing utility rate requests.

Kelley at first refused to let his attorneys advise PSC officials called before the committee. He changed his mind, he says, "as a matter of courtesy."

"To keep harmony, I okayed it as a matter of courtesy, so nobody at the PSC could say he had no one to hold his hand," Kelley said.

After seven months, dozens of interviews and several subpoenas, the committee's major findings are:

—No regular auditing is done of fuel price figures the utilities submit, raising the possibility the PSC is unwittingly allowing utilities to overcharge customers for fuel or agreeing to uneconomical fuel contracts.

Higher fuel costs can be passed automatically to customers through legislature-approved fuel adjustment clauses, which could be eliminated as a result of the PSC probe.

—It takes too much time and money for average bill-payers to present a sound case before the PSC against utilities seeking huge rate increases. Seasoned intervenors told the committee expert witnesses to match the utility's can cost $80,000 to $100,000 per case. The typical nonlawyer hasn't a chance, they said.

—The PSC's research and planning staff, which writes reports on energy use and demand, use utility data without independently verifying the figures.

"The PSC is being used as a public relations vehicle for the utilities, unwittingly or not," Wolpe says.

Demlow acknowledges the PSC staff does not verify or check all utility data it receives. But he also says the benefit of verifying all utility material would probably fall short of the cost.

"There's a presumption of proper management by the utilities that runs through regulation," he said.

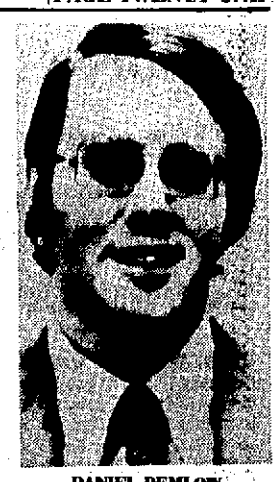

"To suggest that we check every figure is proposing that the state, in fact, run the utilities," he said. "Where does regulation end?"

He agrees the rate-setting process — hearings, legal briefs, testimony, cross-examination and rebuttals usually spanning nine months — is "extremely formal and legalistic."

Some consumer channel is necessary, he says, either an independent agency funded by rate-payers themselves, or part of the PSC staff whose job would be to take a consumer advocacy role.

Demlow absolves the commission from any link with the research staff's reports.

"They're staff studies, in areas they're concerned about, and are not endorsed by this commission," he said.

Report Witness Identified Teamster

DETROIT (AP) — A secret government witness has identified one of three New Jersey Teamsters who appeared in a police lineup over the weekend in connection with the disappearance of James R. Hoffa, a source close to the investigation has told the New York Times.

The trio — Salvatore Briguglio, his brother Gabriel Briguglio and Thomas Andretta — have been named by a mysterious informant as the alleged abductors and killers of the former Teamster's president.

The lineup was held Saturday to see if a person the government says actually witnessed the abduction could corroborate the informant's story.

Other law enforcement sources refused to confirm the Times story immediately, however. But a non-law enforcement source familiar with the Teamsters Union told the Associated Press that "the word for the past 24 hours has been that the witness identified one of the three." The source did not identify which of the three.

The Times also said a second witness did not identify any of the three. It was not immediately clear who the other witness was or whether the other witness was actually the informant.

Meanwhile, William Bufalino, the attorney for the three New Jersey Teamsters, has been hospitalized after suffering a heart attack, hospital officials said.

A spokeswoman for St. Johns Hospital in Detroit said Bufalino was admitted to the hospital between 3:30 and 4:30 Tuesday afternoon and placed in the cardiac care unit.

Last Saturday after the New Jersey Teamsters had entered the jail complex for the lineup, Bufalino claimed that he and his son were punched and beaten by FBI agents in a scuffle that arose from a dispute over video-tape equipment Bufalino wanted to take into the lineup room.

Bufalino appeared at the Federal Building in Detroit on Monday for some legal formalities involving his clients where he again objected to government tactics.

Bufalino had complained about severe chest pains over the last few days, according to the hospital spokeswoman.

The hospital spokeswoman said Bufalino's personal physican diagnosed the problem as a myocardial infarction, or heart attack, and insisted he be admitted to the hospital.

Bufalino had a previous history of heart trouble, the spokeswoman said. No condition was listed for Bufalino.

By John Roche

I don't know how long Pat Moynihan will last as Ambassador to the United Nations, but it's sure great fun. I don't think the President would have the guts (or, hopefully, the wish) to fire him, but Pat might just go up in smoke. The British delegate to the U.N., Ivor Richards, gave him a rather snooty lecture on diplomatic niceties, but that can be written off: The British never have appreciated Irishmen who did not know their place. However, the State Department must be in a state of shock. At the same time President Ford and Secretary Kissinger are getting instructed on Soviet perfidy by their Chinese hosts, Ambassador Moynihan has publicly announced that detente with the U.S.S.R. is a body-contact sport.

The question is the open support by Moscow, with Cuban mercenaries, of the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA). The stakes in Angola are enormous. Not only does the country have vast natural resources, but strategically it would provide the Soviet navy — which is growing at a tremendous clip — with a South Atlantic toehold. I suspect that somebody in the Soviet admiralty read a copy of Admiral Alfred T. Mahan's "Influence of Seapower on History" — shortly after the British lost their control of the Red Sea, the Russians moved into a comparable location in Somalia. Angola similarly would provide them with the equivalent of the former British bases at the Cape of Good Hope and Walvis Bay.

When Secretary of State Kissinger realized what his detente-mates were up to, he delivered what I would call a Grade 4 admonition: "Time is running out; continuation of a (Soviet) interventionist policy must inevitably threaten other relationships." Since at the moment the Soviets have stalled the Conference on Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions in Europe and are stonewalling on SALT, the question arises: What "other relationships" had Kissinger in mind? Will he refuse to have lunch with Ambassador Dobrynin?

Well, Moynihan belled the cat. At a Washington conference he flatly accused Moscow of planning to "colonize Africa." It was a neat rhetorical job too: at crucial points in his remarks he cited Chairman Henry! Probably the most interesting aspect of Moynihan's speech was that for the first time a high American official has echoed the continuing Soviet view that detente is a form of political warfare.

Indeed, the persistent American refusal to accept this reality is utterly incomprehensible. "The policy of peaceful coexistence firmly and consistently pursued by the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and other fraternal parties is a component part of the world strategy aimed at the consolidation of the forces of world socialism."

Only a week ago "Izvestia" — the government newspaper — denounced the notion that "The process of detente in the world and support of the national liberation struggle (in Angola) are incompatible things." Detente, it concluded, does not mean "the cessation of anti-imperialist struggles of the people for a better and just fate and against foreign interference and oppression."

What Moscow is saying — and in fairness has always said — is that detente means what's ours is ours and what's yours is up for grabs. Any renewed war against Israel, for example, can be justified and supported as a "national liberation struggle" designed to achieve "a better and just fate" for the Palestinian people.

At any rate, Up the Moynihan! My only fear is that he may be nipped to death by bureaucratic ducks and tell the Secretary of State to take detente and . . . .

I don't know how long Pat Moynihan will last as Ambassador to the United Nations, but it's sure great fun. I don't think the President would have the guts (or, hopefully, the wish) to fire him, but Pat might just go up in smoke. The British delegate to the U.N., Ivor Richards, gave him a rather snooty lecture on diplomatic niceties, but that can be written off: The British never have appreciated Irishmen who did not know their place. However, the State Department must be in a state of shock. At the same time President Ford and Secretary Kissinger are getting instructed on Soviet perfidy by their Chinese hosts, Ambassador Moynihan has publicly announced that detente with the U.S.S.R. is a body-contact sport.

The question is the open support by Moscow, with Cuban mercenaries, of the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA). The stakes in Angola are enormous. Not only does the country have vast natural resources, but strategically it would provide the Soviet navy — which is growing at a tremendous clip — with a South Atlantic toehold. I suspect that somebody in the Soviet admiralty read a copy of Admiral Alfred T. Mahan's "Influence of Seapower on History" — shortly after the British lost their control of the Red Sea, the Russians moved into a comparable location in Somalia. Angola similarly would provide them with the equivalent of the former British bases at the Cape of Good Hope and Walvis Bay.

When Secretary of State Kissinger realized what his detente-mates were up to, he delivered what I would call a Grade 4 admonition: "Time is running out; continuation of a (Soviet) interventionist policy must inevitably threaten other relationships." Since at the moment the Soviets have stalled the Conference on Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions in Europe and are stonewalling on SALT, the question arises: What "other relationships" had Kissinger in mind? Thompson Hits Winning Shot As Sub

Tigers Topple Heights, 63-62

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Benton Harbor's Ray Thompson started Tuesday night in coach Earl McKee's doghouse, but finished it a hero.

Thompson scored a basket with just 32 seconds to play to give the Tigers a thrilling 63-62 win over Muskegon Heights before a near-capacity crowd of about 2,800 fans at the Tiger gym.

The loss was the first for Heights after three wins. Harbor is even at 1-1.

Thompson had been benched for his individualistic play in last Friday's game with Battle Creek Central. But the pesky little 5-9 guard came off the pine in the second half to toss in 13 points.

"I've got a friend who plays basketball at Northwestern University by the name of Billy McKinney," Thompson said. "He told me that you're going to be down sometimes and up sometimes. No matter what happens when the coach puts you out there, you have to be ready to play."

And Thompson was indeed ready.

Heights guard Jeff Brown scored 19 of his game-high 28 points in the first half, helping the visitors to a 31-28 halftime lead.

The Tigers still trailed 43-39 when Thompson entered the game with 3:10 to play in the third quarter. Forward Russell Steele, who led Benton Harbor with 26 points, quickly scored a basket to trim the deficit to two.

Thompson then went to work, tallying seven straight points to give the Tigers a five-point edge. Heights came from behind to grab a four-point lead at 58-54 with 2:49 left.

But a great pass off a double-team by Steele set up Bennie Bowers for an easy layup with 55 seconds left to put the Tigers back on top at 61-60.

Ron Matthews' two free throws with 44 seconds to play gave Heights the lead and set the stage for Thompson's heroics.

"The play was actually designed to go to Steele," McKee said. "But he got trapped so the ball came back out again."

The ball then went to Thompson in the corner, where his 15-footer caught nothing but net.

Any chance Heights had of winning the game were dashed moments later when guard Greg Murray was whistled for traveling with 18 seconds left.

Thompson dribbled away most of the remaining time and the clock ran out before Heights could get the ball.

Both coaches agreed that Thompson was the difference.

"Thompson made some crucial baskets at some crucial times," Heights coach Ossie McCarty said. "He made the difference."

Of Thompson, McKee said, "He finally started to get the ball out. We've been trying to get him to play with us. This is what will happen if he'll just take the time to organize and play with us."

The outcome may have been wrapped up long before the fourth quarter had it not been for 34 Tiger turnovers.

"We refused to get ahead," McKee said. "They gave us a chance to break the game open in the first quarter and we didn't do it."

Benton Harbor hit its first three shots from the floor for a 6-0 lead and later moved to a 14-7 edge midway through the initial period. But the Tigers went four minutes in the second quarter without a field goal to fall behind by as many as eight.

Muskegon Heights hit 28 of 70 from the floor for 40 per cent. Benton Harbor connected on 27 of 65 for 42 per cent.

The Tigers held a 43-37 rebounding edge with Bowers pulling down 15. James Glascock, who also scored 10 points, had 13 rebounds to lead Heights.

Muskegon gained a split for the evening by edging Benton Harbor 48-46 in the junior varsity game. Kevin Turner led the visitors with 13 points and scored a basket with just three seconds left to win the game.

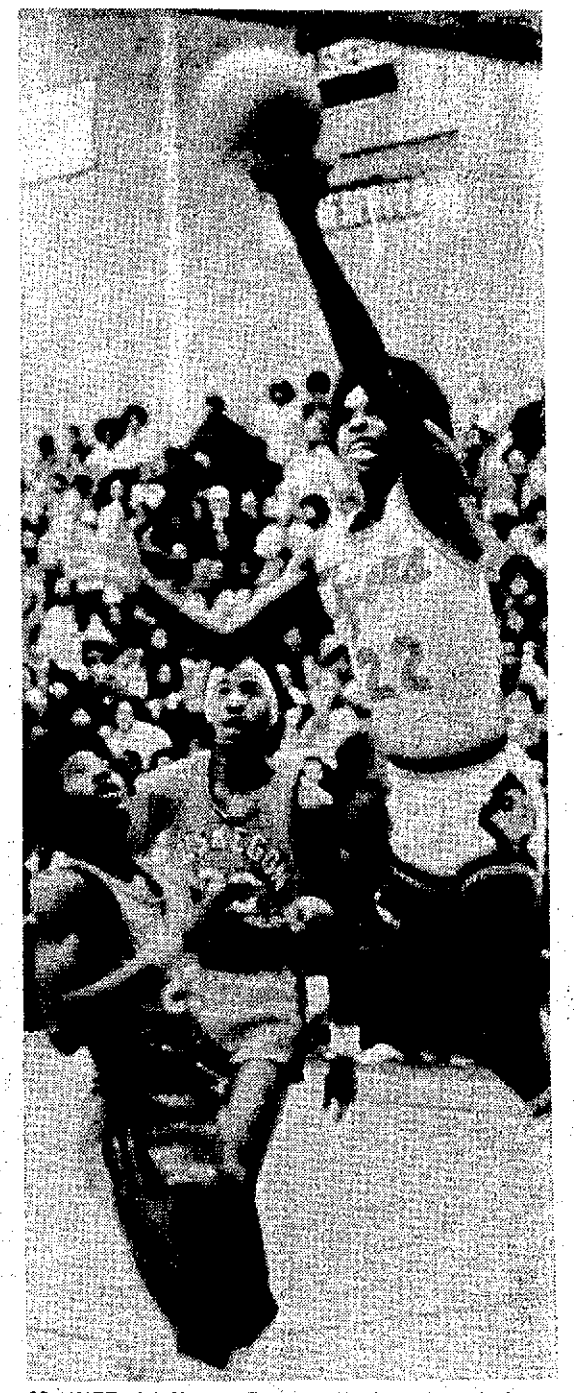

Ronald Page led all scorers with 14 points and Roger Hardin added 10 for the Tigers.

St. Joseph Does It Wright Way

Undefeated Bears Repulse Kalamazoo Central Rally

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE
Sports Editor

Unbeaten St. Joseph did things the Wright way and extended its winning streak to four straight — the school's best start in four seasons — Tuesday night in the Bear gym.

St. Joe's Dale Wright, a 6-5 junior forward, led all scorers with 17 points and pulled down 15 of the Bears' 33 rebounds in a 63-56 non-conference triumph over Kalamazoo Central.

"It's not hard to single out an individual in this ball game who contributed the most," commented St. Joseph coach George Gaunder, who couldn't find too much else to be happy about.

St. Joe led by 35-25 at halftime but almost lost the game in the second half. Central, now 0-2, pulled within two at 58-56 with 45 seconds left, but a foul against the Maroon Giants which also produced a technical call iced the victory.

St. Joseph's Mike Collier made both free throws on the foul — he went 11 for 13 on the night — and Cory Benford added the technical toss to put the game away with 20 seconds remaining.

"We were outhustled in the second half," added Gaunder on the close call. "Loose balls that we would ordinarily get the other team was blowing by us and getting. And we were quite inconsistent throughout."

Guards Collier and Benford finished with 13 points apiece while Dave Ziebart had 10. Substitute Greg Parker led Kalamazoo Central with 14 while Benson Isaac added 13 and Charles Brandon 10.

The Maroon Giants got into early foul trouble with starters Eddie Boyd and Isaac having four and three fouls, respectively, in the first half. And in the end the resulting free throws provided St. Joe with its margin of victory.

"Thank God for the free throws," continued Gaunder on the charity effort which saw St. Joe make 27 of 37 (73 per cent) off 25 Central fouls. The Giants, who lost three players on fouls in the second half, connected on 12 of 21 charities (57 per cent) on 16 Bear fouls.

Kalamazoo had a 22 to 18 edge in field goals while getting off 14 more shots than St. Joe. The Giants launched 65 attempts for a 34 per cent average and the Bears got off 51 with a 35 per cent average.

Kalamazoo dominated the rebounding department (47 to 33) but St. Joseph had the edge in floor play with 18 turnovers compared to the Giants' 25.

Kalamazoo Central coach Don Jackson called St. Joe a "fine ball club" but noted that the fouls against his squad were "very costly."

Jackson credited a defensive change to a "match up man-to-man which kept them outside pretty much" for getting the Giants back in the game during the second half.

Gaunder was also happy with his defense, which still hasn't allowed an opponent to shoot better than 35 per cent. "I thought we did a good job of helping out defensively."

Benford led the Bears in steals with six while Collier was tops in assists with four.

The game also provided a bit of revenge for St. Joe fans. It was St. Joe's first game against Kalamazoo Central since the Bears lost to the Giants 70-37 in the 1972 Class A regional tournament.

Central, which played Tuesday with three starters from its Seven A conference championship team, will join the Big Seven conference next season.

St. Joe now faces its biggest test of the season in a conference clash Friday on the road against once-beaten Kalamazoo Loy Norrix, the defending league champ.

In Tuesday night's junior varsity preliminary, St. Joe dropped its first game in four starts 75-72. Kim Jackson led Kalamazoo with 20 points while the little Bears had Keene Taylor with 15, Steve Ziebart with 14, Jeff Beal and Paul Knuth with 11 apiece and Keith Karsten at 10.

Roberto Out Two More

DETROIT (AP) — Phil Roberto of the Detroit Red Wings will remain on suspension for another two games under a decision by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell, the club said Tuesday.

Roberto, a right winger, has been sidelined since he received a match penalty for a run-in with Vancouver Canuck Don Lever on Dec. 3. The penalty came at 18:06 of the third period. The Wings lost the game, 9-1.

Under the automatic suspension which accompanies a match penalty, Roberto already has missed two games and will be out for Wednesday's home game against Pittsburgh and Friday's contest at Washington before the suspension expires.

Red Wings General Manager Alex Delvecchio said he was considering an appeal of the suspension.

Thompson Hits Winning Shot As Sub

Tigers Topple Heights, 63-62

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Benton Harbor's Ray Thompson started Tuesday night in coach Earl McKee's doghouse, but finished it a hero.

Thompson scored a basket with just 32 seconds to play to give the Tigers a thrilling 63-62 win over Muskegon Heights before a near-capacity crowd of about 2,800 fans at the Tiger gym.

The loss was the first for Heights after three wins. Harbor is even at 1-1.

Thompson had been benched for his individualistic play in last Friday's game with Battle Creek Central. But the pesky little 5-9 guard came off the pine in the second half to toss in 13 points.

"I've got a friend who plays basketball at Northwestern University by the name of Billy McKinney," Thompson said. "He told me that you're going to be down sometimes and up sometimes. No matter what happens when the coach puts you out there, you have to be ready to play."

And Thompson was indeed ready.

Heights guard Jeff Brown scored 19 of his game-high 28 points in the first half, helping the visitors to a 31-28 halftime lead.

The Tigers still trailed 43-39 when Thompson entered the game with 3:10 to play in the third quarter. Forward Russell Steele, who led Benton Harbor with 26 points, quickly scored a basket to trim the deficit to two.

Thompson then went to work, tallying seven straight points to give the Tigers a five-point edge. Heights came from behind to grab a four-point lead at 58-54 with 2:49 left.

But a great pass off a double-team by Steele set up Bennie Bowers for an easy layup with 55 seconds left to put the Tigers back on top at 61-60.

Ron Matthews' two free throws with 44 seconds to play gave Heights the lead and set the stage for Thompson's heroics.

"The play was actually designed to go to Steele," McKee said. "But he got trapped so the ball came back out again."

The ball then went to Thompson in the corner, where his 15-footer caught nothing but net.

Any chance Heights had of winning the game were dashed moments later when guard Greg Murray was whistled for traveling with 18 seconds left.

Thompson dribbled away most of the remaining time and the clock ran out before Heights could get the ball.

Both coaches agreed that Thompson was the difference.

"Thompson made some crucial baskets at some crucial times," Heights coach Ossie McCarty said. "He made the difference."

Of Thompson, McKee said, "He finally started to get the ball out. We've been trying to get him to play with us. This is what will happen if he'll just take the time to organize and play with us."

The outcome may have been wrapped up long before the fourth quarter had it not been for 34 Tiger turnovers.

"We refused to get ahead," McKee said. "They gave us a chance to break the game open in the first quarter and we didn't do it."

Benton Harbor hit its first three shots from the floor for a 6-0 lead and later moved to a 14-7 edge midway through the initial period. But the Tigers went four minutes in the second quarter without a field goal to fall behind by as many as eight.

Muskegon Heights hit 28 of 70 from the floor for 40 per cent. Benton Harbor connected on 27 of 65 for 42 per cent.

The Tigers held a 43-37 rebounding edge with Bowers pulling down 15. James Glascock, who also scored 10 points, had 13 rebounds to lead Heights.

Muskegon gained a split for the evening by edging Benton Harbor 48-46 in the junior varsity game. Kevin Turner led the visitors with 13 points and scored a basket with just three seconds left to win the game.

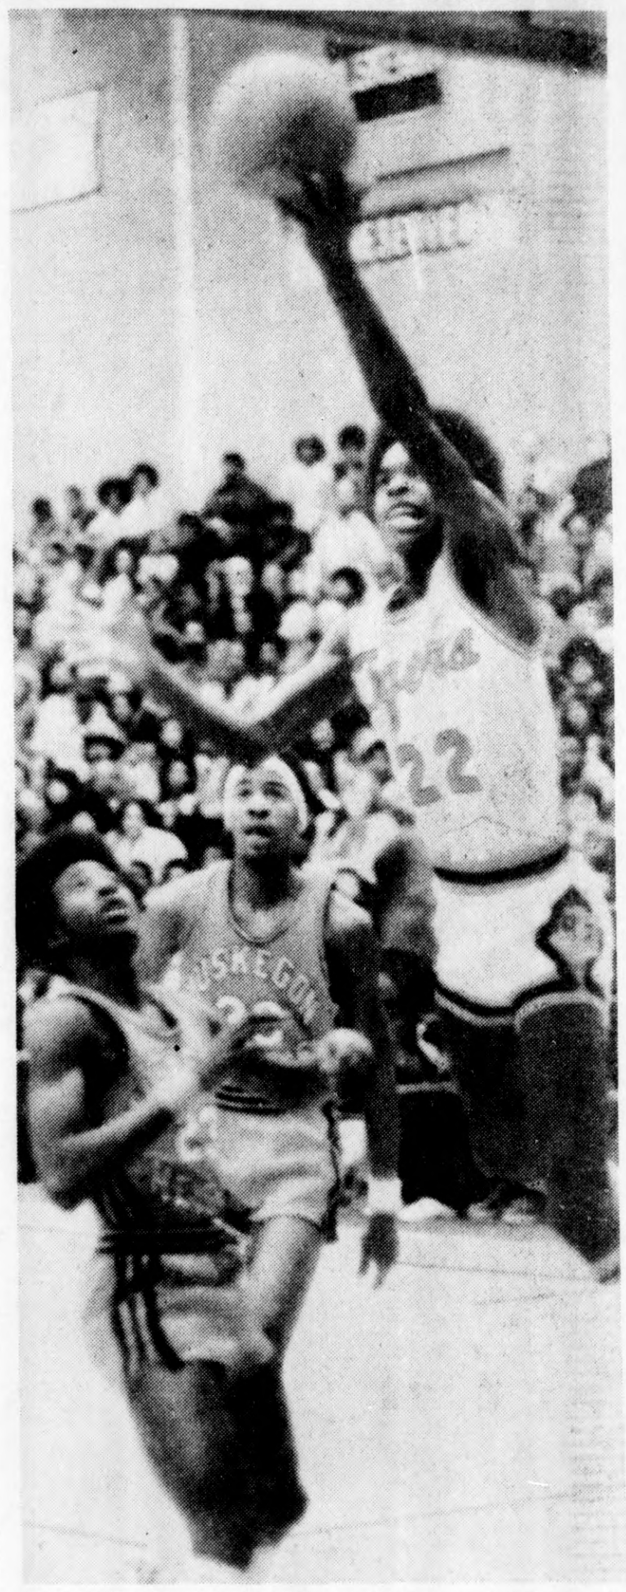

Ronald Page led all scorers with 14 points and Roger Hardin added 10 for the Tigers.

AL Owners Expected To Welcome Back Veeck Today

Philadelphia Makes Pitch For White Sox Hurler Kaat

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Bill Veeck offered $10.3 million for the Chicago White Sox today and American League owners were expected to welcome the onetime P.T. Barnum of baseball back into their exclusive club.

"We've got all the money we need," Veeck said after arriving here shortly after midnight today.

Asked if he was optimistic that the AL owners would formally approve his purchase of the team, Veeck said: "I'd be silly to come all the way down here if I was pessimistic."

The welcome mat wasn't always extended to Veeck, who once shocked the cloistered group known as baseball owners with his exploding scoreboards, midget batters, ballpark nurseries for children and other stunts then foreign to the great American pastime.

While the American League found out that Veeck had met its condition for $1.2 million more in working capital over his previous offer, the National League discussed a $10 million dollar bid for the busted San Francisco Giants.

And while the leagues tried to settle the future of their distressed franchise, the trading beat went on. Three deals were concluded Tuesday, boosting to five swaps and a total of 15 players the count since the annual meetings opened here Saturday.

The Cleveland Indians made two trades Tuesday, purchasing catcher Ray Fosse from the Oakland A's for an undisclosed amount of cash, and sending catcher John Ellis to the Texas Rangers for two youngsters, pitcher Stan Thomas and rookie catcher Ron Pruitt.

Later, the Philadelphia Phillies spiced the dinner hour with a trade of outfielder Mike Anderson to the St. Louis Cardinals for right-handed pitcher Ron Reed.

The trading apparently was just beginning to get into high gear. The Pittsburgh Pirates reportedly still were talking about sending outfielder Al Oliver to Kansas City for outfielder Amos Otis in a swap that apparently involved other players.

The Pirates, tired of winning their division and losing the National League playoff, also were rumored to be working on a package with the New York Yankees that would involve second baseman Willie Randolph and Yankee pitcher Doc Medich.

Then, there was the recurring rumor that the Baltimore Orioles were hot on a deal that would dispatch Orioles' pitcher Ross Grimsley to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Rick Monday. This dovetailed with the scuttlebatt that Orioles' outfielder Paul Blair was on the block.

The Philadelphia Phillies still were hot after starting pitching help despite the acquisition of Reed. Manager Danny Ozark admitted the Phils had made a pitch for Chicago White Sox 20-game winner Jim Kaat, the 37-year-old comeback "Kid" of last season.

It was just last Wednesday that Veeck made his bid to regain the White Sox, a team he owned from 1959 through 1961, giving up the franchise for health reasons. The American League owners told him to get up another $1.2 million in cash and he was back in the baseball business.

Veeck has the additional cash, supplied by W. Clement Stone, the president of Combined Insurance Co. of America in Chicago, an executive reputedly worth $350 million. Stone also is known for his book on positive mental attitude, and several other tomes on how to get rich.

As for the Gaints, a Beverly Hills, Calif., mortgage banking firm made the latest offer to bail out owner Horace Stoneham, recuperating in San Francisco from a recent operation. Eric R. Jones, president of the firm, said the Giants had indicated acceptance of the offer — $2 million more than previously dangled by other interests.

Charles Rupert, Giants' vice president, said the offer was being considered. The Jones interest would keep the team in the San Francisco Bay area. Jones said he felt the Giants could succeed in competition with the American League Oakland A's just across the bay.

The Cleveland Indians made the first trade move Tuesday, when they reacquired Fosse, who was dealt to Oakland in 1972. Fosse expected to share the catching with Alan Ashby. Fosse played in 82 games last season and hit .140.

The Indians then shipped Ellis, the controversial catcher who wasn't concerned with his reputation, and would use him as backup to catcher Jim Sundberg and as a backup first baseman.

Ellis, 27, hit .230 with seven home runs and 32 RBI in 92 games. Thomas, 26, appeared in 46 games for Texas, all but one in relief, posted a 4-4 record with a 3.11 ERA. Pruitt, 24, hit .176 in 14 games after being brought up from Spokane in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cardinals obtained the 24-year-old Anderson as a backup outfielder. Anderson hit .259 with four home runs and 28 RBI in 115 games. He has been with the Phillies three years.

Ozark said Reed, 13-13 last season with Atlanta and then the Cardinals, would be one of five starters in Philadelphia. The Phils' field boss said he liked Reed's durability, 250 innings.

Tiger Trade Hope Dashed

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The Tigers hopes of obtaining Texas first baseman Jim Spencer are looking dimmer and dimmer these days, thanks to a trade involving the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies.

The key to the whole deal involved St. Louis pitcher Ron Reed.

The Rangers, who had originally indicated they were willing to trade the 27-year-old Spencer for Tiger pitcher Joe Coleman and $75,000 cash, told the Tigers Tuesday they would also like Reed, provided Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell could get him away from St. Louis.

That was fine with the Cardinals, who indicated they were more than willing to trade Reed for pitcher Lerrin LaGrow.

But Tuesday evening it all fell to pieces when St. Louis sent the 33-year-old righthander to Philadelphia for outfielder Mike Anderson.

The Tigers did sell first baseman Jack Pierce and Raul Colon to Mexican League teams.

Pierce, who split the 1975 season between Evansville of the American Association and Detroit and batted .235 in 53 games with the Tigers, was shipped from Evansville to Puebla.

Colon, who had been on the Tigers Montgomery Southern League roster, was sold to Poza Rica, where he played last season.

Cities Join New League

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Women's Professional Softball League, billed as the first major league organized sport for women, has stretched to 11 cities, including one in Michigan, organizers announced Tuesday.

Billie Jean King and cofounder and president Dennis Murphy said that other potential teams have until Dec. 31 to join the league.

Other franchises signed are in Buffalo; Pennsylvania; Boston; Connecticut, Portland, Ore.; Phoenix; San Diego; Los Angeles and San Jose and Orange County, Calif.

Murphy said the league season would open April 30 in Buffalo, and the first all-star game is planned for Detroit next July.

Randy Wolf Keys Titan Upset Bid

Center Nets 21 In 79-64 Loss To Covert

Michigan Lutheran played high-scoring Covert tough before dropping a 79-64 decision Tuesday night at the Lutheran gym.

Keyed by the play of newcomer Randy Wolf and some tight defense, the Titans were still in the game midway through the last quarter but then the Bulldogs, undefeated in five games and the area's top scoring squad, started to pull away as the Titans got into foul trouble.

Wolf, a 6-1 center playing his first varsity game, responded with a game-high 21 points and 12 rebounds. The sophomore was just elevated from the junior varsity.

"For his first game, he really turned in a brilliant effort," commented Titan coach John Eggert of Wolf's performance.

"I thought we had an overall excellent defensive effort...they only got a few lay-ups all night. Also we outrebounded them 28-26. I think the difference was their bench scored 26 points."

Reserve George Starks led the Bulldogs with 17 points while Jeff Maggett added 15, James DeBoe 14 and Rodney Barnes 10.

Bob Guse backed up Wolf with 20 points for Lutheran, now 1-3 overall. John Brink had 10 rebounds.

Covert sank 32 of 73 shots for 44 per cent while Lutheran was 26 of 57 for 46 per cent. The Bulldogs flipped in 15 of 25 free throws, the Titans 12 of 18.

The 79 points were Covert's lowest output of the season while Lutheran's 64 was its tops.

Covert creamed Lutheran 67-40 in the preliminary jayvee game. Dennis Buchan rifled 10 points for the losers and Eric Fruger 18 for Covert.

AL Owners Expected To Welcome Back Veeck Today

STEELEING TWO: Benton Harbor forward Russell Steele (40) goes up for two of his 26 points in Tuesday's game against Muskegon Heights as Greg Murray (23) and James Glascock (33) try in vain to stop him. Philadelphia Makes Pitch For White Sox Hurler Kaat

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Bill Veeck offered $10.3 million for the Chicago White Sox today and American League owners were expected to welcome the onetime P.T. Barnum of baseball back into their exclusive club.

"We've got all the money we need," Veeck said after arriving here shortly after midnight today.

Asked if he was optimistic that the AL owners would formally approve his purchase of the team, Veeck said: "I'd be silly to come all the way down here if I was pessimistic."

The welcome mat wasn't always extended to Veeck, who once shocked the cloistered group known as baseball owners with his exploding scoreboards, midget batters, ballpark nurseries for children and other stunts then foreign to the great American pastime.

While the American League found out that Veeck had met its condition for $1.2 million more in working capital over his previous offer, the National League discussed a $10 million dollar bid for the busted San Francisco Giants.

And while the leagues tried to settle the future of their distressed franchise, the trading beat went on. Three deals were concluded Tuesday, boosting to five swaps and a total of 15 players the count since the annual meetings opened here Saturday.

The Cleveland Indians made two trades Tuesday, purchasing catcher Ray Fosse from the Oakland A's for an undisclosed amount of cash, and sending catcher John Ellis to the Texas Rangers for two youngsters, pitcher Stan Thomas and rookie catcher Ron Pruitt.

Later, the Philadelphia Phillies spiced the dinner hour with a trade of outfielder Mike Anderson to the St. Louis Cardinals for right-handed pitcher Ron Reed.

The trading apparently was just beginning to get into high gear. The Pittsburgh Pirates reportedly still were talking about sending outfielder Al Oliver to Kansas City for outfielder Amos Otis in a swap that apparently involved other players.

The Pirates, tired of winning their division and losing the National League playoff, also were rumored to be working on a package with the New York Yankees that would involve second baseman Willie Randolph and Yankee pitcher Doc Medich.

Then, there was the recurring rumor that the Baltimore Orioles were hot on a deal that would dispatch Orioles' pitcher Ross Grimsley to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Rick Monday. This dovetailed with the scuttlebatt that Orioles' outfielder Paul Blair was on the block.

The Philadelpphia Phillies still were hot after starting pitching help despite the acquisition of Reed. Manager Danny Ozark admitted the Phils had made a pitch for Chicago White Sox 20-game winner Jim Kaat, the 37-year-old comeback "Kid"' of last season.

It was just last Wednesday that Veeck made his bid to regain the White Sox, a team he owned from 1959 through 1961, giving up the franchise for health reasons. The American League owners told him to get up another $1.2 million in cash and he was back in the baseball business.

Veeck has the additional cash, supplied by W. Clement Stone, the president of Combined Insurance Co. of America in Chicago, an executive reputedly worth $350 million. Stone also is known for his book on positive mental attitude, and several other tomes on how to get rich.

As for the Gaints, a Beverly Hills, Calif., mortgage banking firm made the latest offer to bail out owner Horace Stoneham, recuperating in San Francisco from a recent operation. Erle R. Jones, president of the firm, said the Giants had indicated acceptance of the offer — $2 million more than previously dangled by other interests.

Charles Rupert, Giants' vice president, said the offer was being considered. The Jones interest would keep the team in the San Francisco Bay area. Jones said he felt the Giants could succeed in competition with the American League Oakland A's just across the bay.

The Cleveland Indians made the first trade move Tuesday, when they reacquired Fosse, who was dealt to Oakland in 1972. Fosse expected to share the catching with Alan Ashby. Fosse played in 82 games last season and hit .140

The Indians then shipped Ellis, the controversial catcher who wasn't concerned with his reputation, and would use him as backup to catcher Jim Sundberg and as a backup first baseman.

Ellis, 27, hit .230 with seven home runs and 32 RBI in 92 games. Thomas, 26, appeared in 46 games for Texas, all but one in relief, posted a 4-4 record with a 3.11 ERA. Pruitt, 24, hit .176 in 14 games after being brought up from Spokane in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cardinals obtained the 24-year-old Anderson as a backup outfielder. Anderson hit .259 with four home runs and 28 RBI in 115 games. He has been with the Phillies three years.

Ozark said Reed, 13-13 last season with Atlanta and then the Cardinals, would be one of five starters in Philadelphia. The Phils' field boss said he liked Reed's durability, 250 innings,

Tiger Trade Hope Dashed

HOLLYWOOD, Fla (AP) — The Tigers hopes of obtaining Texas first baseman Jim Spencer are looking dimmer and dimmer these days, thanks to a trade involving the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies.

The key to the whole deal involved St. Louis pitcher Ron Reed.

The Rangers, who had originally indicated they were willing to trade the 27-year-old Spencer for Tiger pitcher Joe Coleman and $75,000 cash, told the Tigers Tuesday they would also like Reed, provided Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell could get him away from St. Louis.

That was fine with the Cardinals, who indicated they were more than willing to trade Reed for pitcher Lerrin LaGrow.

But Tuesday evening it all fell to pieces when St. Louis sent the 33-year-old righthander to Philadelphia for outfielder Mike Anderson.

The Tigers did sell first baseman Jack Pierce and Raul Colon to Mexican League teams.

Pierce, who split the 1975 season between Evansville of the American Association and Detroit and batted .235 in 53 games with the Tigers, was shipped from Evansville to Puebla.

Colon, who had been on the Tigers Montgomery Southern League roster, was sold to Poza Rica where he played last season.

Cities Join New League

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Women's Professional Softball League, billed as the first major league organized sport for women, has stretched to 11 cities, including one in Michigan, organizers announced Tuesday.

Billie Jean King and cofounder and president Dennis Murphy said that other potential teams have until Dec. 31 to join the league.

Other franchises signed are in Buffalo; Pennsylvania; Boston; Connecticut, Portland, Ore,; Phoenix; San Diego; Los Angeles and San Jose and Orange County, Calif.

Murphy said the league season would open April 30 in Buffalo, and the first all-star game is planned for Detroit next July.

Randy Wolf Keys Titan Upset Bid

Center Nets 21 In 79-64 Loss To Covert

Michigan Lutheran played high-scoring Covert tough before dropping a 79-64 decision Tuesday night at the Lutheran gym.

Keyed by the play of newcomer Randy Wolf and some tight defense, the Titans were still in the game midway through the last quarter but then the Bulldogs, undefeated in five games and the area's top scoring squad, started to pull away as the Titans got into foul trouble.

Wolf, a 6-1 center playing his first varsity game, responded with a game-high 21 points and 12 rebounds. The sophomore was just elevated from the junior varsity.

"For his first game, he really turned in a brilliant effort," commented Titan coach John Eggert of Wolf's performance.

"I thought we had an overall excellent defensive effort...they only got a few lay-ups all night. Also we outrebounded them 28-26. I think the difference was their bench scored 26 points."

Reserve George Starks led the Bulldogs with 17 points while Jeff Maggett added 15, James DeBoe 14 and Rodney Barnes 10.

Bob Guse backed up Wolf with 20 points for Lutheran, now 1-3 overall. John Brink had 10 rebounds.

Covert sank 32 of 73 shots for 44 per cent while Lutheran was 26 of 57 for 46 per cent. The Bulldogs flipped in 15 of 25 free throws, the Titans 12 of 18.

The 79 points were Covert's lowest output of the season while Lutheran's 64 was its tops.

Berrien Beats Edwardsburg, 81-79

Rock Coach Gets Welcome Win

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs basketball coach Connie Stover got a welcome home present here Tuesday night as the Shamrocks edged Edwardsburg 81-79 in a non-conference cage clash.

Stover had missed the Shamrocks' first three games of the season after undergoing an operation for a ruptured disc.

The game was close all the way with Berrien leading 23-21 after one quarter and 41-39 at half while the Eddies took a 61-60 edge going into the finale.

The Rocks led most of the fourth quarter with Tim Sunday hitting a free throw for the final margin with one second left in the game.

"I thought our kids were trying a little too hard and making too many mistakes," added Stover. "In fact, we made enough mistakes to last the rest of the year. But Edwardsburg hustled real well...they're going to win some ball games."

Terry Hosbein led the Shamrocks with 20 points while Sunday added 18, Rick Thiele 15 and Kirk Hansen 11.

For the Eddies, Steve Barolla canned 11 along with John Haines while Jim Case, Scott Williams and Scott Hammontree all collected 10.

Berrien was 31 of 72 for 43 per cent gunning. The Shamrocks canned 19 of 29 foul shots compared to the Eddies' 21 of 30.

The Eddies held a slight 39-38 board edge with Thiele pulling down 12 for Berrien. Berrien ended with 26 floor errors, Edwardsburg 14.

Berrien Springs is now 2-2 for the season and Edwardsburg 0-4.

"I'd like to thank the coaching staff for the good job they have been doing while I've been gone," added Stover.

Dave Paulsen, the jayvee coach, has been filling in for Stover.

Berrien won the junior varsity game 82-67. Tom Michienzi hit 19, Greg Shafer 14 and Mike Shembarger 10 for the winners while Dennis Mock made 16 for the Eddies.

Stover had missed the Shamrocks' first three games of the season after undergoing an operation for a ruptured disc.

The game was close all the way with Berrien leading 23-21 after one quarter and 41-39 at half while the Eddies took a 61-60 edge going into the finale.

The Rocks led most of the fourth quarter with Tim Sunday hitting a free throw for the final margin with one second left in the game.

"I thought our kids were trying a little too hard and making too many mistakes," added Stover. "In fact, we made enough mistakes to last the rest of the year. But Edwardsburg hustled real well...they're going to win some ball games."

Terry Hosbein led the Shamrocks with 20 points while Sunday added 18, Rick Thiele 15 and Kirk Hansen 11.

For the Eddies, Steve Barella canned 11 along with John Haines while Jim Case, Scott Williams and Scott Hammontree all collected 10.

Berrien was 31 of 72 for 43 per cent gunning. The Shamrocks canned 19 of 29 foul shots compared to the Eddies' 21 of 30.

The Eddies held a slight 39-38 board edge with Thiele pulling down 12 for Berrien. Berrien ended with 26 floor errors, Edwardsburg 14.

Berrien Springs is now 2-2 for the season and Edwardsburg 0-4.

"I'd like to thank the coaching staff for the good job they have been doing while I've been gone," added Stover.

Dave Paulsen, the jayvee coach, has been filling in for Stover.

Berrien won the junior varsity game 82-67. Tom Michienzi hit 19, Greg Shafer 14 and Mike Shembarger 10 for the winners while Dennis Mock made 16 for the Eddies.

Pistons Lose Porter, Mengelt In Setback

From Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons lost more than a basketball game at Oakland Tuesday night — they lost a backcourt.

Sparkplug Kevin Porter, the leading playmaker in the National Basketball Association, is apparently out for the season and scrappy guard John Mengelt is lost for about five weeks after suffering knee injuries in the Pistons' 129-124 loss to the Golden State Warriors.

Surgery will be required for both players to repair torn knee cartilage, Detroit Coach Ray Scott said after receiving X-ray reports.

Porter, the NBA leader with 10 assists per game who was obtained in a major off-season trade for Dave Bing, had 19 points and 13 assists before he was sidelined. Pistons forward Howard Porter took scoring honors with 28 points, but that was not enough to keep the Warriors from hosting their ninth consecutive victory.

Forwards Rick Barry and Jamaal Wilkes each scored 26 points for the Warriors, who led by as many as 12 points before Detroit pulled even at halftime, 66-66. Wilkes had eight points in the third quarter as Golden State regained its 12-point advantage and then held on to win.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-85, the Milwaukee Bucks trimmed the New York Knicks 109-100, the Buffalo Braves beat the Kansas City Kings 126-107, the Phoenix Suns topped the New Orleans Jazz 104-89 and the Washington Bullets defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 116-95.

George McGinnis is more than doing his share to make up for the loss of 76ers forward Billy Cunningham to a knee injury last week. McGinnis poured in 39 points — his NBA high — by shooting 12-of-24 from the field and 15-of-20 from the free-throw line as Philadelphia raised its record to 16-6 — the best in the NBA.

Brian Winters had 28 points, Bobby Dandridge 27 and Elmore Smith 22 for the Bucks. Milwaukee, the NBA defensive team leader, held New York guards Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier to nine and eight points, respectively.

Jim McMillian scored 32 points, shooting 15 of 18 from the field, and Bob McAdoo had 31 for the Braves. They also got vital contributions from veteran reserves Don Adams and Bob Weiss, who sparked a Buffalo comeback in the two middle periods.

Phoenix hit 54.5 per cent of its shots from the field in the first half in opening an eight-point lead, then rode the outside shooting of guards Paul Westphal and Dick Van Arsdale to stay in front. Van Arsdale scored 25 points and Westphal added 22.

Forward Elvin Hayes poured in 26 points and reserve Len Robinson had 21 for the Bullets, who led 80-43 at the half and coasted home.

Blazers Center Bill Walton was injured midway through the second quarter and spent the rest of the game on the bench. He dislocated one and possibly two fingers on his right hand, but how long he would be sidelined wasn't known.

Pistons Lose Porter, Mengelt In Setback

From Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons lost more than a basketball game at Oakland Tuesday night — they lost a backcourt.

Sparkplug Kevin Porter, the leading playmaker in the National Basketball Association, is apparently out for the season and scrappy guard John Mengelt is lost for about five weeks after suffering knee injuries in the Pistons' 129-124 loss to the Golden State Warriors.

Surgery will be required for both players to repair torn knee cartilage, Detroit Coach Ray Scott said after receiving X-ray reports.

Porter, the NBA leader with 10 assists per game who was obtained in a major off-season trade for Dave Bing, had 19 points and 13 assists before he was sidelined. Pistons forward Howard Porter took scoring honors with 28 points, but that was not enough to keep the Warriors from hosting their ninth consecutive victory.

Forwards Rick Barry and Jamaal Wilkes each scored 26 points for the Warriors, who led by as many as 12 points before Detroit pulled even at halftime, 66-66. Wilkes had eight points in the third quarter as Golden State regained its 12-point advantage and then held on to win.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-85, the Milwaukee Bucks trimmed the New York Knicks 109-100, the Buffalo Braves beat the Kansas City Kings 126-107, the Phoenix Suns topped the New Orleans Jazz 104-89 and the Washington Bullets defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 116-95.

George McGinnis is more than doing his share to make up for the loss of 76ers forward Billy Cunningham to a knee injury last week. McGinnis poured in 39 points — his NBA high — by shooting 12-of-24 from the field and 15-of-20 from the free-throw line as Philadelphia raised its record to 16-6 — the best in the NBA.

Brian Winters had 28 points, Bobby Dandridge 27 and Elmore Smith 22 for the Bucks. Milwaukee, the NBA defensive team leader, held New York guards Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier to nine and eight points, resopectively.

Jim McMillian scored 32 points, shooting 15 of 18 from the field, and Bob McAdoo had 31 for the Braves. They also got vital contributions from veteran reserves Don Adams and Bob Weiss, who sparked a Buffalo comeback in the two middle periods.

Phoenix hit 54.5 per cent of its shots from the field in the first half in opening an eight-point lead, then rode the outside shooting of guards Paul Westphal and Dick Van Arsdale to stay in front. Van Arsdale scored 25 points and Westphal added 22.

Forward Elvin Hayes poured in 26 points and reserve Len Robinson had 21 for the Bullets, who led 60-43 at the half and coasted home.

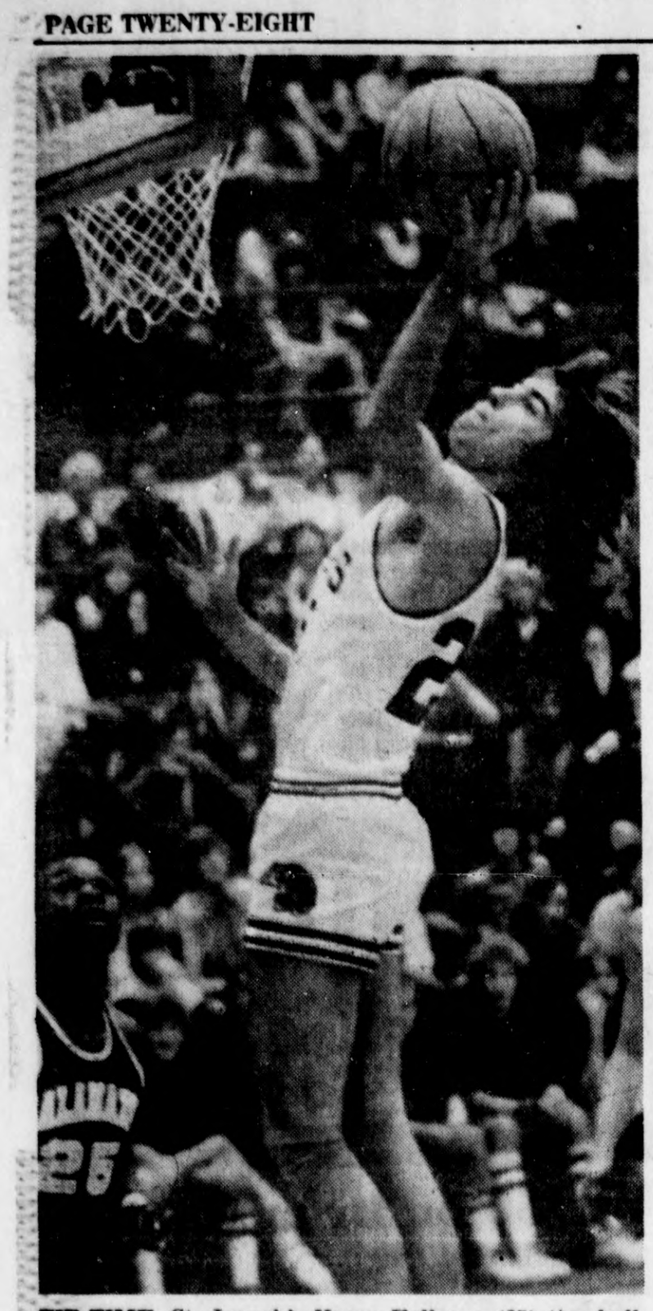

Blazers Center Bill Walton was injured midway through the second quarter and spent the rest of the game on the bench. He dislocated one and possibly two fingers on his right hand, but how long he would be sidelined wasn't known.

Bisons Blast Valley

NEW BUFFALO — New Buffalo racked up its first win of the season in a big way here Tuesday night by crushing winless River Valley 85-48 in a non-league contest.

The Bisons are now 1-4 on the season while the Mustangs drop to 0-4.

New Buffalo only led 33-30 at the half but then coach Mike Oakes went to a zone and the strategy worked to perfection.

"Johnson (Greg) had scored 18 at the half so we just went to the 2-3 zone after intermission and rotated to his side," noted Oakes. "We kept them off the boards real well then and rebounded real well."

Guard Joe Trainor sparked the third-period outburst when the Bisons outscored Valley 18-8. He tallied five of his seven points then and also ignited the defense.

Brian Pahl and Fritz Moss both tallied 15 points to pace the Bison scoring. Johnson hit 24 points to account for half of the Mustangs' total points.

The Bisons held a 28-25 rebounding edge with Jim Wold pulling down nine of his 10 rebounds after the half. Ioss added nine rebounds for the winners.

River Valley again had a poor shooting night as it hit 22 of 60 shots for 37 per cent and four of six free throws. New Buffalo was 23 of 50 for 46 per cent and an excellent 19 of 27 for 70 per cent in foul shots. The Bisons had only one more field goal than Valley but 15 more free throws.

The 48 points were the most scored by the Mustangs this season.

Valley won the junior varsity game 56-34 with Gary Schaffer and Tom Umphrey both canning 16 for the Mustangs and Kevin Steinke 16 for New Buffalo.

Fennville Double Overtime Winner

FENNVILLE — Fennville kept its undefeated record intact here Tuesday night by dumping Bangor 90-85 in double overtime in a non-conference game.

Marc Moeller, the area's top scorer, hit 29 points for the Blackhawks but the play of sub Chris Schermer also played a key role. Schermer poured in 18 points with a perfect six of six in charity tosses in the two overtimes.

Moeller hit a three-point play with 35 seconds in regulation to put the Hawks up by two but then Bangor's John Dentzman tied the game 75-75 with two free throws with 11 seconds left.

Both teams sank six points in the first overtime with Schermer hitting both ends of two one-and-one situations at the foul stripes.

Kurt Bale put the winners up for good in the second three-minute session and then Schermer popped in two more free throws while Fennville went into a stall with 1:44 remaining.

Jim Scudder added 16 points for the Hawks, now 3-0. Bangor, now 1-3, got 25 points from Dentzman, 18 from Ricky Ross, 15 from Carl Johnson and 11 from Skyler Morgan.

Foul tosses proved the key as Fennville sank 12 of 17 for 71 per cent while Bangor could put in 21 of 42 for only 50 per cent. The Blackhawks dropped in 39 of 91 for 43 per cent shooting outcourt while the Vikings were 32 of 77 for 42 per cent.

Fennville took the boards 47-33 with Moeller hauling 20 caroms.

Fennville won the junior varsity contest 57-51.

Carson Shows SMC Not One-Man Show

KALAMAZOO — Southwestern Michigan College proved to another Western Collegiate conference foe that it isn't just a one-man show.

Kalamazoo Valley Community College came out with a box-and-one defense on the Roadrunners' Jim Powers so three other cagers picked up the slack as SMC downed the Cougars 87-83 here Tuesday night.

Powers' did lead the 5-2 Roadrunners, now 3-0 in league play, with 25 points. But Bill Carson of Buchanan played his strongest game by scoring 21 points and pulling down 17 rebounds. Wayne Batteast notched 18 points, 16 in the second half, and Bill Benko had 12 points.

"The fact that we had four kids in double figures shows they can't just defense against Powers and beat us," said head coach Jim Tansey.

A pair of area players led KVCC, now 1-7 overall and 1-2 in the league, in scoring. Benton Harbor's Mike Howard was the game's leading scorer with 35 points and Danny Goins of Cassopolis chipped in with 29 points.

The Roadrunners' tough zone defense held the Cougars at bay in the initial stages of the game as SMC was able to build a 16-point lead midway into the first half.

But Goins and Howard started hitting the long jumpers and KVCC finally tied the game with two and a half minutes left and then went ahead at the half 43-41.

It was nip and tuck in the second half with neither team able to lead by more than three points until the closing minutes of the contest. Then Batteast hit a pair of jump shots to put the Roadrunners up by an 81-74 score. Powers iced the game by then hitting six free throws in a row — he hit 15 of 17 for the game — that gave SMC a commanding lead.

"After they started hitting, we went to a man-to-man defense and that brought us back in the second half," Tansey commented.

Both teams shot almost identical percentages from the floor. The Roadrunners made 29 of 70 tries for 41 per cent while KVCC was able to can 32 of 76 for 42 per cent.

SMC's next game is against Jackson Community College Saturday night at home.

Fennville Double Overtime Winner

FENNVILLE — Fennville kept its undefeated record intact here Tuesday night by dumping Bangor 90-85 in double overtime in a non-conference game.

Marc Moeller, the area's top scorer, hit 29 points for the Blackhawks but the play of sub Chris Schermer also played a key role. Schermer poured in 18 points with a perfect six of six in charity tosses in the two overtimes.

Moeller hit a three-point play with 35 seconds in regulation to put the Hawks up by two but then Bangor's John Dentzman tied the game 75-75 with two free throws with 11 seconds left.

Both teams sank six points in the first overtime with Schermer hitting both ends of two one-and-one situations at the foul stripes.

Kurt Bale put the winners up for good in the second three-minute session and then Schermer popped in two more free throws while Fennville went into a stall with 1:44 remaining.

Jim Scudder added 16 points for the Hawks, now 3-0. Bangor, now 1-3, got 25 points from Dentzman, 18 from Ricky Ross, 15 from Carl Johnson and 11 from Skyler Morgan.

Foul tosses proved the key as Fennville sank 12 of 17 for 71 per cent while Bangor could put in 21 of 42 for only 50 per cent. The Blackhawks dropped in 39 of 91 for 43 per cent shooting outcourt while the Vikings were 32 of 77 for 42 per cent.

Fennville took the boards 47-33 with Moeller hauling 20 caroms.

Fennville won the junior varsity contest 57-51.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Within the next two seasons the Detroit Lions will win the National Football League championship, claims Coach Rick Forzano, and if they don't, he'll quit.

The startlingly optimistic and somewhat daring comments came Tuesday at Forzano's weekly public-invited news luncheon at a Pontiac motel.

Forzano, in response to a question from a fan on what Detroit's prospects were in the immediate future, said:

"I feel in the next two years we'll win the championship. If not, you'll have another football coach — not because Mr. Ford (team owner William Clay Ford) will do it (fire him), but because I'll do it myself!"

The Lions, who will try to snap a three-game losing streak Sunday when they host the Minnesota Vikings, have a 6-6 record. They'll wind up second in the National Conference Central Division for the seventh consecutive season.

The Vikings, who clinched the division title two weeks ago, own an 11-1 record. They have beaten Detroit 14 of the last 15 meetings.

There has been no particular outcry for Forzano's dismissal. But the former Navy coach, who was a Lions' assistant before he took over the team last year after the death of Don McCafferty, said coaches should accept as a fact of life the possibility of being fired if their club doesn't produce.

"My wife went out today to buy a trailer," he said jokingly. "My idol, Paul Brown, got fired (a few years ago by the Cleveland Browns). So it can happen to anybody. I don't think about it. Oh, we kind of joke about it once in a while at staff meetings.

"I think I'll be here another 100 years — or at least two more.

"You don't necessarily make a change just because it's the coach's fault a team isn't doing well. Sometimes you do it just to shake things up a little."

Of more immediate concern to Forzano is the condition of Pontiac Stadium, the Lions' home. There were some 72,000 rock fans at the "Who" concert last week at the domed, $55.7 million facility.

"There was so much debris out there I couldn't believe it," Forzano said. "I thought it was the city incinerator."

Another problem facing the Lions is one which has plagued them all season, perhaps disproportionately compared with other teams; injuries.

Three more regulars were lost with injuries in the Lions' 25-21 loss Sunday at Chicago: safety Dick Jauron (knee), offensive tackle Rocky Freitas (hip) and guard Bob Kowalkowski (neck).

Jauron underwent surgery Monday to repair ligament damage. It was the 13th operation for the Lions this season. Ten have been knee surgery.

Freitas will likely be replaced by rookie Craig Hertwig for the Vikings' game. Kowalkowski is expected to be able to play.

Linebackers Jim Laslavic and Charlie Weaver, meanwhile, remained hampered by injuries and are listed as "questionable." Forzano said defensive tackle Doug English, a rookie, will work out at linebacker in practice this week.

Bo Excited Over Playing Oklahoma

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bo Schembechler is downright excited about his Michigan Wolverines meeting Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

The tension always hanging heavy before the traditional meeting of arch rivals Michigan and Ohio State has been replaced by anticipation for Schembechler in this one.

The Michigan mentor, frustrated in his efforts to take the Wolverines to a bowl since a 13-12 loss to Stanford in the 1972 Rose Bowl, talked about his team's New Year's opponent Tuesday night at the annual Cleveland Touchdown Club awards banquet.

"Our kids are excited about playing Oklahoma and so am I," Schembechler said.

"Oklahoma's films show me they are a very good football team," he added. "They've got talent, both on offense and defense. They've got it all and I can understand why they're ranked so high."

The Sooners are ranked third in the nation with a 10-1 record, while Michigan stands fifth with a season mark of 8-1-2.

"We haven't defensed a good wishbone team before," Schembechler noted. "Nobody in the Big Ten has any offensive concept like that right now and it should be a very interesting challenge for us.

"We've already started physical conditioning for the game," he added, "and we start practicing Thursday. We'll got out there (Miami) Dec. 21."

Schembechler shared the platform with, among others, two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin of Ohio State and Jerry Sherk and Doug Dicken of the Cleveland Browns.

Griffin, the all-time collegiate rushing leader with 5,496 yards, was awarded the Touchdown Club's National Collegiate Player of the Year award.

If Lions Don't Win Title In Two Years He'll Quit

Rated Vols Beaten

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. John's Redmen have something to prove, and Tennessee is the latest to see their point.

"Our team doesn't want to lose a game," declared Frank Alagia, the 5-foot-8 senior sparkplug of the Redmen. "We weren't ranked in the preseason polls. One magazine said we'd be lucky if we made a post-season tournament. Well, we think we're a good team."

They convinced seventh-ranked Tennessee of their talents Tuesday night, beating the visiting Volunteers 79-70. Beaver Smith scored 22 points and Alagia added 15 as the Redmen built an 11-point lead in the second half, then held off a late comeback bid by the Vols.

In the only other game involving a nationally ranked college basketball team, No. 6 Louisville whipped Cal Poly 84-70.

"This rates with the great wins we've had here on our court," raved St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca. "I'd love to end a season with a win like this.... you wouldn't find me for two months.

"Alagia was perfect running the club. He didn't make a mistake. His play selection was excellent."

Tennessee Coach Ray Mears was also impressed by Alagia's effort. "He runs a team better than anyone in the Southeastern Conference," Mears said.

"That's a nice compliment, because the SEC is as good as any conference in the country," responded Alagia, who also had seven assists and three steals in helping the unbeaten Redmen to their fourth victory.

Smith, meanwhile, did a job at both ends of the court. Besides shooting 10-for-15 from the field, he limited Tennessee ace Ernie Grunfeld to 19 points — four below his average — and more importantly to 6-for-17 shooting.

Grunfeld missed seven of his eight shots in the first half as St. John's built a 45-35 halftime lead.

The loss was Tennessee's first after three victories.

Ricky Gallon scored 20 points in 22 minutes of playing time as Louisville raised its record to 3-0. Louisville built a 34-16 lead, Cal Poly closed to 42-32 at the half but the Cardinals outscored the visitors 10-2 in the first 2:44 of the second half to put the game away.

Rick Wilson added 12 points for Louisville and Wesley Cox and Larry Williams had 10 apiece. Joe Sills led Cal Poly with 26.

In other major games, it was Rutgers 105, Boston Col. 82; Villanova 51, Princeton 49; Centenary 97, SW Louisiana 86; DePaul 83, Drake 72; Texas Christian 95, Iowa St. 83; New Mexico 85, New Mexico State 79, and Texas-El Paso 53, W. Texas 48.

NMU Band Eyes Bowl Game Trip

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — The 100-member Northern Michigan University marching band is convinced it will be with the NMU football team in an NCAA bowl game Saturday in California despite the twin problems of an airplane strike and a shortage of money.

Band members rehearsed in a 20-degree temperature and an inch of snow Tuesday while school officials, alumni and friends of the band pushed ahead with a $25,000 fund raising project to pay for the trip.

The drive to get the Wildcats' band out to the West Coast got under way shortly after NMU won the right to compete in the NCAA Division II championship game Saturday against Western Kentucky.

By noon Tuesday, the fund had topped the $8,000 mark. Bankers, newspapers and ordinary citizens contributed to the kitty. Amounts ranged from $1,500 to a few cents as interest in the bowl game grew, an NMU spokesman said.

"We did not have a posh fund or a slush fund or anything like that that we could tap, so we were just out there raising bucks," he said.

He said a strike that has shut United Airlines cut the number of planes available for charter but the school finally signed with North Central Airlines to take the team to Sacramento today. A second plane was found for 100 students and alumni who will pay $300 each for the trip, hotel, meals and game ticket.

Rated Vols Beaten

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. John's Redmen have something to prove, and Tennessee is the latest to see their point.

"Our team doesn't want to lose a game," declared Frank Alagia, the 5-foot-8 senior sparkplug of the Redmen. "We weren't ranked in the preseason polls. One magazine said we'd be lucky if we made a post-season tournament. Well, we think we're a good team."

They convinced seventh-ranked Tennessee of their talents Tuesday night, beating the visiting Volunteers 79-70. Beaver Smith scored 22 points and Alagia added 15 as the Redmen built an 11-point lead in the second half, then held off a late comeback bid by the Vols.

In the only other game involving a nationally ranked college basketball team, No. 6 Louisville whipped Cal Poly 84-70.

"This rates with the great wins we've had here on our court," raved St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca. "I'd love to end a season with a win like this.... you wouldn't find me for two months.

"Alagia was perfect running the club. He didn't make a mistake. His play selection was excellent."

Tennessee Coach Ray Mears was also impressed by Alagia's effort. "He runs a team better than anyone in the Southeastern Conference," Mears said.

"That's a nice compliment, because the SEC is as good as any conference in the country," responded Alagia, who also had seven assists and three steals in helping the unbeaten Redmen to their fourth victory.

Smith, meanwhile, did a job at both ends of the court. Besides shooting 10-for-15 from the field, he limited Tennessee ace Ernie Grunfeld to 19 points — four below his average — and more importantly to 6-for-17 shooting.

Grunfeld missed seven of his eight shots in the first half as St. John's built a 45-35 halftime lead.

The loss was Tennessee's first after three victories.

Ricky Gallon scored 20 points in 22 minutes of playing time as Louisville raised its record to 3-0. Louisville built a 34-16 lead, Cal Poly closed to 42-32 at the half but the Cardinals outscored the visitors 10-2 in the first 2:44 of the second half to put the game away.

Rick Wilson added 12 points for Louisville and Wesley Cox and Larry Williams had 10 apiece. Joe Sills led Cal Poly with 26.

In other major games, it was Rutgers 105, Boston Col. 82; Villanova 51, Princeton 49; Centenary 97, SW Louisiana 80; DePaul 83, Drake 72; Texas Christian 95, Iowa St. 83; New Mexico 85, New Mexico State 79, and Texas-El Paso 53, W. Texas 48.

NMU Band Eyes Bowl Game Trip

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — The 100-member Northern Michigan University marching band is convinced it will be with the NMU football team in an NCAA bowl game Saturday in California despite the twin problems of an airplane strike and a shortage of money.

Band members rehearsed in a 20-degree temperature and an inch of snow Tuesday while school officials, alumni and friends of the band pushed ahead with a $25,000 fund raising project to pay for the trip.

The drive to get the Wildcats' band out to the West Coast got under way shortly after NMU won the right to compete in the NCAA Division II championship game Saturday against Western Kentucky.

By noon Tuesday, the fund had topped the $8,000 mark. Bankers, newspapers and ordinary citizens contributed to the kitty. Amounts ranged from $1,500 to a few cents as interest in the bowl game grew, an NMU spokesman said.

"We did not have a posh fund or a slush fund or anything like that that we could tap, so we were just out there raising bucks," he said.

He said a strike that has shut United Airlines cut the number of planes available for charter but the school finally signed with North Central Airlines to take the team to Sacramento today. A second plane was found for 100 students and alumni who will pay $300 each for the trip, hotel, meals and game ticket.

Flames And Islanders Win By 6 Goals

From Associated Press

What can you say after beating a team by six goals in the National Hockey League?

Atlanta goalie Phil Myre said all there is to say: "I wish they were all like that one."

The rest of the Flames felt the same way after a 7-1 romp over the Washington Capitals Tuesday night.

"It's a lot easier to come home against a team like Washington than, say, Montreal," said Atlanta Coach Fred Creighton.

"They give you a lot of room to skate, and they don't check too close," noted Tom Lysiak, who scored two goals for Atlanta.

The Flames weren't the only ones with an easy game Tuesday night. The New York Islanders also had a six-goal breeze, walloping the Minnesota North Stars 6-0. In other NHL games, the Kansas City Scouts trimmed the Pittsburgh Penguins 3-2 and the Vancouver Canucks beat the St. Louis Blues 5-3.

Atlanta's victory over the hapless Capitals extended its winning streak to three games. The triumph also sent the Flames to the .500 mark for the first time this season at 13-13-2. It was Washington's 22nd loss in 28 games.

Lysiak capped a three-goal first-period explosion in just over five minutes when he blasted a 25-footer past Capitals' goalie Bernie Wolfe at the 15:22 mark.

Curt Bennett had opened the scoring with his 15th goal of the season at 10:14. Rey Comeau added his ninth goal for Atlanta at 14:25.

Claude St. Sauver, Ed Kea and Barry Gibbs had second-period goals for Atlanta while Bill Clement deprived Flames' goalie Myre of a shutout by scoring at 7:17.

Goalie Glen Resch shut out Minnesota on 22 shots as New York's Islanders coasted past Minnesota. Bryan Trottier scored for New York to break a scoreless tie with just 1:50 left in the first period and give Resch all the support he needed. It was Trottier's 12th goal of the season.

Jean-Guy Lagace scored a shorthanded goal in the third period and Kansas City held on for a tight victory over Pittsburgh. Lagace's goal, his first of the year, came at 3:24 of the third period while Gary Bergman was serving a tripping penalty.

Chris Oddleifson delivered two goals to lead Vancouver over St. Louis. Oddleifson played a strong game and won a number of important faceoffs.

Judge Lowers Boom On Delinquent Dads

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns this week clamped down on fathers who've fallen behind in their child support payments, sending four to jail and threatening two more with jail if they don't start paying.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported:

Byrns sentenced Michael Burke, of 909 Market street, St. Joseph, to 30 days in jail after finding him in contempt of court for $1,154 arrears for one child on ADC. The judge told Burke to find work within 60 days of his release or he'd spend another 60 days in jail.

Burke was also ordered to sign a wage assignment of $24 weekly child support and $5 weekly towards the arrearage.

Carl Warren, of Route 4, Benton Harbor, got 30 days in jail for $1,293 arrears for one child on ADC after Byrns found him in contempt. He was given 30 days to find work on release from jail or spend 60 more days in jail, and was told to pay $65 weekly support and $5 on the arrearage.

Rodney Davis, of 1853 Council drive, Benton township, was ordered to spend 30 days in jail for failing to find work in a 30-day "grace" period Byrns extended to him in November.

Davis was held in contempt for $175 arrears for one ADC child, and given 30 days to find work after his release or spend 30 more in jail. He was also ordered to sign a wage assignment of $5 weekly support and $5 weekly on the arrearage.

Jimmie Kiser, of 604 West John Beers road, Stevensville was sentenced to spend 10 Sundays in jail after being found in contempt for $3,890 arrears for three children on ADC. Kiser was told to pay $78 weekly support and $15 weekly on the arrears.

James D. Baker, of 655 North 12th street, Niles, paid $200 to avoid a five-weekend jail sentence Byrns threatened him with after Baker was held in contempt for $702 arrears for one child not on ADC. Baker was additionally ordered to execute a wage assignment of $25 weekly child support and $10 weekly towards the arrearage.

Dodge Brown, of South Haven, was told he'd get an unspecified jail sentence if he misses just one child support payment after Byrns held him in contempt for $1,660 arrears for one child not on ADC. He was told to sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support and $10 on the arrears.

All six men appearing before Byrns were also placed on two years probation each.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCH: John Hunt, chairman of Community hospital, Watervliet, employe fund drive for a new hospital, is shown lighting rocket which symbolically launches employe fund drive. Goal of $40,000 in pledges has been set for hospital employes.

Watervliet Hospital's Hunt Heads Employes' Fund Drive

WATERVLIET — John Hunt, chief X-ray technician at Community hospital here, has been named chairman of the new hospital fund drive among hospital employes. The appointment was announced by Gordon Knutson, general chairman of the campaign. Hunt said a committee of employes had set a goal of $40,000 for the 160 employes, including part-time personnel. Pledges over a period of five years are being encouraged and the hospital has provided a payroll deduction plan.

The overall campaign is seeking $750,000 in pledges to help pay for a $5.2 million, 70-bed replacement for the present hospital which does not meet state standards. The drive is to continue until March. The balance of the project costs are to come from existing hospital revenue and a 40-year loan.

Hospital officials hope to see construction on the facility begin the summer of 1976 with completion estimated for early fall, 1977. The new hospital is to be located on a 23-acre site on Red Arrow highway near Watervliet high school.

Hartford Vote On Taverns Was 3-2

HARTFORD — It was incorrectly reported by this newspaper yesterday that Hartford city council members Michael Duffy and Elsworth Smith and Mayor Gene Story voted against allowing taverns in the city to stay open until 2 a.m. on weekdays.

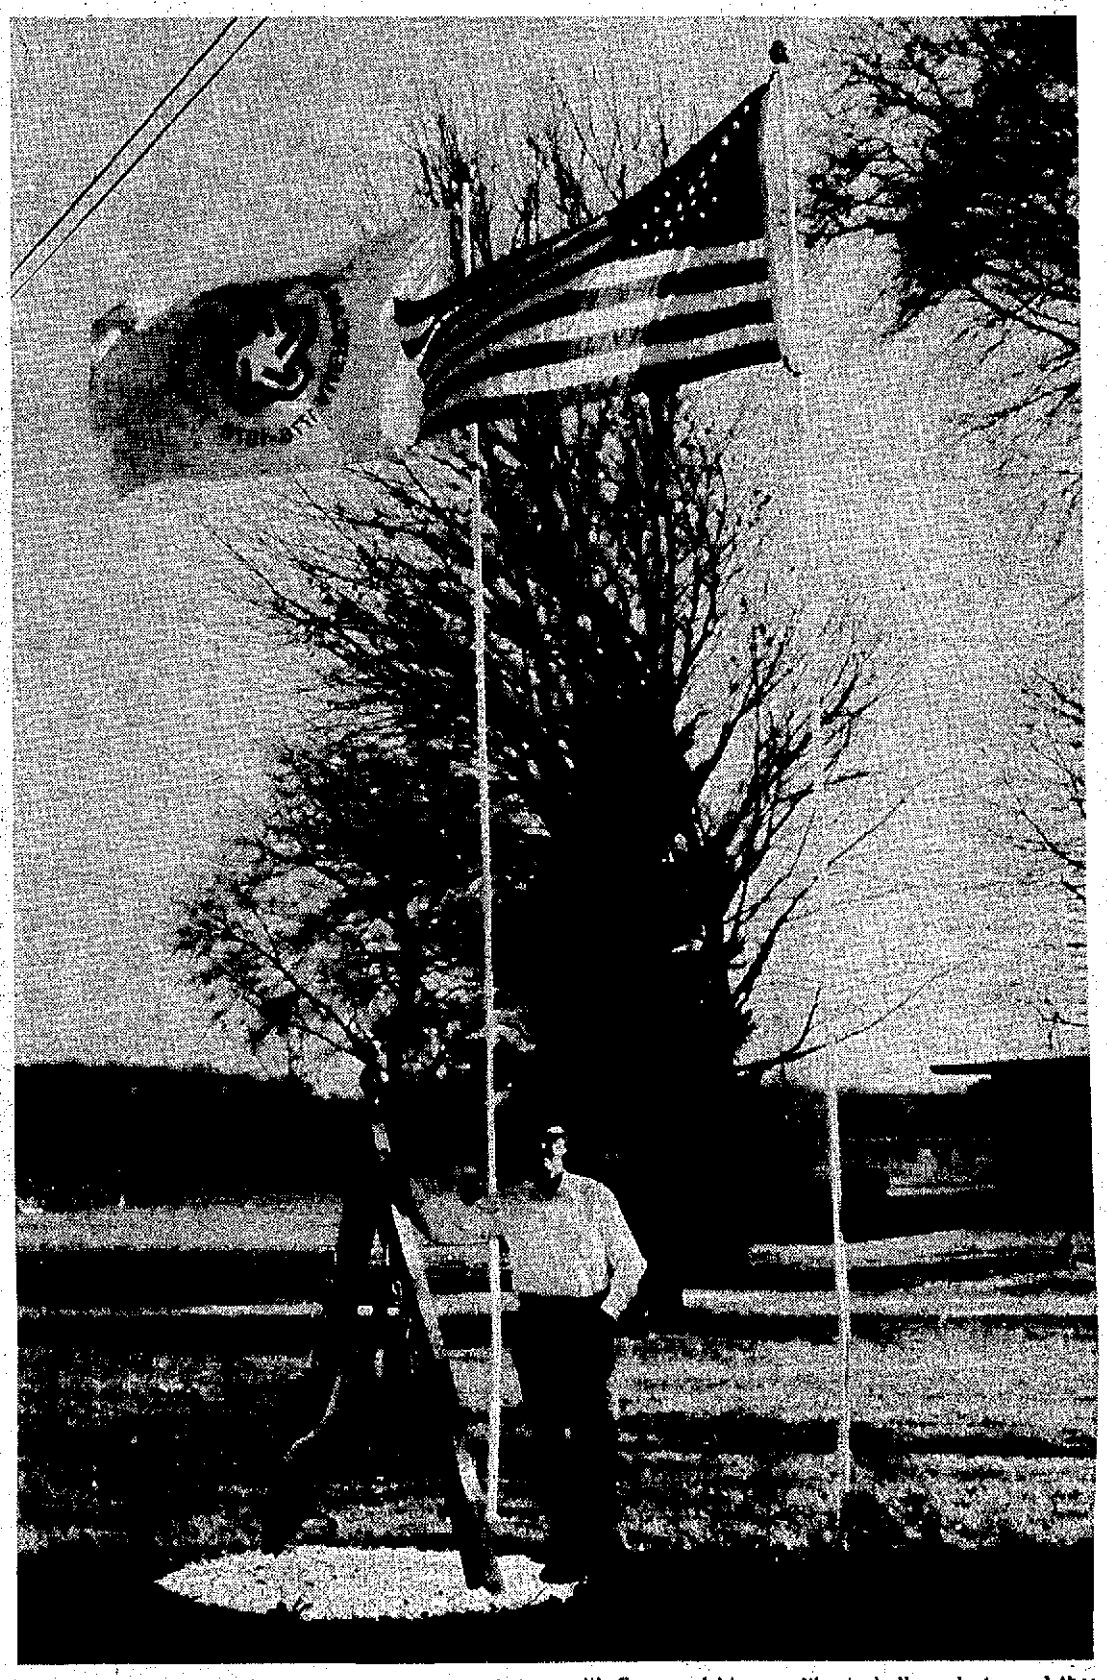

Duffy, Smith and Story voted for the new time while Councilmen Harold Jackson and Lois Budreau voted against. Councilman Milton Wehmeier abstained and Councilman Dean Huddleston was absent.

The proposal was declared lost because of a requirement that a majority of the council vote favorably.

The information on the voting was contained in an article on the Hartford city council proceedings of Monday night.

The proposal involved extending the closing hour from midnight until 2 a.m. and stemmed from requests by the tavern owners.

Duffy made the motion to approve the change.

Petition Drive For Recall Of Allegan Sheriff Fails

ALLEGAN — A petition drive to force Allegan Sheriff Robert Whitcomb into a recall election has failed, the chairman of the drive told Allegan county board of commissioners yesterday.

Former Allegan sheriff's deputy Gary DeGraff said the Allegan County Citizens for Better Law Enforcement had gathered about 3,000 signatures of the estimated 5,219 needed.

DeGraff admitted defeat of the petition drive as Whitcomb watched from among the audience at the day-long county board meeting.

The former deputy added, however, that he didn't feel the drive was a total loss.

He said hundreds of Allegan county residents became registered voters as a result of their desire to sign petitions and that the county has revised policies on purchasing, auditing and disposal of property confiscated by police officers as a result of the petition drive committee's allegations.

In a parting word, DeGraff said announced candidates for the sheriff's job have not taken a position in the petition drive, reinforcing a public opinion that a new sheriff "...would be more of the same with a different name."

The petition drive was announced in August. Under state law, signatures that are more than 90 days old are no valid.

In other area, commissioners voted to continue for another year a $1.5 million revolving fund that allows townships and schools, villages and cities to draw out amounts due them in delinquent taxes. The county then collects the taxes.

The fund was first established in April.

The county also collects the interest on the delinquent taxes (one-half of one per cent per month), and County Treasurer Frederick Edgerton told commissioners that in five to seven years the $1,219,664 originally put into the revolving fund will have been repaid to the general fund by interest collections.

Stanley Needham, head of the bargaining unit for sheriff's deputies asked for a meeting with county board members. Needham, president of Allegan County Lodge 151 of the Fraternal Order of Police, said the weeklong demonstrations protesting the layoff of three deputies ended yesterday.

He told the board that the FOP "is at your disposal" to discuss any possible future layoffs. No action was taken on the meeting request.

The board voted to seek a one-year, $21,000 state grant to finance a countywide transportation system for the elderly and the handicapped.

If approved, the grant would become effective in July and the county would assume the costs after the first year of state funding.

A special 15-passenger bus would make regular routes in the program now operated under a federal grant by the Allegan County Resource Development Program, Inc.

The board appointed Harry Johnson of Lee township as the county's building code enforcement officer and director of emergency preparedness at an annual salary of $10,484.

The former sheriff's deputy succeeds Marvin Johansen whose resignation becomes effective Jan. 1.

Old Courthouse Event To Honor Andrews Editor

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The first social affair at the newly restored Berrien Springs courthouse will honor Opal Hoover Young of Andrews university.

Scheduled for tonight, the eve of Mrs. Young's 75th birthday, the university and its alumni association will hold a public open house at the courthouse from 7 to 10 p.m. Community friends are invited to attend and to wear, if they choose, turn-of-the-century apparel, according to Horace Shaw, executive secretary of the AU alumni association.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Young received a bachelor of arts degree in public speaking from Emmanuel Missionary college (now Andrews university) in 1926. She took a year of postgraduate work in 1930 at the University of Illinois, where she also received a master of arts degree in 1935.

She has since served as professor of literature at AU, journalist and freelance writer, and editor. Mrs. Young is presently editor of the AU journal, "Focus", and other publications for the university.

Community positions have included three terms as president of the Niles chapter of the Business and Professional Women's association. She is also a member of the Council on Advancement and Support of Education, and her name is to be listed in the 1976 Bicentennial issue of "Community Leaders and Noteworthy Americans."

The University of Illinois awarded Mrs. Young an Alumna Membership award this year, and the AU Alumni association will present her with the Distinguished Alumni award at the university's alumni homecoming in May, 1976.

OPAL HOOVER YOUNG
To Be Honored Tonight

Mrs. Elsie Buck, president of the AU Alumni association, said that since this is International Women's Year, "it is appropriate that Berrien Springs should honor a woman having such a distinguished career."

Mrs. Young is married to J. Donald Young, former assistant manager, waterworks facilities, Chester, W.V., presently an income tax consultant. They have lived since 1953, at 3514 North Fifth street in Niles.

Smoke Fills Cockpit, Pilot Safe

Benton township firemen said a Fairplain man safely landed a small, single-engine airplane Tuesday after an oil leak filled the cockpit with smoke shortly after takeoff from Ross Field.

John R. Smith, 1789 Commonwealth road, told firemen, who stood by during the landing, the malfunction occurred soon after takeoff about 4 p.m. Smith said he turned around to land and smoke made the landing difficult because instruments were shrouded. He was alone in the plane.

Allegan Sheriff Race Gets 2nd Candidate

SOUTH HAVEN — Alfred "Pat" Carter, Casco township constable for nearly 20 years, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Allegan county.

He is the second candidate to throw his hat into the ring, even though the August, 1976, primary is eight months away. Robert Schra of Hamilton announced his candidacy on Oct. 30. Sheriff Robert Whitcomb has not announced yet whether he intends to seek re-election.

Carter, 61, of 108th avenue, route 4, South Haven, (Casco township in Allegan county), was an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination for sheriff in 1972.

The Casco township native is owner of Carter's Automotive Repair shop, Glenn. He and his wife, Virginia, have four grown children. They are members of the Casco United Methodist church.

Carter's law enforcement experience includes stints as deputy sheriff under the late Sheriff Walter Runkel, and his successors, Sheriff Harry Smith and Sheriff Whitcomb.

Carter emphasized that while he has criticized the incumbent sheriff in the past, he is not a member of a citizens' committee engaged in a petition drive to recall Whitcomb.

Duffy, Smith and Story voted for the new time while Councilmen Harold Jackson and Lois Budreau voted against. Councilman Milton Wehmeier abstained and Councilman Dean Huddleston was absent.

The proposal was declared lost because of a requirement that a majority of the council vote favorably.

The information on the voting was contained in an article on the Hartford city council proceedings of Monday night.

The proposal involved extending the closing hour from midnight until 2 a.m. and stemmed from requests by the tavern owners.

Duffy made the motion to approve the change.

Petition Drive For Recall Of Allegan Sheriff Fails

ALLEGAN — A petition drive to force Allegan Sheriff Robert Whitcomb into a recall election has failed, the chairman of the drive told Allegan county board of commissioners yesterday.

Former Allegan sheriff's deputy Gary DeGraff said the Allegan County Citizens for Better Law Enforcement had gathered about 3,000 signatures of the estimated 5,219 needed.

DeGraff admitted defeat of the petition drive as Whitcomb watched from among the audience at the day-long county board meeting.

The former deputy added, however, that he didn't feel the drive was a total loss.

He said hundreds of Allegan county residents became registered voters as a result of their desire to sign petitions and that the county has revised policies on purchasing, auditing and disposal of property confiscated by police officers as a result of the petition drive committee's allegations.

In a parting word, DeGraff said announced candidates for the sheriff's job have not taken a position in the petition drive, reinforcing a public opinion that a new sheriff "...would be more of the same with a different name."

The petition drive was announced in August. Under state law, signatures that are more than 90 days old are no valid.

In other area, commissioners voted to continue for another year a $1.5 million revolving fund that allows townships and schools, villages and cities to draw out amounts due them in delinquent taxes. The county then collects the taxes.

The fund was first established in April.

The county also collects the interest on the delinquent taxes (one-half of one per cent per month), and County Treasurer Frederick Edgerton told commissioners that in five to seven years the $1,219,664 originally put into the revolving fund will have been repaid to the general fund by interest collections.

Stanley Needham, head of the bargaining unit for sheriff's deputies asked for a meeting with county board members. Needham, president of Allegan County Lodge 151 of the Fraternal Order of Police, said the weeklong demonstrations protesting the layoff of three deputies ended yesterday.

He told the board that the FOP "is at your disposal" to discuss any possible future layoffs. No action was taken on the meeting request.

The board voted to seek a one-year, $21,000 state grant to finance a countywide transportation system for the elderly and the handicapped.

If approved, the grant would become effective in July and the county would assume the costs after the first year of state funding.

A special 15-passenger bus would make regular routes in the program now operated under a federal grant by the Allegan County Resource Development Program, Inc.

The board appointed Harry Johnson of Lee township as the county's building code enforcement officer and director of emergency preparedness at an annual salary of $10,484.

The former sheriff's deputy succeeds Marvin Johansen whose resignation becomes effective Jan. 1.

Old Courthouse Event To Honor Andrews Editor

OPAL HOOVER YOUNG
To Be Honored Tonight

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The first social affair at the newly restored Berrien Springs courthouse will honor Opal Hoover Young of Andrews university.

Scheduled for tonight, the eve of Mrs. Young's 75th birthday, the university and its alumni association will hold a public open house at the courthouse from 7 to 10 p.m. Community friends are invited to attend and to wear, if they choose, turn-of-the-century apparel, according to Horace Shaw, executive secretary of the AU alumni association.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Young received a bachelor of arts degree in public speaking from Emmanuel Missionary college (now Andrews university) in 1926. She took a year of postgraduate work in 1930 at the University of Illinois, where she also received a master of arts degree in 1935.

She has since served as professor of literature at AU, journalist and freelance writer, and editor. Mrs. Young is presently editor of the AU journal, "Focus", and other publications for the university.

Community positions have included three terms as president of the Niles chapter of the Business and Professional Women's association. She is also a member of the Council on Advancement and Support of Education, and her name is to be listed in the 1976 Bicentennial issue of "Community Leaders and Noteworthy Americans."

The University of Illinois awarded Mrs. Young an Alumna Membership award this year, and the AU Alumni association will present her with the Distinguished Alumni award at the university's alumni homecoming in May, 1976.

Mrs. Elsie Buck, president of the AU Alumni association, said that since this is International Women's Year, "it is appropriate that Berrien Springs should honor a woman having such a distinguished career."

Mrs. Young is married to J. Donald Young, former assistant manager, waterworks facilities, Chester, W.V., presently an income tax consultant. They have lived since 1953, at 3514 North Fifth street in Niles.

Smoke Fills Cockpit, Pilot Safe

Benton township firemen said a Fairplain man safely landed a small, single-engine airplane Tuesday after an oil leak filled the cockpit with smoke shortly after takeoff from Ross Field.

John R. Smith, 1789 Commonwealth road, told firemen, who stood by during the landing, the malfunction occurred soon after takeoff about 4 p.m. Smith said he turned around to land and smoke made the landing difficult because instruments were shrouded. He was alone in the plane.

Allegan Sheriff Race Gets 2nd Candidate

SOUTH HAVEN — Alfred "Pat" Carter, Casco township constable for nearly 20 years, has annouced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Allegan county.

He is the second candidate to throw his hat into the ring, even though the August, 1976, primary is eight months away. Robert Schra of Hamilton announced his candidacy on Oct. 30. Sheriff Robert Whitcomb has not announced yet whether he intends to seek re-election.

Carter, 61, of 108th avenue, route 4, South Haven, (Casco township in Allegan county), was an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination for sheriff in 1972.

The Casco township native is owner of Carter's Automotive Repair shop, Glenn. He and his wife, Virginia, have four grown children. They are members of the Casco United Methodist church.

Carter's law enforcement experience includes stints as deputy sheriff under the late Sheriff Walter Runkel, and his successors, Sheriff Harry Smith and Sheriff Whitcomb.

Carter emphasized that while he has criticized the incumbent sheriff in the past, he is not a member of a citizens' committee engaged in a petition drive to recall Whitcomb.

It's Good Season For CBS Widowers

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In a burst of imaginative programming, CBS on Jan. 20 will replace a Tuesday night series about a widower with two young sons with a new series about a widower with two young sons.

The departing epic is "Joe and Sons," whose widower is an Italian-American. Its replacement is "Popi," whose widower is a Puerto Rican trying to support his two boys by holding three parttime jobs here.

Ethnic changes aside, the switch confirms that widowers really are in on TV this season. CBS is particularly strong on widowers.

Its since-canceled "Three for the Road" series had a widowed photographer with two young sons. Its lead character in "Bronk" still is a widower, a cop who supports a crippled daughter.There's another widowed gendarme on TV. He's played by Karl Malden in ABC's "Streets of San Francisco." Malden has a daughter in his series.

Television's best-known widower, is NBC's Fred Sanford, who has a grown son. In the new "Grady" series, NBC has another widower. He has a daughter, grown and married.

And on Jan. 30, NBC will give us yet another widower in "The Practice." He's a veteran doctor whose son also is a doctor.

What about widows on TV? They are rare. Come midseason, the only practising widow on the tube will be CBS' "Phyllis," who has a 17-year-old daughter.

The divorce court section of TV's Parents Without Partners also is thin this season. It has no divorced fathers at all, but it did start the season with "Fay," about the divorced mother of a new bride. Alas, NBC quickly divorced the show from its schedule.

But take heart, fans. Next Tuesday, CBS will start "One Day at a Time," a situation comedy about a divorced woman trying to raise two teenaged daughters in Indianapolis, Ind.

Which means that by midseason we'll have six widowers, one widow and one divorcee on television.

Maybe I shouldn't reveal trade secrets like this, but I got to thinking about the situation and the whole thing is plumb ridiculous.

Keep an eye out this week for "This Britain: Heritage of the Sea," the second of four National Geographic specials being shown this season on public television.

The photography is superb, even if the show's title is misleading. Only two segments, one long, the other short, directly concern England's seagoing heritage. Other segments range from the budding career of a teen-ager working on a barge to life on the Isle of Sark.

The Public Broadcasting Service transmitted the show nationally last night, but not all stations adhere to PBS' national program schedule. Those that do often repeat specials such as this later in the week for those who missed it on the first go-around.

Try to see it. It's weak in organization, but still good viewing.

Higher Postal Rates Predicted

Rep. James M. Hanley said postal rates, already scheduled to go up Dec. 28, "will have to be further increased in all likelihood."

Air Mail Stamp Brings $45,000

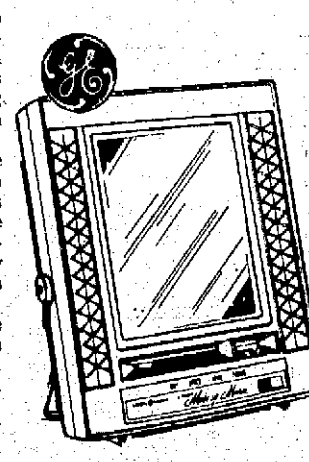

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Florida philatelist has paid $45,000 for a 24-cent U.S. Air Mail stamp issued in 1918 with a misprinted, upside-down biplane, a stamp agent says.

Ken Miller of Republic Stamp Co. said Tuesday that the buyer wanted to remain unidentified for fear that someone would try to steal the stamp, one of 100 issued.

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.

Q. In this past week, I have called three local dentists to ask for an appointment for my son's teeth to be filled. The first two refused to talk to me and said he must have his teeth cleaned and x-rayed before they would accept him as a patient. The third had the same policy, but he at least, talked to me so that I could explain it was for religious reasons that I did not want the x-rays, and he accepted my son on this basis.

I am submitting this protest to you in hope that this policy will be changed so that a person may decide for himself if he wants x-rays. Some people cannot afford the x-rays and cleaning. Should they be denied having their teeth filled because they cannot afford the cleaning and x-rays?

A. I shall preface my reply to you by stating I am a practicing, active church member, attending regularly a Lutheran Church here in the Detroit area. I am not irreligious.

However, I do not feel that religious beliefs should influence proper dental care. Nor do I feel that a dentist should ignore religious beliefs in offering dental care to those whom he accepts as patients. If, however, certain generally accepted, recommended, procedures are deemed necessary for the good and welfare of a patient and the performance of proper dental treatment, then it is the dentist's perogative and obligation to insist on such procedures, or decline to render care to the individual.

Aside from the moral obligation of the dentist, there are responsibilities placed upon him by law and customs, which he must observe or face legal action, e.g. as in malpractice suits.

Similarly, can you imagine a surgeon today doing an appendectomy under non-emergency conditions without proper and adequate blood studies and preoperative clinical diagnosis?

As to your question "Should people be denied having their teeth filled because they cannot afford the cleaning and x-rays?" I will admit that in some instances the dentist might forego the cleaning, providing the mouth condition permits an adequate examination, but if x-rays are deemed necessary, they should be taken, and the fee be adjusted when possible. I believe most dentists would agree to such an office procedure.

As a matter of interest, I call to your attention that most "third-party" dental care contracts (insurance and dental benefit plans) provide and request, that an adequate examination, including x-rays, be given to their subscribers, prior to dental operative procedures.

I have answered your letter from a personal viewpoint, as well as Chairman of the Ethics and Patient Relations Committee, of the Detroit District Dental Society.

I assure you my answers are based upon quite a few years of teaching, professional experience and public-professional-relations activity.

LMC Speakers Bureau Can Cover Nearly 60 Topics

Thirty Lake Michigan college instructors and administrators have joined forces to create the 1975-76 LMC Speakers bureau and are available to address area clubs and organizations on nearly 60 topics.

Administered by LMC's Division of Continuing Education and Community Services, the speakers bureau is viewed as a service by the college to professional and civic organizations, churches, schools and clubs in the general LMC area, including Berrien county and Covert township as well as South Haven, Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Allegan, and Paw Paw in Michigan and Michigan City and LaPorte, Ind.

In the words of LMC President James L. Lehman, "Program chairmen often have a difficult time finding suitable speakers and presentations for their meetings. Making ourselves available to help solve this difficulty is one of our ways of contributing to the region surrounding the college and thanking area residents for the fine support they consistently have given to Lake Michigan college."

"We need at least two weeks advance notice ahead of the presentation date, plus the time and place of the meeting, and choice of subject matter," Charlie K. Field, LMC dean of Community Services and speakers bureau coordinator, said.

LMC Speakers Bureau Can Cover Nearly 60 Topics

Thirty Lake Michigan college instructors and administrators have joined forces to create the 1975-76 LMC Speakers bureau and are available to address area clubs and organizations on nearly 60 topics.

Administered by LMC's Division of Continuing Education and Community Services, the speakers bureau is viewed as a service by the college to professional and civic organizations, churches, schools and clubs in the general LMC area, including Berrien county and Covert township as well as South Haven, Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Allegan, and Paw Paw in Michigan and Michigan City and LaPorte, Ind.

In the words of LMC President James L. Lehman, "Program chairmen often have a difficult time finding suitable speakers and presentations for their meetings. No Longer 'Hell With Lid Off'

Pittsburgh Winning Smog Battle

By JOHN BRONSON
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charles Dickens once described Pittsburgh as "hell with the lid off."

For decades, steel and iron mills belched fire, smoke and ash and coal-stoked locomotives, riverboats and house stoves all added to the billows of thick smoke that clogged the air.

Even as late as the 1940s, street lights burned at noon in the downtown because of the dense haze, and white shirts put on in the morning were smudgy gray by midafternoon.

City fathers, armed with a strict air pollution code, for the past 20 years have scrubbed, brushed and spit-polished Pittsburgh's image as a dirty town, and with some success. But it's still known in some quarters as "The Smoky City."

The city's emergency air pollution episode at the end of November, which got national attention, didn't do much to dispel the notion. A temperature inversion trapped an orange-brown haze for nearly three days and sent pollution readings off the charts during a 24-hour period.

It was only the second time since monitoring began in 1970 that readings went above the emergency level. More than 40 companies, including U.S. Steel's giant Clairton Coke Works, were required to curtail operations, idling more than 2,000 workers.

But the situation was an unusual one — due to quixotic weather conditions — and is not a day-to-day pollution menace, officials say. In fact, statistics show, Pittsburgh's air is actually getting cleaner.

"We've come a long way since those days in the '40s," said Howard Weisz, assistant deputy director of the Allegheny County Air Pollution Control Bureau.

"In 1945 the average amount of heavy dust collected was about 175 tons per square mile per month. For the past six years, we've been averaging between 28 and 30 tons. That's an 85 per cent reduction," he said.

"Pittsburgh takes a bum rap," echoed James K. Hoeveler of the Chamber of Commerce. "One of the most striking facets of the country's first urban renaissance here was to solve the problem of smoke control."

Pittsburgh, like most other urban centers, is still plagued with pollution, but the problems here are not readily comparable to other American cities.

"We don't have the same kind of atmospheric conditions that Los Angeles does to create smog," Welsz said. "L.A.'s problem comes from a reaction of sunlight and gases from automobiles. Our problem is primarily those things that are emitted from stationary sources."

According to Dr. Arvid Ek, administrator of the pollution bureau's technical services, air pollution levels in Allegheny County are unquestionably linked to the production of steel.

Aside from heavy dust, sulfur dioxide and fine particulates are the two other major forms of pollution that are measured, although there are other problem gases, such as carbon monoxide and ozone.

Sulfur dioxide levels have improved markedly in Allegheny County, Ek said. For example, in 1968 the level of sulfur dioxide at one of the county's monitors averaged about 400 micrograms per cubic meter annually. Currently the average is about 90 micrograms, which is just above the standard set by the Environmental Protection Agency, he said.

Fine particulates are still a problem. Those airborne pollutants are about the size of particles of cigarette smoke and are very hard to control at the source, usually heavy industry.

In 1971, the reading in the Monongahela River Valley, with its heavy concentration of steel mills, was about 120 micrograms per cubic meter annually. Today, the level ranges between 95 to 110 micrograms, still significantly above EPA's target of 75 micrograms per cubic meter.

Ek also says Pittsburgh sometimes gets a blacker eye than it deserves over air quality.

A recent survey by the New York-based Council on Municipal Performance rated the air quality in 43 U.S. cities and placed Pittsburgh 43rd. Both Ek and Weisz criticized the comparison because measuring is done differently in each city.

"Our policy is to concentrate our monitoring on what we believe are the worst areas with the philosophy that if we can improve the air in those areas to where they meet the national standards, the rest of the county will take care of itself," said Ek. "Other cities place their monitoring stations in regular geometrical patterns and do not concentrate on the worst areas, so their proportion of unsatisfactory data will be much smaller than ours."

Weisz bristled at suggestions that the November episode was reminiscent of a disaster at Donora, 19 miles south of here, in which 20 people died in 1948 when a black, poisonous smog settled on the town.

"Their situation was because of a zinc works. We don't have anything like that in Allegheny County," he said.

SMOKY CITY: This was scene in Pittsburgh one morning in November, 1954, before air pollution control became effective. Pittsburgh suffered severe air pollution episode recently, but scientists say air is vastly improved over that of 30 years ago. (AP Wirephoto)

Patient May Be Released

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A 51-year-old mental patient who allegedly killed his ex-wife and their 7-year-old son in 1968 has been recommended for outpatient status, although psychiatrists still consider him potentially dangerous, records show. The patient at Northville State hospital is Daniel J. Boucher, a former dentist who was convicted of his wife's death, but later won a new trial on appeal. He was later ruled incompetent and never stood trial again. He never stood trial in the slaying of his son. The order committing Boucher to Northville expired Nov. 25, records show.

Market Eases Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market stepped ahead cautiously today as investors weighed reports of buoyant Christmas retail sales against the uncertainty of extended tax cuts into next year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than two points in opening trades, and stocks gaining in price held an almost three to one margin over those declining on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow had crept up slightly more than five points Monday and Tuesday, after sliding more than 40 points last week amid uncertainty over the strength of the business recovery.

Analysts said today's rise may have come from optimistic reports of retail sales, indicating a return of consumer buying confidence.

But investors still were keeping watch over the standoff between the White House and Congress over the extension of this year's tax cuts into next year. President Ford wants to couple such an extension with equal spending cutbacks, but Congressional leaders saw little chance of a spending cutback passing.

Early prices included Sears Roebuck, up ⅜ to 67¼; Kerr McGee, up 1¼ to 68½; and Citicorp, up ⅜ to 27½.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average advanced 2.52 to 824.15. Although price losers led gainers by a 744-to-599 margin.

The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 45.96 and volume increased to 16.04 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .80 to 81.50.

What's Keeping Market Chained?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You can analyze all the statistics the computers can provide and you probably won't be able to tell with certainty what it is that keeps the stock market from breaking out of its chains.

No, the market isn't entirely immobilized, but it seems that all the rallies in recent years end up in the same range of 850 to just above 900, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average.

The market is tethered there, able to sense freedom but not attain it. Like a dog that forgets it is tied to the clothespole, it gets tossed on its butt when it seeks the great beyond, which in its case is 1,000 points-plus.

You can show that stocks just don't sell at the same price-earnings ratios that have prevailed historically. People aren't willing to pay as much for a dollar of earnings. The 45-year price-earnings ratio is 14. This year it's 11.5.

But that still leaves you asking why.

One sweeping generalization attributes the problems of the 1970s to the behavioral extremes of the 1960s. The stock market today, it is said, is relatively stagnant because the market of the 1960s was so explosive.

That, at least, is the observation, which increasingly seems to be applied to a wide realm of activities, including the behavior of youth and the behavior of the national and international economies too. It's a big range.

The early 1960s, if you recall, were energized by that recurring faith in the invincibility of America. No challenge need be feared, including 1,000 on the industrial average, and it was forecast almost daily.

Millions of Americans became, for the first time, owners of American industry. People's capitalism was proclaimed. A new plateau of wealth was declared within the reach of every American, and the stock market would be the transporter.

By the end of the decade the shareowner population was approaching 30 million. The decade had begun with 12.5 million Americans owning shares directly — that is, by their own active investing rather than through pension funds.

Wall Street grew accordingly. Ground-floor office space was sought on the main streets of America because the walk-in trade, the impulse buyer, was so very important. Speculators, hucksters and prophets were everywhere.

Most people can be spared the details; they know them too well and they aren't forgetting them. It's sufficient to say that it all collapsed — the theories, the promises, the prices.

The shareowner population did manage to reach somewhere around 32 million people, but during the past two years it has been falling, and the rate of descent may be increasing. There are probably only 25 million now.

Those ground-floor brokers' offices are closed now. Their staffs have been laid off. Scores of brokerage houses have either merged, collapsed or simply withdrawn silently.

Much of the attention and power of the securities industry has, in the past few years, been concentrated in Washington, of necessity. The Securities and Exchange Commission seeks to restructure the market place, reducing the power of the individual exchanges.

The mood of America is changed. Polls show a large percentage of Americans believe financial conditions won't improve greatly. Good news is greeted with disbelief. Caution dominates. Doubt manifests itself everywhere.

All this, it is often said, is a commentary on the 1960s. It is a reaction to those boisterious times. It is penance. It is wisdom. It is fear. It is the determination to correct the abuses.

Borrower Rebates Approved

Directors of the Berrien Teachers credit union at an annual president's meeting last Saturday approved an interest rebate to its borrowers at 10 per cent for 2,800 borrowers with over $70,000 in rebates on loans, according to Franklin Jackson, treasurer-manager.

The board also announced the dividend on shares would be 5.75 per cent for 5,500 members.

Certificates of deposit will remain at 6.75 per cent for $1,000 units, 7 per cent for $5,000 amounts and 7.25 per cent for $10,000 promissory certificates. Jackson reported assets were $7 million.

The Berrien Teachers credit union annual meeting will be Feb. 7 at the St. Joseph Kickers club with dinner, election of officers, and entertainment.

INDICATES 'EFFICIENCY'

I&M Is Encouraged By Study Of Firm

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Although he had not seen the final report of Theodore Barry and Associates to the Public Service commission of Indiana, Robert M. Kopper, executive vice president of Indiana & Michigan Electric company, said the utility had been apprised of the study's basic findings and conclusions through meetings with Barry representatives at two week intervals since the inauguration of the study.

Kopper said I&M was encouraged that the sum total of all recommendations by the Barry firm would achieve a projected savings of only 1.7 per cent of its operational expenses last year, and that this small percentage was indicative of the high degree of efficiency of the utility's management and operations.

The Fort Wayne executive noted that the principal recommendation of the study as outlined to him by Barry representatives during their semi-monthly contacts was the formation of an industrial engineering unit at its general office headquarters at Ford Wayne as a means of upgrading the productivity of its work force in all divisions and plants.

Although the study did not detail how the attainment of projected savings would be realized, he said the company would thoroughly weigh the costs involved. "It's one thing to predict savings," he said, "but quite often it takes an investment of money and manpower to effect them. Likewise, work schedules must be realistic to meet the customers' needs, so, in the final analysis, you have to weigh one against the other."

Inventory control by the utility also was a concern of the Barry study, and Kopper said I&M has under way a complete study of its inventory practices, including carrying costs and reporting systems. Kopper said the study's plea for the reduction of inventories may not have considered the large quantity of materials kept on hand for use during tornadoes or other emergencies.

Administrative, financing and engineering services are furnished I&M by the service organization of its parent firm, American Electric Power Company, Inc. The Barry study said savings "may" be achieved by adjustments in the costs formulae for these services, but did not question the benefits that accrue to I&M under the arrangement.

Kopper said Barry representatives also had questioned whether a barge line operated by I&M should continue to be a part of I&M even though the study called the barge operation a "prudent decision" on I&M's part. Kopper said I&M would give consideration to operating the barge line as a separate corporate entity, but he said it was important in the future shipment of low-sulfur Western coal to I&M generating plants to meet environmental regulations.

The Barry study said I&M's real estate transactions "appear reasonable," but questioned some real estate practices as being "potentially detrimental to the company's image."

Kopper said the company's real estate activity primarily centered around the future power needs of its customers and development of the communities it serves in its two-state service area.

Kopper said the cost of the study to I&M would exceed one-half million dollars, including time spent by I&M and American Electric Power management with Barry represenatives making the investigation.

On the whole, Kopper said he felt the study had accomplished what the Public Service commission intended, and that both I&M and its customers would benefit from its findings.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Eases Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market stepped ahead cautiously today as investors weighed reports of buoyant Christmas retail sales against the uncertainty of extended tax cuts into next year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than two points in opening trades, and stocks gaining in price held an almost three to one margin over those declining on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow had crept up slightly more than five points Monday and Tuesday, after sliding more than 40 points last week amid uncertainty over the strength of the business recovery.

Analysts said today's rise may have come from optimistic reports of retail sales, indicating a return of consumer buying confidence.

But investors still were keeping watch over the standoff between the White House and Congress over the extension of this year's tax cuts into next year. President Ford wants to couple such an extension with equal spending cutbacks, but Congressional leaders saw little chance of a spending cutback passing.

Early prices included Sears Roebuck, up 3/8 to 67 1/4; Kerr McGee, up 1 1/4 to 68 1/2; and Citicorp, up 3/8 to 27 1/2.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average advanced 2.52 to 824.15. Although price losers led gainers by a 744-to-599 margin.

The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 45.98 and volume increased to 16.04 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .60 to 81.59.

INVESTORS' Guide

Deadline Nearing To Enter IRA Plan

By SAM SHULSKY

More official IRS answers to readers' questions about the new IRA (Individual Retirement Act), a program which may be used by qualified persons for the first time this year to set aside funds for their retirement and claim up to $1,500 as a deduction from taxable income. Deadline for a 1975 tax credit for those on a calendar year basis is Dec. 31, 1975.

+ + +

Q. May my employer establish an IRA for me and other interested employes?

A. Yes. However, there must be a separate accounting for each participant's interest in the truth or custodial account established by your employer.

+ + +

Q. I receive interest and dividend income. May I use this income in computing my contribution to IRA?

A. No. Only compensation or earned income can be used to determine your deductible contribution (15 per cent of earned income to a maximum of $1,500). Compensation included in the reckoning may be salary, wages, bonuses, commissions or other similar payments.

+ + +

Q. I am 19, working for an employer who has a pension plan for all employes who have one year of service and are over 25. Am I eligible to establish an individual retirement account?

A. Yes. You may contribute the lesser of 15 per cent of your compensation or $1,500 to your own plan until you become an active participant in your employer's pension plan.

+ + +

Q. My employer has established a pension plan to which each employee must contribute 2 per cent of his compensation to be eligible to participate. If I do not contribute to my employer's pension plan can I establish an Individual Retirement Account?

A. Yes, since you have elected not to participate in your employer's plan.

+ + +

Q. My employer is contributing $450 a year to a union pension plan on my behalf. Can I establish an Individual Retirement Account for the difference up to the lesser of 15 per cent of my salary or $1,500?

A. No you are an active participant in a qualified plan to which your employer is contributing.

+ + +

Q. I am self-employed and have established an IRA. Must I include my employees in my plan?

A. No. However, each employee may establish his own IRA program or you may establish an Individual Retirement Trust and make deductions from the pay of your employees and deposit such amounts in the employees' accounts.

Gas Spill Starts Fire In Basement

A St. Joseph youth escaped injury Tuesday when gasoline fumes ignited while he was refueling a snow blower in the basement of his home, 1310 Wolcott avenue, city firemen reported.

Firemen said the fumes were ignited by a pilot light in a hot water heater. Gasoline had spilled on the floor while Matthew Schulke, 17, was filling the snow blower tank. Firemen were called to the home by Matthew's mother, Mrs. Bettie Schulke, about 4:25 p.m.

What's Keeping Market Chained?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You can analyze all the statistics the computers can provide and you probably won't be able to tell with certainty what it is that keeps the stock market from breaking out of its chains.

No, the market isn't entirely immobilized, but it seems that all the rallies in recent years end up in the same range of 850 to just above 990, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average.

The market is tethered there, able to sense freedom but not attain it. Like a dog that forgets it is tied to the clothespole, it gets tossed on its butt when it seeks the great beyond, which in its case is 1,000 points-plus.

You can show that stocks just don't sell at the same price-earnings ratios that have prevailed historically. People aren't willing to pay as much for a dollar of earnings. The 45-year price-earnings ratio is 14. This year it's 11.5.

But that still leaves you asking why.

One sweeping generalization attributes the problems of the 1970s to the behavioral extremes of the 1960s. The stock market today, it is said, is relatively stagnant because the market of the 1960s was so explosive.

That, at least, is the observation, which increasingly seems to be applied to a wide realm of activities, including the behavior of youth and the behavior of the national and international economies too. It's a big range.

The early 1960s, if you recall, were energized by that recurring faith in the invincibility of America. No challenge need be feared, including 1,000 on the industrial average, and it was forecast almost daily.

Millions of Americans became, for the first time, owners of American industry. People's capitalism was proclaimed. A new plateau of wealth was declared within the reach of every American, and the stock market would be the transporter.

By the end of the decade the shareowner population was approaching 30 million. The decade had begun with 12.5 million Americans owning shares directly — that is, by their own active investing rather than through pension funds.

Wall Street grew accordingly. Ground-floor office space was sought on the main streets of America because the walk-in trade, the impulse buyer, was so very important. Speculators, hucksters and prophets were everywhere.

Most people can be spared the details; they know them too well and they aren't forgetting them. It's sufficient to say that it all collapsed — the theories, the promises, the prices.

The shareowner population did manage to reach somewhere around 32 million people, but during the past two years it has been falling, and the rate of descent may be increasing. There are probably only 25 million now.

Those ground-floor brokers' offices are closed now. Their staffs have been laid off. Scores of brokerage houses have either merged, collapsed or simply withdrawn silently.

Much of the attention and power of the securities industry has, in the past few years, been concentrated in Washington, of necessity. The Securities and Exchange Commission seeks to restructure the market place, reducing the power of the individual exchanges.

The mood of America is changed. Polls show a large percentage of Americans believe financial conditions won't improve greatly. Good news is greeted with disbelief. Caution dominates. Doubt manifests itself everywhere.

All this, it is often said, is a commentary on the 1960s. It is a reaction to those boisterious times. It is penance. It is wisdom. It is fear. It is the determination to correct the abuses.

INDICATES 'EFFICIENCY'

I&M Is Encouraged By Study Of Firm

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Although he had not seen the final report of Theodore Barry and Associates to the Public Service commission of Indiana, Robert M. Kopper, executive vice president of Indiana & Michigan Electric company, said the utility had been apprised of the study's basic findings and conclusions through meetings with Barry representatives at two week intervals since the inauguration of the study.

Kopper said I&M was encouraged that the sum total of all recommendations by the Barry firm would achieve a projected savings of only 1.7 per cent of its operational expenses last year, and that this small percentage was indicative of the high degree of efficiency of the utility's management and operations.

The Fort Wayne executive noted that the principal recommendation of the study as outlined to him by Barry representatives during their semi-monthly contacts was the formation of an industrial engineering unit at its general office headquarters at Ford Wayne as a means of upgrading the productivity of its work force in all divisions and plants.

Although the study did not detail how the attainment of projected savings would be realized, he said the company would thoroughly weigh the costs involved. "It's one thing to predict savings," he said, "but quite often it takes an investment of money and manpower to effect them. Likewise, work schedules must be realistic to meet the customers' needs, so, in the final analysis, you have to weigh one against the other."

Inventory control by the utulity also was a concern of the Barry study, and Kopper said I&M has under way a complete study of its inventory practices, including carrying costs and reporting systems. Kopper said the study's plea for the reduction of inventories may not have considered the large quantity of materials kept on hand for use during tornadoes or other emergencies.

Administrative, financing and engineering services are furnished I&M by the service organization of its parent firm, American Electric Power Company, Inc. The Barry study said savings "may" be achieved by adjustments in the costs formulae for these services, but did not question the benefits that accrue to I&M under the arrangement.

Kopper said Barry representatives also had questioned whether a barge line operated by I&M should continue to be a part of I&M even though the study called the barge operation a "prudent decision" on I&M's part. Kopper said I&M would give consideration to operating the barge line as a separate corporate entity, but he said it was important in the future shipment of low-sulfur Western coal to I&M generating plants to meet environmental regulations.

The Barry study said I&M's real estate transactions "appear reasonable," but questioned some real estate practices as being "potentially detrimental to the company's image."

Kopper said the company's real estate activity primarily centered around the future power needs of its customers and development of the communities it serves in its two-state service area.

Kopper said the cost of the study to I&M would exceed one-half million dollars, including time spent by I&M and American Electric Power management with Barry represenatives making the investigation.

On the whole, Kopper said he felt the study had accomplished what the Public Service commission intended, and that both I&M and its customers would benefit from its findings.

Readers Tell It As They See It

County is increasing at an alarming rate. We don't need less troopers — we need more.

How can Mr. Van Ehr make the statement, that they lead the nation in issuing traffic tickets and at the same time in his article, state that he has not seen facts or figures.

Should the New Buffalo post warrant this distinction, it can mean but one thing. They are not sitting on their so-called tails, and drawing their pay, such as some of the other state funded agencies seem to be so capable of doing.

As for using the post for a full time employment office. When has New Buffalo become an industrial area? It has always been known to be basically recreational. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

As for using the post for a food stamp agency. It seems that some of these should be closed. Not more opened up. The fraud in welfare alone would certainly go a long way towards maintaining what police protection we do have. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

As for using the post for an auto license branch. No doubt this would be of some convenience to the New Buffalo area; However, many other Berrien County residents do not have direct access to one either. So why don't we all send through the mail for our license plates, as the state would prefer we do. After all, we would conserve a little gasoline (no standing in line either). Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Should the number of troopers be reduced in this area, how can the sheriff and police absorb this additional duty, when at the present time they are understaffed. Maybe by putting on more men and cars, at the expense of Berrien County taxpayers? Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Perhaps you should be given the opportunity to ride with one of the troopers and witness, as they do, the senseless carnage caused by excess speed or impaired driving ability. Maybe a ticket they issued last week, will keep that same driver on his side of the road, as you go over the crest of a hill tomorrow. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Fines for a traffic violation are basically the same as they were 25 years ago. Why can't they be updated to cover the increased expenses of maintaining a sufficient police department, be it state, county or city.

There used to be a time when the punishment for a wrongdoing was sufficient to make one a believer. Such as a tablespoon of Castor Oil. Once was enough for the offender and many times the observer.

As for Lansing — one only has to read between the lines to get the message. What better way to tell the taxpayer (we need more tax revenue) than to take something from us, that we all need, be it police protection or education.

You say you have two excellent police agencies in the New Buffalo area! Shouldn't it really be three? Their job is a thankless one and they deserve the respect of all of us.

Perhaps you wonder what type of a person and on what does he base a response of this nature? I will enlighten you on this.

I have been a truck driver for 28 years and have had the occasion many times to witness and observe some very unpleasant things. Many times caused through negligent driving. Had a prior traffic summons been issued to these drivers, it could very well have been a ticket for a longer life.

In response to your P.S. Maybe the trooper has not been in the right place at the right time.

SAYS PUNISHMENT MUST BE IN PUBLIC

Editor,

Probably I've given no more serious thought to this subject than most fellow citizens. The headlines cause shudders and head-shaking and the effectiveness of law and order is in doubt. But nothing seems to be done about it.

A recent remark sparked these thoughts: Crime is a concern of every citizen. Justice should show a prime concern for the victim and for the public, and therefore pass judgment not only fairly and swiftly, but also publicly.

Maybe the swift justice of the pioneers, the founding fathers and the western frontiers had the right approach. A horse-thief, when caught, had first to return the horse. Then he suffered the penalty of public hanging! Thus the loss was restored. And the swift retribution, IN PUBLIC, served as an effective deterrent, keeping those present from making the same mistake.

Maybe an electric chair in Sing Sing or a gas chamber in San Quentin is less shocking to the public, but it provides much less of a deterrent. We should set the execution up in front of City Hall. . . . .

Well, we don't have much horse-stealing nowadays, but car-thefts are only too common. Why not punish a car-thief, after returning the car, by making him hike off his sentence, dressed in prison stripes and without refreshments, for 10, 25, or 50 miles on public highways? This would show his fellow citizens what they would face, if they made the same mistake.

For other crimes some fitting corporal punishment might prove effective. Just as a good spanking helps kids to grow up properly, so a sound thrashing in public might convince both criminal and fellow citizens that it doesn't really pay to rob and swindle. Especially when it doesn't free the crook from his responsibility for reimbursement of the victim's loss!

But if the crook cannot repay the victim? Well, there used to be a "work house" idea, where prisoners had to toil till they had paid their debts. Today we could put the prisoner to work in a profit-making operation. By toiling 12 hours a day for his keep of bread and water, and the rest of his earnings earmarked for repayment of his victim, his loss of freedom would be in days or weeks, instead of years, depending on how hard he worked. He might learn a job, and how to do it well!

Once he had repaid his victim in this manner, and society through his public punishment, he would be free to return as a full-fledged citizen. Having paid in full, no one should hold his past errors against him.

Such an approach might reverse the trend and restore our respect for justice. It certainly would reduce the public cost of keeping the crooks in jail!

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM LOOD ELEVATION STUDY

The Federal Insurance Administration of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, (P.L. 90-448) and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, (P.L. 93-234) it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in HAGAR TOWNSHIP, BERRIEN COUNTY, MI.

The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration by Johnson & Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers, of Pontiac, Michigan.

The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so that they may have an opprtunity at a public meeting, soon to be announced, to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer of the community, for forwarding to the appropriate representatives of the Federal Insurance Administration.

Readers Tell It As They See It

County is increasing at an alarming rate. We don't need less troopers — we need more.

How can Mr. Van Ehr make the statement, that they lead the nation in issuing traffic tickets and at the same time in his article, state that he has not seen facts or figures.

Should the New Buffalo post warrant this distinction, it can mean but one thing. They are not sitting on their so-called tails, and drawing their pay, such as some of the other state funded agencies seem to be so capable of doing.

As for using the post for a full time employment office. When has New Buffalo become an industrial area? It has always been known to be basically recreational. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

As for using the post for a food stamp agency. It seems that some of these should be closed. Not more opened up. The fraud in welfare alone would certainly go a long way towards maintaining what police protection we do have. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

As for using the post for an auto license branch. No doubt this would be of some convenience to the New Buffalo area: However, many other Berrien County residents do not have direct access to one either. So why don't we all send through the mail for our license plates, as the state would prefer we do. After all, we would conserve a little gasoline (no standing in line either). Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Should the number of troopers be reduced in this area, how can the sheriff and police absorb this additional duty, when at the present time they are understaffed. Maybe by putting on more men and cars, at the expense of Berrien County taxpayers? Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Perhaps you should be given the opportunity to ride with one of the troopers and witness, as they do, the senseless carnage caused by excess speed or impaired driving ability. Maybe a ticket they issued last week, will keep that same driver on his side of the road, as you go over the crest of a hill tomorrow. Think about that Mr. Van Ehr.

Fines for a traffic violation are basically the same as they were 25 years ago. Why can't they be updated to cover the increased expenses of maintaining a sufficient police department, be it state, county or city.

There used to be a time when the punishment for a wrongdoing was sufficient to make one a believer. Such as a tablespoon of Castor Oil. Once was enough for the offender and many times the observer.

As for Lansing — one only has to read between the lines to get the message. What better way to tell the taxpayer (we need more tax revenue) than to take something from us, that we all need, be it police protection or education.

You say you have two excellent police agencies in the New Buffalo area! Shouldn't it really be three? Their job is a thankless one and they deserve the respect of all of us.

Perhaps you wonder what type of a person and on what does he base a response of this nature? I will enlighten you on this.

I have been a truck driver for 29 years and have had the occasion many times to witness and observe some very unpleasant things. Many times caused through negligent driving. Had a prior traffic summons been issued to these drivers, it could very well have been a ticket for a longer life.

In response to your P.S. Maybe the trooper has not been in the right place at the right time.

SAYS PUNISHMENT MUST BE IN PUBLIC

Editor,

Probably I've given no more serious thought to this subject than most fellow citizens. The headlines cause shudders and head-shaking and the effectiveness of law end order is in doubt. But nothing seems to be done about it.

A recent remark sparked these thoughts: Crime is a concern of every citizen. Justice should show a prime concern for the victim and for the public, and therefore pass judgment not only fairly and swiftly, but also publicly.

Maybe the swift justice of the pioneers, the founding fathers and the western frontiers had the right approach. A horse-thief, when caught, had first to return the horse. Then he suffered the penalty of public hanging! Thus the loss was restored. And the swift retribution, IN PUBLIC, served as an effective deterrent, keeping those present from making the same mistake.

Maybe an electric chair in Sing Sing or a gas chamber in San Quentin is less shocking to the public, but it provides much less of a deterrent. We should set the execution up in front of City Hall. . . .

Well, we don't have much horse-stealing nowadays, but car-thefts are only too common. Why not punish a car-thief, after returning the car, by making him hike off his sentence, dressed in prison stripes and without refreshments, for 10, 25, or 50 miles on public highways? This would show his fellow citizens what they would face, if they made the same mistake.

For other crimes some fitting corporal punishment might prove effective. Just as a good spanking helps kids to grow up properly, so a sound thrashing in public might convince both criminal and fellow citizens that it doesn't really pay to rob and swindle. Especially when it doesn't free the crook from his responsibility for reimbursement of the victim's loss!

But if the crook cannot repay the victim? Well, there used to be a "work house" idea, where prisoners had to toil till they had paid their debts. Today we could put the prisoner to work in a profit-making operation. By toiling 12 hours a day for his keep of bread and water, and the rest of his earnings earmarked for repayment of his victim, his loss of freedom would be in days or weeks, instead of years, depending on how hard he worked. He might learn a job, and how to do it well!

Once he had repaid his victim in this manner, and society through his public punishment, he would be free to return as a full-fledged citizen. Having paid in full, no one should hold his past errors against him.

Such an approach might reverse the trend and restore our respect for justice. It certainly would reduce the public cost of keeping the crooks in jail!

BROWN: Frisky advice on ABC

HELEN GURLEY BROWN

'Frisky Advice' Is TV Hit

Q: I saw Helen Gurley Brown on the TV show "Good Morning, America." She is the best thing on the show. But does this mean she's going to give up Cosmopolitan? — W.M., N.Y., N.Y.

A: Helen Brown would never give up Cosmo, which she loves. It is said that not a word gets into the magazine without her approval. We hear that Ms. Brown's frisky advice section, on every Friday, has quickly become the most talked-about segment of the ABC show and is slated to become a permanent fixture.

Q: I just loved Lily Tomlin in "Nashville." Is she going to make more movies or stick to TV and concerts? — H.L., Dallas, Tex.

A: Lily's ambition is certainly in the area of movies but she is very careful in her selections. Her desire for artistic freedom will soon be satisfied when current negotiations with Paramount are completed. The contract calls for three films with Lily given the right of approval. First, however, she will play a role in "Breakfast of Champions" for her "Nashville" director, Robert Altman.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: What movie director has begun to think he rules the world? None other than Stanley "Clockwork Orange" Kubrick, who is insisting that anything the stars of his latest film — Ryan O'Neal and Marisa Berenson — say about the picture, "Barry Lyndon," to the press must be cleared with him first.

Q: What is all this about Jackie Onassis playing a part in a film. — Y.P., Hudson, Mich.

A: It seems that Jackie saw a film by European director Pier Carpi which is about a modern private eye who is hired to find proof of the existence of Christ. The final scenes are said to be emotionally moving as the actors are transformed into their Biblical counterparts. It was this ending which prompted Jackie to accept a vignette role in Carpi's next picture. She will portray a modern witch converted to Christianity.

Q: How is Telly Savalas as a father? — Y.R., Youngstown, Ohio

A: Telly's daughter, Christina Savalas, 24, is complaining that her father was so critical of her male companions that she had a hard time keeping them around for any length of time. And now "the only steady she ever had" has broken off their engagement because he couldn't stand Telly's disapproval and sarcastic remarks.

Q: Is it true that children without brothers and sisters have the best chance for successful marriages? — A.Q., Altoona, Pa.

A: Not according to Dr Walter Toman, German psychoanalyst and former Harvard professor. He places great stress on the arrangement of brothers and sisters within the family and states that the happiest marriages result when the family situation is duplicated in the marriage. Best bets would be the wedding of a younger sister who has an older brother to an older brother who has a younger sister, or the other way around. If Toman is right, an only child has an obvious disadvantage.

Going Back Today In History

By Associated Press

Today is Wednesday Dec. 10, the 344th day of 1975. There are 21 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1898, a treaty was signed in Paris officially ending the Spanish-American war and ceding the Philippines, Puerto Rico and Guam to the United States.

On this date:

In 1520, Martin Luther publicly burned the Papal bull excommunicating him from the Roman Catholic church.

In 1817, Mississippi became the 20th state.

In 1896, the Swedish chemist and philanthropist, Alfred Nobel, died. The first Nobel Peace prize was awarded in 1901, the fifth anniversary of his death.

In 1913, the Leonardo da Vinci painting, Mona Lisa, was recovered, two years after its theft from the Louvre museum in Paris.

In 1941, in the Pacific war, Japanese planes sank two British battleships in the South China sea.

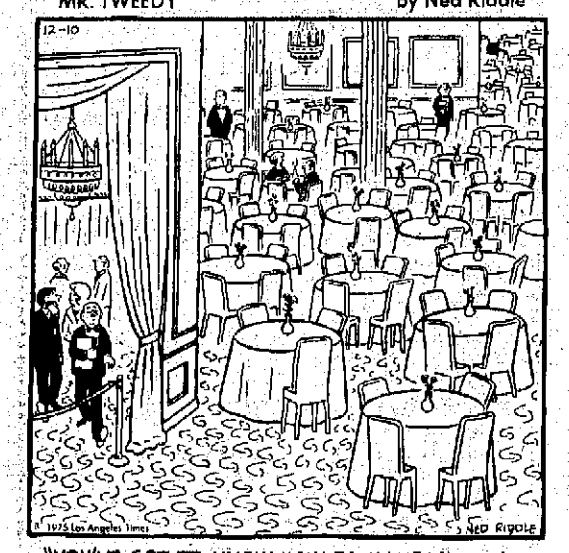

In 1964, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. became the 12th American and the third black to win the Nobel Peace prize.

Ten years ago: three Selma, Ala. businessmen were acquitted — by an all-white jury — of the murder of the Rev. James Reeb of Boston, who was killed in Selma seven months earlier after a civil rights demonstration.

Five years ago: four rail unions began a nationwide railroad strike. It ended after 18 hours.

One year ago: The Senate voted to approve the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President.

MR. TWEEDY by Ned Riddle

"YOU'VE GOT TO KNOW HOW TO HANDLE THESE FELLOWS. WE'RE GETTING A TABLE SO QUICKLY BECAUSE I SLIPPED HIM TWO DOLLARS."

By Bert Bacharach

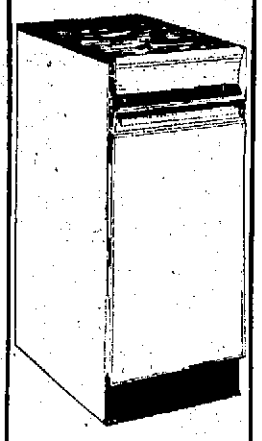

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Top coleslaw with the juice from sweet pickles for a delightful treat (Roma di Notte, NYC). . . To deep-fry a tastier Southern fried chicken use a combination of one-third butter and two-thirds lard (Mrs. B's kitchen). . . Next time, for a real treat, toss cooked egg noodles with butter and finely-chopped parsley in your meat stew. (Rainbow Room, NYC).

FADED PHRASES: "If looks could kill," "She's as cute as a button" and "She's a will-o'-the-wisp." . . . Favorite low-carbohydrate sandwich of Trude Heller: Place a slice of baloney between two slices of Swiss cheese, wrap in tinfoil, pop into oven and remove when cheese melts and seals in meat. . . Meet the Gals Dept.: Blonde, blue-eyed, beautiful Judith Baldwin is a TV-superstar — one of the top three money-makers in the commercial field. (It's odds-on that she'll be looking out at you in one of three ads you next see!). . . Bob Orben says, "I always try to count my blessings — but I'm not good at fractions!". . . Best Dressed Dept.: Nattily-designed outfits by Pierre Cardin for the croupiers were a highlight at the opening of the casino in Loews Monte Carlo Hotel. . . . Robert Fredericks, president of the Gaslight Club, continues to be "The Flo Ziegfeld of the '70s." Newest beauties in the NYC Club are Vreni Young of Switzerland (and what a Swiss movement) and Karen Leonard of the Bronx (who spreads plenty of Bronx cheer!). . . Lou Jacobi has a definition of a veterinarian: "He's a doctor who makes horse calls!"

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: VIRGO is methodical and conscientious in his approach to any and all problems. Those born under ARIES should go slow at this time, as haste will only bring confusion and errors. LIBRA's chief desire is to express beauty, materially and mentally; he is sensitive to his surroundings and sympathetic to the conditions of his friends.

Going Back Today In History

By Associated Press

Today is Wednesday Dec. 10, the 344th day of 1975. There are 21 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1898, a treaty was signed in Paris officially ending the Spanish-American war and ceding the Philippines, Puerto Rico and Guam to the United States.

On this date:

In 1520, Martin Luther publicly burned the Papal bull excommunicating him from the Roman Catholic church.

In 1817, Mississippi became the 20th state.

In 1896, the Swedish chemist and philanthropist, Alfred Nobel, died. The first Nobel Peace prize was awarded in 1901, the fifth anniversary of his death.

In 1913, the Leonardo da Vinci painting, Mona Lisa, was recovered, two years after its theft from the Louvre museum in Paris.

In 1941, in the Pacific war, Japanese planes sank two British battleships in the South China sea.

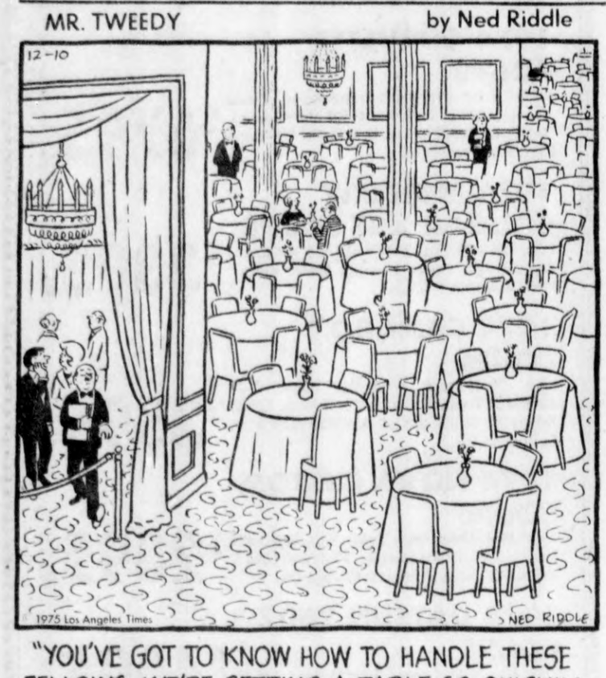

In 1964, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. became the 12th American and the third black to win the Nobel Peace prize.

Ten years ago: three Selma, Ala. businessmen were acquitted — by an all-white jury — of the murder of the Rev. James Reeb of Boston, who was killed in Selma seven months earlier after a civil rights demonstration.

Five years ago: four rail unions began a nationwide railroad strike. It ended after 18 hours.

One year ago: The Senate voted to approve the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President.

MR. TWEEDY by Ned Riddle

By Bert Bacharach

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Top coleslaw with the juice from sweet pickles for a delightful treat (Roma di Notte, NYC). . . To deep-fry a tastier Southern fried chicken use a combination of one-third butter and two-thirds lard (Mrs. B's kitchen). . . Next time, for a real treat, toss cooked egg noodles with butter and finely-chopped parsley in your meat stew. (Rainbow Room, NYC).

FADED PHRASES: "If looks could kill," "She's as cute as a button" and "She's a will-o'-the-wisp." . . . Favorite low-carbohydrate sandwich of Trude Heller: Place a slice of baloney between two slices of Swiss cheese, wrap in tinfoil, pop into oven and remove when cheese melts and seals in meat. . . Meet the Gals Dept.: Blonde, blue-eyed, beautiful Judith Baldwin is a TV-superstar — one of the top three money-makers in the commercial field. (It's odds-on that she'll be looking out at you in one of three ads you next see!). . . Bob Orben says, "I always try to count my blessings — but I'm not good at fractions!". . . Best Dressed Dept.: Nattily-designed outfits by Pierre Cardin for the croupiers were a highlight at the opening of the casino in Loews Monte Carlo Hotel. . . . Robert Fredericks, president of the Gaslight Club, continues to be "The Flo Ziegfeld of the '70s." Newest beauties in the NYC Club are Vreni Young of Switzerland (and what a Swiss movement) and Karen Leonard of the Bronx (who spreads plenty of Bronx cheer!). . . Lou Jacobi has a definition of a veterinarian: "He's a doctor who makes horse calls!"

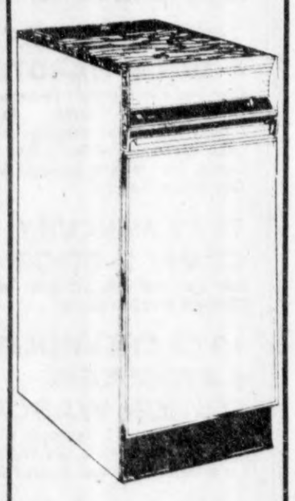

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: VIRGO is methodical and conscientious in his approach to any and all problems. Those born under ARIES should go slow at this time, as haste will only bring confusion and errors. LIBRA's chief desire is to express beauty, materially and mentally; he is sensitive to his surroundings and sympathetic to the conditions of his friends.
